Russians Ready To Seal Hundreds Of Thousands Of Nazis In Crimea

PATH OF ESCAPE ALMOST CLOSED

Siege On Trapped Germans Expected To Start In Few Hours

SOVIETS SEIZE 150 MORE TOWNS ON DESERT STEPPE

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Russian troops sweeping across the Nogaisk steppe reached the edge of the Crimea at its northeastern entrance today and simultaneously raced to within 22 miles of its northwestern door at Perekop, the last escape route for the large German Crimean armies.

In one of the most spectacular drives of the war the Russians thus were ready to seal off the great peninsula and within a matter of hours lay siege to the hundreds of thousands of Germans estimated to be still quartered there.

The battle of the Crimea was on.

The northeastern entrance to the Crimea was reached with the capture of Genichesk, while northwestward a second column striking directly toward Perekop captured the town of Askaniya Nova only 22 miles away.

The Russians advanced up to 22 miles in their day's drive and swept up a total of 150 more towns on the desert steppe as they prepared to choke off the Crimea at its thin, vulnerable neck.

Sealing off the peninsula, with hundreds of thousands of Germans caught in the trap, appeared to be only a matter of hours as German resistance broke.

To take Genichesk the Russians had advanced 56 miles in exactly a week from the capture of Melitopol and reached the shore of the Sivash or "Putrid" sea, formed by a thin bar of land cutting the eastern shore of the Crimea from the Sea of Azov.

While General Feodor Tolbukhin's cavalry poured columns spread over the great southern steppe like a flood, General Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Dnieper bend army pushed ahead three to five miles toward Nikopol, manganese center, and General Ivan S. Konev's troops fought almost continuous counterattacks in the Krivoi Rog area, where the Germans were making their most desperate bid to stave off wholesale disaster on the entire southern front.

NUISANCE RAID IS MADE ON LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—London was subjected to a light nuisance raid tonight a few hours after the R. A. F. delivered fresh blows on docks at Cherbourg and the Montdidier airfield nearby.

The London raid was almost 100 per cent ineffective, the net announced result being a bomb hit on a private residence.

The German air force lost two of a "very small number" of planes that reached the outskirts of London during the brief alert.

During the R. A. F. light battalion attack on Cherbourg, American and British heavy bombers rested.

Sassy little Typhoon bombers peppered the drydocks at the French port while the Whirlwinds, with Spitfire cover, poured explosives into the warehouses.

Boston bombers raked the runways and buildings at the airdrome. For a second straight day the bombers encountered not a single enemy fighter and the British lost no planes.

The R. A. F. attack on Cherbourg today was the seventh aerial assault in 12 days on the peninsula which sticks out like a finger toward Britain and is one of the Allies' possible invasion avenues.

A handfull of Nazi planes that headed toward London set off the British capital's sirens for the first time since Monday, but no planes were heard over the main part of the city. Gun fire sounded in outlying districts. First reports indicated the German raiders dropped only a single bomb caused no casualties. The all clear came after a short time.

SIX-ALARM FIRE IN BALTIMORE FOUGHT

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Hundreds of firemen fought a six-alarm fire tonight in the heart of Baltimore's business and theater district.

The blaze began in a five-and-ten cent store on busy Lexington street near Charles street and quickly spread to an adjoining hat shop. Other stores along the block were threatened.

All traffic was halted for blocks around and dense clouds of smoke kept thousands of milling spectators at a distance.

Police said no one was in the store when the blaze was discovered.

JAPS ON TREASURY ISLAND FLEE AS ALLIES ADVANCE

American Paratroopers Land On Choiseul, Split Enemy Forces There And Consolidate Positions

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Allied invaders of tiny Treasury island are pushing its few hundred Japanese defenders toward the northern tip and seaborne American paratroopers who landed on Choiseul, splitting enemy forces there, are consolidating their positions.

These developments in the newly-opened offensive on the approaches to the last big Japanese Solomons base of Bougainville were announced by headquarters today.

Belatedly it was disclosed that after American and New Zealand amphibious troops landed Wednesday on Treasury, 30 miles south of Bougainville, 25 Japanese divebombers and fighters tried to interfere. They were intercepted to the north of the eight-mile-long island by Lightnings, Kittyhawks and Airacobras which shot down at least 12. All the interceptors returned to their bases.

The report was the first of any appreciable enemy air activity in the sector where his bases were bombed out prior to the invasions. An indication that the Japanese also may be moving inland reinforcements was given in a report that north of Bougainville a troop-laden coastal vessel was bombed and sunk.

On the southwestern shore of Choiseul, where paratroops achieved unopposed landings from ships Thursday at a village close by a Japanese barge staging depot the communique today confined itself to "our ground troops are consolidating their positions." There was no indication that any fighting had occurred yet.

At south Pacific headquarters of Admiral Halsey, a spokesman who elaborated on MacArthur's communique said the invaders "continued to push enemy forces back." First reports after the landing told of the Japanese withdrawing without a fight.

He also amplified the Treasury air battle, saying the enemy planes ap-

POST-WAR PLANS MAY BE GRADUAL

Roosevelt Likely To Spike Several Elaborate Blueprints

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Several elaborate blueprints for federal post-war planning have been laid before White House officials but indications now are that President Roosevelt may spike all of them for an informal, piecemeal policy-making done more or less jointly by government, business, labor and agriculture.

This system is, in fact, already taking shape. The president fitted the newest piece into place Wednesday by creating a war advisory council of business men. This is now widely interpreted as a frank bid for close industry-business cooperation with the administration during the closing months of the war and in the post-war era as production shifts back to peace-time goods.

What probably surprised the eight business and industrial leaders most in their initial meeting with the chief executive Wednesday was his statement that since congress eliminated the national resources planning board several months ago he has no overall long-range planning agency and no funds with which to do such work.

Congress, Mr. Roosevelt is reported to have added, often moves by trends and the present trend appears unfavorable to basic administration planning.

Consequently several of the business men came away with the feeling, later expressed, that present government efforts to arrange for returning the country to a peace economy are developing without much overall coordination, and will continue to do so unless the president and his assistants, already jammed with immediate problems of the war, can find time to do the job.

Mr. Roosevelt gave the business

30 CARS BLOW UP WHEN TRAIN WRECKS

HIGHLAND, N. Y., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Explosions that sounded like the booming of cannon sent thousands of gallons of oil and gasoline up in flame and smoke today in the spectacular wreck of a New York, New Haven and Hartford freight train.

Thirty tank cars, by unofficial count, blew up and ignited when the locomotive jumped the track at a switch siding one mile and a half northwest of Highland on the west side of the Hudson river.

No one was killed on injured, but the flames leveled three houses facing the right of way. The occupants escaped, leaving behind their household and personal belongings.

The fire, which shot hundreds of feet in the air, rising above a dense pall of smoke, was seen three miles across the river in Poughkeepsie. It was brought under control by six fire companies two hours after the wreck, which occurred at 11:30 a.m.

Railroad officials, state police, the federal bureau of investigation, the state public service commission and the interstate commerce commission began investigations to determine the cause of the derailment.

Five years ago a train was wrecked at the same spot during a hurricane, and two members of the crew were killed.

HIGGS ACCUSES CROWN WITNESS

Charges Detective 'Substituted Fabricated Evidence'

NASSAU, Bahamas, Oct. 30.—(AP)—In a final blistering attack against a key crown witness Defense Counsel Godfrey S. Higgs charged today that a fingerprint offered to convict Alfred De Marigny of the murder of Sir Harry Oakes is "fabricated evidence."

Unable to shake Captain James O. Barker's testimony that he found the print on a bed screen in the death room the hard-hitting Higgs accused the American detective of having "swept aside the truth" in his "desire for gain and notoriety."

Calm and unruffled, Barker flatly denied the charges.

Spectators in the Bahamas supreme court chamber hardly breathed as Higgs led up to his bitter suggestion by accusing Barker of attempting to incite the hatred of Lady Eunice Oakes, widow of the slain multi-millionaire, against her son-in-law, the defendant.

Even De Marigny seemed relieved, slumping back on the bench in the prisoner's cell with a half-smile on his face, when Higgs hurled his final bitter accusation and took his seat at the outer bar.

Onlookers immediately began filing out of the courtroom, and the second week of the dramatic trial ended quietly with the reading by Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly of the testimony given by Barker under Higgs' prodding.

From Barker, Higgs drew the statement that the fingerprint—exhibit J—is "vital evidence" to connect De Marigny with the bludgeoning and burning of Sir Harry in a bedroom of his palatial home, Westbourne, last July.

Then he shouted that he doubted whether the print actually had been lifted from the surface of the screen.

115,000 MINERS OUT ON STRIKE

ROOSEVELT PROMISES TO TAKE 'DECISIVE ACTION'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The number of striking soft coal miners climbed to 115,000 today, heightening prospects of a virtually complete industry shut-down by Monday.

Monday also may bring a settlement, in one fashion or another, of the issues which have kept the industry torn with controversy and turmoil since early spring. The United Mine Workers policy committee meets here, and President Roosevelt has promised that unless this meeting brings a back-to-the-mines movement he will take "decisive action."

Whatever the climax, the general expectation is that this time the situation will force some arrangement, government-imposed or otherwise, holding good for the war's duration.

In other developments:

1. The war production board estimated the strikes in Alabama and Indiana alone—where the current series of walkouts began October 15—have caused the loss of 160,000 tons of iron and steel output. This is metal enough, WPB said, for "33 liberty ships or 2,500 medium tanks or 7,000 155-millimeter guns."

2. WPB also stood ready, in event of a prolonged strike, to ban ornamental street lighting, show window and electric advertising. A spokesman said it might be necessary to divert some coal stocks of utilities to war plants.

3. The solid fuels administration reported that bituminous coal production declined 425,000 tons in the week ended October 23 compared with the previous week. Output for the week was 11,390,000 tons.

4. The outlook for anthracite production became increasingly uncertain. Reports from hard coal fields indicated [illegible] of the 80,000 anthracite miners worked today compared with fewer than 30,000 on Friday when many miners observed John Mitchell day, a traditional holiday honoring an early union leader.

Most anthracite union locals arranged week-end meetings for expressions on the war labor board's award of 32.2 cents a day wage increase and other concessions amounting to 20 to 25 cents a day. The miners had asked $2.

LIMIT PLACED ON COAL DELIVERIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—An emergency regulation prohibiting the delivery of anthracite coal to any domestic consumer having more than 10 days' supply on hand was ordered today by the solid fuels administration.

The emergency regulation also prohibits retailers from delivering and consumers from accepting more than a half-ton of anthracite.

Harold L. Ickes, solid fuels administrator, said the regulation is necessary to assure distribution of the limited available supplies of anthracite during the present period of strikes and threatened strikes.

All anthracite sizes larger than barley are affected.

Gable Back From Foreign Service

Clasping his hands comfortably across his stomach, Captain Clark Gable, the former movie star, faced the press in the Pentagon building in Washington Wednesday, safe for the moment from the surging girls and women in the corridors outside. The War Department would not allow pictures of him as he passed through the throng of admirers, employed in the Pentagon, going to and from his press conference. He made five combat missions over Europe during his service abroad, as a member of a bomber crew. (AP Wirephoto)

PROPOSED LIQUOR TAX CUT IN HALF

House Committee Votes To Stiffen Levies On Cigars, Betting

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The house ways and means committee today cut in half a proposed $4-per-gallon boost in the federal liquor taxes, but voted to stiffen several other levies—including those on cigars and pari-mutuel betting—to pick up a net of $49,000,000 more from excise tax sources.

The action on the liquor assessment, aftermath of vigorous protests that too high a rate would put a premium on bootlegging," set the tax at $8 a gallon. The previous tentative decision was to hike it from $6 to $10.

The resulting $242,000,000 loss in the estimated revenue the bill would produce was more than offset by the increases as the committee reviewed about half its previous decisions on excise taxes. It will complete the work Monday.

Out of today's session came these recommendations:

1. A 100 per cent increase in the tax on cigars. The present rates, on a sliding scale, run from a tax of $2.50 per thousand for cigars sold at retail at two and one-half cents each to $20 a thousand for those priced above 20 cents. The proposed rates would start at $5 and run up to a max mum of $40. Estimated additional revenue—$28,000,000.

2. A boost in the tax on pari-mutuel betting from four per cent—the previous tentative proposal—to five per cent. There is no federal tax at present. The estimated yield from such a tax is $27,500,000.

3. A 25 per cent levy on electric light bulbs and tubes—five times the present rate and ten per cent about the previous tentative figures. Estimated yield $10,000,000.

4. A 100 per cent boost in the tax on jewelry. The present rate is ten per cent. The committee previously

WEATHER FORECASTS WILL REVEAL MORE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Those sketchy weather forecasts which have been the rule since the war started are going back to normalcy November 1.

Beginning then, the weather bureau said tonight, newspaper readers and radio listeners can count on getting details on what to expect for 48 hours ahead, and possibly even longer. Since December 7, 1941, for now-fading security reasons, the bureau hardly looked a day ahead for the public and then in only the most general terms.

The change is another demonstration of progress in keeping the war away from American shores; another result was the lifting this week of coastal lighting restrictions. Weather forecasts had been limited mainly in order to keep from enemy submarines any tips of good hunting weather.

The bureau said there will be no further restrictions on the release of weather forecasts, reports or other weather information to newspapers. Radio stations are requested not to broadcast reports of wind direction or barometric pressure, or to give out technical information regarding cloud ceilings and general visibility except when this information is required for aircraft operation.

POISED BEFORE MAIN NAZI LINE

Air Forces Strike Devastating Blows Behind German Front

TOUGHER RESISTANCE TO ADVANCE ON ROME LIKELY

By Judson O'Quinn

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The second battle of the Crimea began today with General Feodor Tolbukhin's steppe legions hammering at its northeastern gate and plunging down the last 22-mile lap toward Perekop to slam shut that northwestern escape door on huge German forces in the peninsula.

A midnight communique supplement announced that the Russians continued to pursue the retreating Germans after they took the town of Genichesk by assault, killing over 2,000 Nazis at the northeastern edge of the Crimea.

Another column captured the town of Askaniya Nova, only 22 miles from Perekop and the last railway escape for the hundreds of thousands of Germans in the peninsula.

Considerable quantities of German munitions, equipment and stores fell to the Russians in their spectacular drive across the Nogaisk steppe to the fringe of the Crimea, which may be sealed off in a matter of hours.

The Russians advanced up to 22 miles in yesterday's drive and swept up a total of 150 more towns in the desert steppe in a drive of 56 miles exactly a week after the capture of Melitopol, said a Moscow communique recorded by the Soviet monitor.

In the Dnieper river bend more than 2,100 Germans fell before furious Russian attacks that sent the Germans fleeing in disorder in at least one sector.

General Rodion Y. Malinovsky's forces pushed ahead three to five miles toward Nikopol manganese center, capturing Bozhedorvka 43 miles southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and about an equal distance above Krivoi Rog on a rail line.

At Krivoi Rog itself the Russians were standing off waves of German tank and infantry counter charges which cost the Germans 1,000 dead, the communique supplement said. In one sector the Germans used 100 tanks

PRINCESS PAYS JACKSON VISIT

Juliana Sees Royal Netherlands Military Flying School

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Her Royal Highness Princess Juliana left new friends behind when she boarded her train today after a day and a half visit to Jackson and the Royal Netherlands Military Flying school.

Those who saw the housewives who waited hours to watch her car pass, guests who attended the colorful military review at the air base; and the children who tossed flowers in her path as she drove slowly down the street responded to her gracious smiles with applause or smiles.

The Dutch officers were right with pride. Colonel Conrad Gobel, commanding general of the school, expressed their feelings at today's review when he said:

"On behalf of all the Dutch stationed at present in Jackson, Miss., I wish to give expression of our profound gratitude and immense joy for the honor of having with us today her Royal Highness Princess Juliana."

Her kitchen, in a brief address during the review, spoke of a "beautiful unity and brotherhood" which she said "has blossomed in all the allied nations."

A token of the friendship with the Netherlanders American hosts was the

ROBBERY SUGGESTED IN DEATH OF GIRL

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Robbery was suggested as a possible motive today for the fatal wounding last night of pretty Louise Evans, 22-year-old inventory supervisor at Brookley field.

Identity of the girl in red who stumbled to the porch of a negro dwelling in suburban Prichard last night gasping, "I'm shot," was established today by Mrs. Eula Tice, a cousin who viewed the body as it lay in a morgue, and by Adaleen Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Skinner, with whom the Evans girl lived.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Pryor suggested the robbery angle, pointing out that Miss Evans' purse was missing when she fell dying on the porch of a home occupied by Plezz Robinson, negro, in a desolated section of Prichard, at 9:15 last night.

Robinson told Sheriff W. H. Holcombe of hearing a shot only a few seconds before, but said he heard no outcry.

Mrs. Skinner told investigators the Evans girl had returned from her job at 5:15 yesterday afternoon and said that she was "going to town and would be back shortly."

Police were unable to pick up her trail from that time until her death.

14 KILLED IN CRASH OF TRANSPORT PLANE

CAMP MACKALL, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Authorities at this army airborne troop post in North Carolina's sandhills announced tonight that 14 officers and men were killed and four seriously injured yesterday in the crash of a transport plane.

The announcement, by the public relations office and the commander, Colonel Vernon Olsmith, said the next of kin had been notified. It gave no details of the accident but said it occurred during a training flight.

NEW COMMANDER NAMED

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander Barry Holton has been named officer in charge of the new regional offices here to administer flight preparatory schools in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma, Commander Holton was senior member of the naval aviation cadet selection board here during its two and one-half years of operation.

3-POWER PARLEY IS NEARING END

Berlin Claims Russia Given 'Fixed Date' For Invasion

MOSCOW, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Speeding toward a conclusion of the 11-day-old tri-power conference Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov met an hour earlier than usual today in what was described as a continued high atmosphere of cordiality and cooperation.

As President Roosevelt disclosed at his press conference yesterday, the three Allied representatives are understood to have possibly put their signatures to certain declarations which have come before the conference and undoubtedly will be made public later.

There has still been no announcement as to how much longer the conference will last.

The military committee of American, Russian and British experts worked late again last night and went back to their tasks at 10 o'clock early this morning. Numerous papers, approved in principle by the three foreign ministers, have passed through their hands.

The delegates are beginning to look tired, although Secretary Hull himself does not show the strain particularly. The secretary has been credited to conserve his strength consistently refusing all social invitations. He is still described as in fine health and rising early every day. The nose bleed which he suffered midway through the conference has not occurred since.

British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr gave a cocktail party today in honor of Eden at the British embassy across the river from the Kremlin. Hull did not attend but United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and others of the delegation were present.

CONFERENCE PLUNGES BERLIN INTO ANXIETY

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Moscow three-power conference plunged Berlin into restless anxiety today.

Russians Ready To Seal Hundreds Of Thousands Of Nazis In Crimea

PATH OF ESCAPE ALMOST CLOSED

Siege On Trapped Germans Expected To Start In Few Hours

SOVIETS SEIZE 150 MORE TOWNS ON DESERT STEPPE

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Russian troops sweeping across the Nogaisk steppe reached the edge of the Crimea at its northeastern entrance today and simultaneously raced to within 22 miles of its northwestern door at Perekop, the last escape route for the large German Crimean armies.

In one of the most spectacular drives of the war the Russians thus were ready to seal off the great peninsula and within a matter of hours lay siege to the hundreds of thousands of Germans estimated to be still quartered there.

The battle of the Crimea was on.

The northeastern entrance to the Crimea was reached with the capture of Genichesk, while northwestward a second column striking directly toward Perekop captured the town of Askaniya Nova, only 22 miles away.

The Russians advanced up to 22 miles in their day's drive and swept up a total of 150 more towns on the desert steppe as they prepared to choke off the Crimea at its thin, vulnerable neck.

Sealing off the peninsula, with hundreds of thousands of Germans caught in the trap, appeared to be only a matter of hours as German resistance broke.

To take Genichesk the Russians had advanced 56 miles in exactly a week from the capture of Melitopol and reached the shore of the Sivash or "Putrid" sea, formed by a thin bar of land cutting the eastern shore of the Crimea from the Sea of Azov.

While General Feodor Tolbukhin's cavalry-paced columns spread over the great southern steppe like a flood, General Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Dnieper bend army pushed ahead three to five miles toward Nikopol, manganese center, and General Ivan S. Konev's troops fought almost continuous counterattacks in the Krivoi Rog area, where the Germans were making their most desperate bid to stave off wholesale disaster on the entire southern front.

NUISANCE RAID IS MADE ON LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—London was subjected to a light nuisance raid tonight a few hours after the R. A. F. delivered fresh blows on docks at Cherbourg and the Maupertus airfield nearby.

The London raid was almost 100 per cent ineffective, the net announced result being a bomb hit on a private residence.

The German air force lost two of a "very small number" of planes that reached the outskirts of London during the brief alert.

During the R. A. F. light battalion attack on Cherbourg, American and British heavy bombers rested.

Sassy little Typhoon bombers peppered the drydocks at the French port while the Whirlwinds, with Spitfire cover, poured explosives into the warehouses.

Boston bombers raked the runways and buildings at the airdrome. For a second straight day the bombers encountered not a single enemy fighter and the British lost no planes.

The R. A. F. attack on Cherbourg today was the seventh aerial assault in 12 days on the peninsula which sticks out like a finger toward Britain and is one of the Allies' possible invasion avenues.

A handfull of Nazi planes that headed toward London set off the British capital's sirens for the first time since Monday, but no planes were heard over the main part of the city. Gun fire sounded in outlying districts. First reports indicated the German raiders dropped only a single bomb caused no casualties. The all clear came after a short time.

SIX-ALARM FIRE IN BALTIMORE FOUGHT

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Hundreds of firemen fought a six-alarm fire tonight in the heart of Baltimore's business and theater district.

The blaze began in a five-and-ten cent store on busy Lexington street near Charles street and quickly spread to an adjoining hat shop. Other stores along the block were threatened.

All traffic was halted for blocks around and dense clouds of smoke kept thousands of milling spectators at a distance.

Police said no one was in the store when the blaze was discovered.

American Paratroopers Land On Choiseul, Split Enemy Forces There And Consolidate Positions

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Allied invaders of tiny Treasury island are pushing its few hundred Japanese defenders toward the northern tip and seaborne American paratroopers who landed on Choiseul, splitting enemy forces there, are consolidating their positions.

These developments in the newly-opened offensive on the approaches to the last big Japanese Solomons base of Bougainville were announced by headquarters today.

Belatedly it was disclosed that after American and New Zealand amphibious troops landed Wednesday on Treasury, 30 miles south of Bougainville, 25 Japanese divebombers and fighters tried to interfere. They were intercepted to the north of the eight-mile-long island by Lightnings, Kittyhawks and Airacobras which shot down at least 12. All the interceptors returned to their bases.

The report was the first of any appreciable enemy air activity in the sector where his bases were bombed out prior to the invasions. An indication that the Japanese also may be moving inland reinforcements was given in a report that north of Bougainville a troop-laden coastal vessel was bombed and sunk.

On the southwestern shore of Choiseul, where paratroops achieved unopposed landings from ships Thursday at a village close by a Japanese barge staging depot, the communique today confined itself to "our ground troops are consolidating their positions." There was no indication that any fighting had occurred yet.

At south Pacific headquarters of Admiral Halsey, a spokesman who elaborated on MacArthur's communique said the invaders "continued to push enemy forces back." First reports after the landing told of the Japanese withdrawing without a fight.

He also amplified the Treasury air battle, saying the enemy planes ap-

POST-WAR PLANS MAY BE GRADUAL

Roosevelt Likely To Spike Several Elaborate Blueprints

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Several elaborate blueprints for federal post-war planning have been laid before White House officials but indications now are that President Roosevelt may spike all of them for an informal, piecemeal policy-making done more or less jointly by government, business, labor and agriculture.

This system is, in fact, already taking shape. The president fitted the newest piece into place Wednesday by creating a war advisory council of business men. This is now widely interpreted as a frank bid for close industry-business cooperation with the administration during the closing months of the war and in the post-war era as production shifts back to peacetime goods.

What probably surprised the eight business and industrial leaders most in their initial meeting with the chief executive Wednesday was his statement that since congress eliminated the national resources planning board several months ago he has no overall long-range planning agency and no funds with which to do such work.

Congress, Mr. Roosevelt is reported to have added, often moves by trends and the present trend appears unfavorable to basic administration planning.

Consequently several of the business men came away with the feeling, later expressed, that present government efforts to arrange for returning the country to a peace economy are developing without much overall coordination, and will continue to do so unless the president and his assistants, already jammed with immediate problems of the war, can find time to do the job.

Mr. Roosevelt gave the business

30 CARS BLOW UP WHEN TRAIN WRECKS

HIGHLAND, N. Y., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Explosions that sounded like the booming of cannon sent thousands of gallons of oil and gasoline up in flame and smoke today in the spectacular wreck of a New York, New Haven and Hartford freight train.

Thirty tank cars, by unofficial count, blew up and ignited when the locomotive jumped the track at a switch siding one mile and a half northwest of Highland on the west side of the Hudson river.

No one was killed on injured, but the flames leveled three houses facing the right of way. The occupants escaped, leaving behind their household and personal belongings.

The fire, which shot hundreds of feet in the air, rising above a dense pall of smoke, was seen three miles across the river in Poughkeepsie. It was brought under control by six fire companies two hours after the wreck, which occurred at 11:30 a.m.

Railroad officials, state police, the federal bureau of investigation, the state public service commission and the interstate commerce commission began investigations to determine the cause of the derailment.

Five years ago a train was wrecked at the same spot during a hurricane, and two members of the crew were killed.

HIGGS ACCUSES CROWN WITNESS

Charges Detective 'Substituted Fabricated Evidence'

NASSAU, Bahamas, Oct. 30.—(AP)—In a final blistering attack against a key crown witness, Defense Counsel Godfrey S. Higgs charged today that a fingerprint offered to convict Alfred De Marigny of the murder of Sir Harry Oakes is "fabricated evidence."

Unable to shake Captain James O. Barker's testimony that he found the print on a bed screen in the death room, the hard-hitting Higgs accused the American detective of having "swept aside the truth" in his "desire for gain and notoriety."

Calm and unruffled, Barker flatly denied the charges.

Spectators in the Bahamas supreme court chamber hardly breathed as Higgs led up to his bitter suggestion by accusing Barker of attempting to incite the hatred of Lady Eunice Oakes, widow of the slain multi-millionaire, against her son-in-law, the defendant.

Even De Marigny seemed relieved, slumping back on the bench in the prisoner's cell with a half-smile on his face, when Higgs hurled his final bitter accusation and took his seat at the outer bar.

Onlookers immediately began filing out of the courtroom, and the second week of the dramatic trial ended quietly with the reading by Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly of the testimony given by Barker under Higgs' prodding.

From Barker, Higgs drew the statement that the fingerprint—exhibit J—is "vital evidence" to connect De Marigny with the bludgeoning and burning of Sir Harry in a bedroom of his palatial home, Westbourne, last July.

Then he shouted that he doubeted whether the print actually had been lifted from the surface of the screen,

ROOSEVELT PROMISES TO TAKE 'DECISIVE ACTION'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The number of striking soft coal miners climbed to 115,000 today, heightening prospects of a virtually complete industry shut-down by Monday.

Monday also may bring a settlement, in one fashion or another, of the issues which have kept the industry torn with controversy and turmoil since early spring. The United Mine Workers policy committee meets here, and President Roosevelt has promised that unless this meeting brings a back-to-the-mines movement he will take "decisive action."

Whatever the climax, the general expectation is that this time the situation will force some arrangement, government-imposed or otherwise, holding good for the war's duration.

In other developments:

1. The war production board estimated the strikes in Alabama and Indiana alone—where the current series of walkouts began October 13—have caused the loss of 100,000 tons of iron and steel output. This is metal enough, WPB said, for "33 liberty ships or 2,500 medium tanks or 7,000 155-millimeter guns."

2. WPB also stood ready, in event of a prolonged strike, to ban ornamental street lighting, show window and electric advertising. A spokesman said it might be necessary to divert some coal stocks of utilities to war plants.

3. The solid fuels administration reported that bituminous coal production declined 425,000 tons in the week ended October 23 compared with the previous week. Output for the week was 11,330,000 tons.

4. The outlook for anthracite production became increasingly uncertain. Reports from hard coal fields in eastern Pennsylvania said about 32,000 of the 80,000 anthracite miners worked today compared with fewer than 30,000 on Friday when many miners observed John Mitchell day, a traditional holiday honoring an early union leader.

Most anthracite union locals arranged week-end meetings for expressions on the war labor board's award of 32.2 cents a day wage increase and other concessions amounting to 20 to 25 cents a day. The miners had asked $2.

LIMIT PLACED ON COAL DELIVERIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—An emergency regulation prohibiting the delivery of anthracite coal to any domestic consumer having more than 10 days' supply on hand was ordered today by the solid fuels administration.

The emergency regulation also prohibits retailers from delivering and consumers from accepting more than a half-ton of anthracite.

Harold L. Ickes, solid fuels administrator, said the regulation is necessary to assure distribution of the limited available supplies of anthracite during the present period of strikes and threatened strikes.

All anthracite sizes larger than barley are affected.

Gable Back From Foreign Service

Clasping his hands comfortably across his stomach, Captain Clark Gable, the former movie star, faced the press in the Pentagon building in Washington Wednesday, safe for the moment from the surging girls and women in the corridors outside. The War Department would not allow pictures of him as he passed through the throng of admirers, employed in the Pentagon, going to and from his press conference. He made five combat missions over Europe during his service abroad, as a member of a bomber crew. (AP Wirephoto)

PROPOSED LIQUOR TAX CUT IN HALF

House Committee Votes To Stiffen Levies On Cigars, Betting

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The house ways and means committee today cut in half a proposed $4-per-gallon boost in the federal liquor taxes, but voted to stiffen several other levies—including those on cigars and pari-mutuel betting—to pick up a net of $49,000,000 more from excise tax sources.

The action on the liquor assessment, aftermath of vigorous protests that too high a rate would "put a premium on bootlegging," set the tax at $8 a gallon. The previous tentative decision was to hike it from $6 to $10.

The resulting $242,000,000 loss in the estimated revenue the bill would produce was more than offset by the increases as the committee reviewed about half its previous decisions on excise taxes. It will complete the work Monday.

Out of today's session came these recommendations:

1. A 100 per cent increase in the tax on cigars. The present rates, on a sliding scale, run from a tax of $2.50 per thousand for cigars sold at retail at two and one-half cents each to $20 a thousand for those priced above 20 cents. The proposed rates would start at $5 and run up to a maximum of $40. Estimated additional revenue—$28,000,000.

2. A boost in the tax on pari-mutuel betting from four per cent—the previous tentative proposal—to five per cent. There is no federal tax at present. The estimated yield from such a tax is $27,500,000.

3. A 25 per cent levy on electric light bulbs and tubes—five times the present rate and ten per cent about the previous tentative figures. Estimated yield—$10,000,000.

4. A 100 per cent boost in the tax on jewelry. The present rate is ten per cent. The committee previously

WEATHER FORECASTS WILL REVEAL MORE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Those sketchy weather forecasts which have been the rule since the war started are going back to normalcy November 1.

Beginning then, the weather bureau said tonight, newspaper readers and radio listeners can count on getting details on what to expect for 48 hours ahead, and possibly even longer. Since December 7, 1941, for now-fading security reasons, the bureau hardly looked a day ahead for the public and then in only the most general terms.

The change is another demonstration of progress in keeping the war away from American shores; another result was the lifting this week of coastal lighting restrictions. Weather forecasts had been limited mainly in order to keep from enemy submarines any tips of good hunting weather.

The bureau said there will be no further restrictions on the release of weather forecasts, reports or other weather information to newspapers. Radio stations are requested not to broadcast reports of wind direction or barometric pressure, or to give out technical information regarding cloud ceilings and general visibility except when this information is required for aircraft operation.

Berlin Claims Russia Given 'Fixed Date' For Invasion

MOSCOW, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Speeding toward a conclusion of the 11-day-old tri-power conference, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov met an hour earlier than usual today in what was described as a continued high atmosphere of cordiality and cooperation.

As President Roosevelt disclosed at his press conference yesterday, the three Allied representatives are understood to have possibly put their signatures to certain declarations which have come before the conference and undoubtedly will be made public later.

There has still been no announcement as to how much longer the conference will last.

The drafting committee of American, Russian and British experts worked late again last night and went back to their highly technical job early this morning. Numerous papers, approved in principle by the three foreign ministers, have passed through their hands.

The delegates are beginning to look tired, although Secretary Hull himself does not show the strain particularly. The secretary has been careful to conserve his strength, consistently refusing all social invitations. He is still described as in fine health and rising early every day. The nose bleed which he suffered midway through the conference has not occurred since.

British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr gave a cocktail party today in honor of Eden at the British embassy across the river from the Kremlin. Hull did not attend but United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and others in the delegation were present.

14 KILLED IN CRASH OF TRANSPORT PLANE

CAMP MACKALL, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Authorities at this army airborne troop post in North Carolina's sandhills announced tonight that 14 officers and men were killed and four seriously injured yesterday in the crash of a transport plane.

The announcement, by the public relations office and the commander, Colonel Vernon Olsmith, said the next of kin had been notified. It gave no details of the accident but said it occurred during a training flight.

NEW COMMANDER NAMED

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander Barry Holton has been named officer in charge of the new regional offices here to administer flight preparatory schools in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma. POISED BEFORE MAIN NAZI LINE

Air Forces Strike Devastating Blows Behind German Front

By Judson O'Quinn

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The second battle of the Crimea began today with General Feodor Tolbukhin's steppe legions hammering at its northeastern gate and plunging down the last 22-mile lap toward Perekop to slam shut that northwestern escape door on huge German forces in the peninsula.

A midnight communique supplement announced that the Russians continued to pursue the retreating Germans after they took the town of Genichesk by assault, killing over 2,000 Nazis at the northeastern edge of the Crimea.

Another column captured the town of Askaniya Nova, only 22 miles from Perekop and the last railway escape for the hundreds of thousands of Germans in the peninsula.

Considerable quantities of German munitions, equipment and stores fell to the Russians in their spectacular drive across the Nogaisk steppe to the fringe of the Crimea, which may be sealed off in a matter of hours.

The Russians advanced up to 22 miles in yesterday's drive and swept up a total of 150 more towns in the desert steppe in a drive of 56 miles exactly a week after the capture of Melitopol, said a Moscow communique recorded by the Soviet monitor.

In the Dnieper river bend more than 2,100 Germans fell before furious Russian attacks that sent the Germans fleeing in disorder in at least one sector.

General Rodion Y. Malinovsky's forces pushed ahead three to five miles toward Nikopol, manganese center, capturing Bozhedorvka, 43 miles southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and about an equal distance above Krivoi Rog on a rail line.

At Krivoi Rog itself the Russians were standing off waves of German tank and infantry counter charges which cost the Germans 1,000 dead, the communique supplement said. In one sector the Germans used 100 tanks

PRINCESS PAYS JACKSON VISIT

Juliana Sees Royal Netherlands Military Flying School

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Her Royal Highness Princess Juliana left new friends behind when she boarded her plane today after a day and a half visit to Jackson and the Royal Netherlands Military Flying school.

Those who saw her—housewives who waited hours to watch her car pass; guests who attended the colorful military review at the air base; and the children who tossed flowers in her path as she drove slowly down the street—responded to her gracious charm with applause or smiles.

The Dutch officers were rigid with pride. Colonel Conrad Giebel, commanding general of the school, expressed their feelings at today's review when he said:

"On behalf of all the Dutch stationed at present in Jackson, Miss., I wish to give expression of our profound gratitude and immense joy for the honor of having with us today her Royal Highness Princess Juliana."

Her highnes, in a brief address during the review, spoke of a "beautiful unity and brotherhood" which she said "has blossomed in all the allied nations."

A token of the friendship with the Netherlanders' American hosts was the

ROBBERY SUGGESTED IN DEATH OF GIRL

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Robbery was suggested as a possible motive today for the fatal wounding last night of pretty Louise Evans, 22-year-old inventory supervisor at Brookley field.

Identity of the girl in red who stumbled to the porch of a negro dwelling in suburban Prichard last night gasping, "I'm shot," was established today by Mrs. Eula Tice, a cousin who viewed the body as it lay in a morgue, and by Adaleen Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Skinner, with whom the Evans girl lived.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Pryor suggested the robbery angle, pointing out that Miss Evans' purse was missing when she fell dying on the porch of a home occupied by Plezz Robinson, negro, in a desolated section of Prichard, at 9:15 last night.

Robinson told Sheriff W. H. Holcombe of hearing a shot only a few seconds before, but said he heard no outcry.

Mrs. Skinner told investigators the Evans girl had returned from her job at 5:15 yesterday afternoon and said that she was "going to town and would be back shortly."

Police were unable to pick up her trail from that time until her death.

EXCHANGE CLUB IS SPONSORING SHOW

To earn funds for activities of Ouachita Parish High school's band and to organize an air scout squadron, the first to be started in Ouachita's scouting district, the Exchange club of Monroe is sponsoring a big musical and magic show scheduled for November 23 at the Ouachita Parish High school.

Professor Paul L. Hodges and Joyce, his assistant, will present "One Hour of Magic." Other professional stage talent will give musical and dancing numbers, although two of the performances will be by exceptionally fine local talent.

Admission for the big hour and 45 minute show is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. There will be an orchestra to play before the vaudeville and between acts, according to Professor Hodges, an Exchange club member. His magic act has been rated highly by Monroe audiences.

POPULATION GAIN SHOWN IN OUACHITA

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The civilian population of Ouachita parish increased 2.1 per cent between April 1940 and last March, the census bureau estimated today.

Basing its information on the number of No. 2 ration books outstanding in the parish in March, the bureau reported the civilian population as being 60,437 then as compared with 59,168 in April of 1940, a difference of 1,269.

Over the same period, the total civilian population for Louisiana as a whole declined, as it did in practically every other state and throughout the nation. The bureau estimated there were 2,339,596 civilians in the state on March 1 as compared with 2,358,769 in April of 1940, a decline of 19,173, or 0.8 per cent.

During this time, the national civilian poplation fell off 2.4 per cent—from 131,323,136 to 128,231,363. Men taken into the armed forces are included in these statistics and natural rate of increase has not sufficient to overbalance the nur leaving civilian life.

EXCHANGE CLUB IS SPONSORING SHOW

To earn funds for activities of Ouachita Parish High school's band and to organize an air scout squadron, the first to be started in Ouachita's scouting district, the Exchange club of Monroe is sponsoring a big musical and magic show scheduled for November 23 at the Ouachita Parish High school.

Professor Paul L. Hodges and Joyce, his assistant, will present "One Hour of Magic." Other professional stage talent will give musical and dancing numbers, although two of the performances will be by exceptionally fine local talent.

Admission for the big hour and 45 minute show is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. There will be an orchestra to play before the vaudeville and between acts, according to Professor Hodges, an Exchange club member. His magic act has been rated highly by Monroe audiences.

POPULATION GAIN SHOWN IN OUACHITA

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The civilian population of Ouachita parish increased 2.1 per cent between April 1940 and last March, the census bureau estimated today.

Basing its information on the number of No. 2 ration books outstanding in the parish in March, the bureau reported the civilian population as being 60,437 then as compared with 59,168 in April of 1940, a difference of 1,269.

Over the same period, the total civilian population for Louisiana as a whole declined, as it did in practically every other state and throughout the nation. The bureau estimated there were 2,339,596 civilians in the state on March 1 as compared with 2,358,769 in April of 1940, a decline of 19,173, or 0.8 per cent.

During this time, the national civilian population fell off 2.4 per cent—from 131,323,136 to 128,231,363. Men

McKenzie Says Amount Granted Those In Louisiana Inadequate

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Congressman Charles E. McKenzie today demanded that traveling salesmen in rural districts of Louisiana be allowed more gas than provided for in the OPA market ruling covering salesmen.

McKenzie pointed out to the house that the district which he represents does not have the highly interurban trains and buses which serve the populous eastern cities, and that the salesmen in such rural districts must rely on their automobiles alone.

The back country depends on the traveling salesmen for its feed, fertilizer and farm machinery, especially since gas rationing prevents farmers going to the cities to make their purchases, he said.

"Yet," he went on, "this very back country, this rural farming, livestock raising section is the very one that we are appealing upon to produce the much needed food with which to feed our soldiers, our sailors, workers in industrial industries, and our allies across the seas."

The Louisiana congressman has received many letters from wholesalers in the rural districts asking him to demand more gasoline for the traveling salesmen.

These men are not only essential as salesmen, McKenzie pointed out. They also pick up produce from backwoods farms, deliver some of it, etc. They are a great help to wholesalers who, unable to get bookkeeping help to keep up with OPA "regulations and red tape," look to the salesmen for information.

Gubernatorial Candidate Says He Is Running As Independent

Congressman James H. Morrison, candidate for governor, announces that all news received throughout the state indicates that Louisiana voters have picked him as the next chief executive. As congressman from the Sixth district of Louisiana, he states he is regarded as the only real independent candidate now in the gubernatorial race.

He states that he finds the people are tired of the rule of the state by factions and says that when elected he will be completely independent in his actions and decisions.

He is an attorney, businessman, and congressman and states he has carried out the promises he made to supporters when he made the race for congress.

He asserts he is a real friend of labor, introducing a bill which gave railroad retirement at the end of 30 years of service, which would not require that a man reach 65 years before he would be entitled to receive a pension.

Morrison states he will endeavor to get federal aid for teachers, bringing out on the floor of the house the bill which has now gone to a committee.

A house bill was introduced by Morrison which proposed pensions of $40 monthly for all needy persons over 65 years of age. He states this a salutary step forward to replace the old age or "dole" assistance.

He states he is the farmer's friend as shown by the bill he introduced to amend the price control act to allow farmers to receive 40 cents per pound for their cotton.

The candidate further says that he is a friend of soldiers, sailors, and marines and that he has ever fought for their best interests on the floor of the house. As governor he asserts he will continue the same policy.

SOLDIERS DON'T GAIN LOUISIANA RESIDENCE

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Eugene Stanley, state attorney general, said here yesterday that soldiers from other states stationed in Louisiana do not gain a residence for the purpose of voting regardless of how long they have been in this state.

The opinion, in answer to a query on the status of several soldiers stationed at Barksdale field for as long as five years, pointed out that Louisiana soldiers did not lose their residence, from a voting standpoint, by being absent from the state.

POPULATION DROP IN SOUTH IS LESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Figures released today by the United States bureau of the census indicate the South has suffered less by wartime's decrease and redistribution of civilians than any other region east of the Rocky Mountains.

The nation as a whole lost 3,091,773 people.

Ration book registrations show the south has 675,651 fewer persons out of uniform than it had prior to April 1, 1940. The figures cover the period from that date to March 1, 1943.

The south's 1.6 per cent civilian population loss compares with 4.3 per cent decrease in the northeastern states and 4 per cent drop in the north central states. Only the west showed an increase—5.1 per cent—during the period.

By states the decreases include a 7 per cent loss in Mississippi while Louisiana's decline was only 0.8 per cent. Mississippi's total decline was 153,251 persons; Louisiana 19,173.

Only Louisiana parishes showing civilian population gains, and their percentage of increase, were: Beauregard, 13.1; Bossier, 3.5; Calcasieu 30.8; East Baton Rouge, 27; Jefferson and Orleans, 5.4; LaSalle, 11.2; Ouachita, 2.1; Rapides, 27; St. Bernard, 2.7; Vernon, 40.4; Webster, 2.5.

Cameron parish, with a 23.7 per cent decline, showed greatest loss.

In Mississippi counties showing population gains were: Forrest, 30.2; Grenada, 0.8; Harrison, 22.2; Hinds, 5.6; Jackson, 53.6; Lamar, 0.6; Lowndes, 0.2; Wilkinson, 3.1. Lamar county registered a 42.5 per cent decrease.

YUGOSLAVS CROSS HUNGARIAN LINE

Guerillas, Joined By Italians, Battling With Germans

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Yugoslav partisan radio announced today that guerillas had pushed their way across the Hungarian border in bloody fighting with the Nazis and tonight other partisan forces were reported battling the Germans in the Fiume-Trieste area after joining up with a strong group of Italian patriots.

DNB, the German news agency, in a broadcast from Berlin gave tacit admission of the scope of the Yugoslav-Italian opposition, declaring that "mopping-up operations" against the guerillas in the northeast corner of Italy "is progressing, with 500 captured and 1,600 killed," but added, "in Dalmatia the guerilla war still continues."

A communique broadcast by the Yugoslav army of liberation said partisan forces crossed into Hungary from Zagorye province, north of Zagreb and were engaging the enemy.

In Dalmatia, the communique said a German column was defeated after 10 hours of bitter fighting in which some 150 Nazi soldiers were killed or wounded.

The partisans of General Josip Broz (Tito) were aided in Dalmatia by 20 allied planes which bombed enemy columns near Ston, Metkovic, Split and other communities near Knin, 45 miles north of Split, the communique related.

Tito's communique said that the Chetnik leader, who was captured recently while fighting on the side of the Germans in Montenegro, had died of wounds.

A dispatch from Cairo, where the Yugoslav government in exile has its headquarters, said the forces of General Draja Mihailovic now controlled large areas throughout the interior of Yugoslavia, and added that local courts now were functioning and the Yugoslav flag flying over public buildings.

Previously Tito's partisans had reported that veces—democratic assemblies—were operating in liberated territory.

Ration book registrations show the south has 675,651 fewer persons out of uniform than it had prior to April 1, 1940. The figures cover the period from that date to March 1, 1943.

The south's 1.6 per cent civilian population loss compares with 4.3 per cent decrease in the northeastern states and 4 per cent drop in the north central states. Only the west showed an increase—5.1 per cent—during the period.

By states the decreases include a 7 per cent loss in Mississippi while Louisiana's decline was only 0.8 per cent.

Mississippi's total decline was 153,251 persons; Louisiana 19,173.

Only Louisiana parishes showing civilian population gains, and their percentage of increase, were: Beauregard, 13.1; Bossier, 3.5; Calcasieu 30.8; East Baton Rouge, 27; Jefferson and Orleans, 5.4; LaSalle, 11.2; Ouachita, 2.1; Rapides, 27; St. Bernard, 2.7; Vernon, 40.4; Webster, 2.3.

Cameron parish, with a 23.7 per cent decline, showed greatest loss.

In Mississippi counties showing population gains were: Forrest, 30.2; Grenada, 0.8; Harrison, 22.2; Hinds, 5.6; Jackson, 53.6; Lamar, 0.6; Lowndes, 0.2; Wilkinson, 3.1. Lamar county registered a 42.5 per cent decrease.

YUGOSLAVS CROSS HUNGARIAN LINE

Guerillas, Joined By Italians, Battling With Germans

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Yugoslav partisan radio announced today that guerillas had pushed their way across the Hungarian border in bloody fighting with the Nazis and tonight other partisan forces were reported battling the Germans in the Fiume-Trieste area after joining up with a strong group of Italian patriots.

DNB, the German news agency, in a broadcast from Berlin gave tacit admission of the scope of the Yugoslav-Italian opposition, declaring that "mopping-up operations" against the guerillas in the northeast corner of Italy "is progressing, with 500 captured and 1,600 killed," but added, "in Dalmatia the guerilla war still continues."

A communique broadcast by the Yugoslav army of liberation said partisan forces crossed into Hungary from Zagorye province, north of Zagreb and were engaging the enemy.

In Dalmatia, the communique said a German column was defeated after 10 hours of bitter fighting in which some 150 Nazi soldiers were killed or wounded.

The partisans of General Josip Broz (Tito) were aided in Dalmatia by 20 allied planes which bombed enemy columns near Ston, Metkovic, Split and other communities near Knin, 45 miles north of Split, the communique related.

Tito's communique said that the Chetnik leader, who was captured recently while fighting on the side of the Germans in Montenegro, had died of wounds.

A dispatch from Cairo, where the Yugoslav government in exile has its headquarters, said the forces of General Draja Mihailovic now controlled large areas throughout the interior of Yugoslavia, and added that local courts now were functioning and the Yugoslav flag flying over public buildings.

Previously Tito's partisans had reported that veces—democratic assemblies—were operating in liberated territory.

Asthma Mucus Loosened While You Sleep

Say Thousands of Sufferers

Do recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma make you choke, strangle and gasp for breath? Are you bothered so bad some nights that you can't sleep? World Health

Feeding of the undernourished peoples in the aftermath of the war is already taking shape as a problem for concerted effort. Its immediacy is great, but only secondary to it are the cure and eradication of diseases certain to be brought home to belligerent nations by returning troops from all parts of the world.

Although there has been little public discussion along this line, it cannot fail to be in the thoughts of leaders in the scientific world. And when the time does come at the close of hostilities to set up an international organization whose prime objective will be to prevent the recurrence of future conflicts, of almost equal importance to it will be the conservation of the health of the peoples of the world.

It seems the very height of paradox for an era that has produced two world wars, the second of which is the greatest the world has ever experienced, to be the one in which the care of public health has achieved the stature of a science. As such it is capable of being the instrument by which the physical status of 1,600,000,000 human beings may be measurably enhanced.

So backward are many peoples that this desired end can never be attained on a hit or miss basis. In the new world setup there must be an international organization with far-flung outposts prepared to combat pestilence and wielding a powerful influence to improve the living standards of the human race.

Despite the colossal flop that was the League of Nations, it is a memorable fact that its welfare agencies were active almost to the end, and that the fight it waged on the opium habit alone meant redemption to tens of thousands.

Typhus fever, cause of the greatest number of deaths from disease in all the wars of history, has all but been eliminated among the American forces, there having been but two or three cases in an army of 6,000,000 men. The war on malaria and venereal disease is being won. Scientific discoveries in the field of disease cures and preventives have been enormous in the present conflict.

The post-war world will be a much smaller world, thanks to the great role to be played by airplane travel. A corollary of that, of course, is the danger of importing disease from one quarter of the globe to another, almost before it is recognizable. Here, too, an international health organization could wield a powerful minatory influence, holding up local officials to the most rigid watchfulness.

BIMETALLISM

Disclosing that he is alert to the post-war interests of his industry, Francis H. Brownell, chairman of the American Smelting and Refining company, proposes the adoption of international bimetallism—the linking of silver with gold on a world scale.

Bimetallism has long been regarded by orthodox financiers and economists as weakening to the monetary structure. Brownell argues it will strengthen money after the war by tying all countries to hard money. Otherwise, he warns, paper money inflation will sweep many lands.

This is the first time Bryan's monetary theories have been advanced as a safeguard for fundamental currency values. But here are Brownell's arguments for bimetallism:

Volume of standard money would be increased to meet the larger needs of the post-war period.

Yearly addition to standard money, formerly only 40,000,000 ounces of gold, would be expanded by 250,000,000 ounces of silver. This could be further expanded by drawing upon the arts for more silver.

Nations would be able to restore coinage of standard money on a large scale.

Money volume could be regulated through the mining of the precious metals or by lowering ratio of silver to gold.

It would stimulate international stabilization by permitting nations to deposit silver as well as gold in a world bank.

More nations could themselves be producers of standard money, thus bolstering their stability.

Well, at least Bryan never lived to see the day when his monetary views were advanced as the most conservative having a chance of attainment.

WHERE OUR MONEY GOES

Charles E. Wilson, executive vice-chairman of the WPB, says that next year the United States will have to produce 80 billion dollars worth of armament to meet its war requirements. This year we expect to turn out around 65 billion dollars worth.

Counting so fast that one's tongue twisted around itself, from morning to night, every day in the year, it would require 400 years to count by ones to 80 billion. But perhaps there is a better way to visualize the enormity of what, in a single year, we must create for the destructive purposes of war.

All real estate—land and buildings—and corporate franchises in New York City are valued at only 16 billion dollars. So the armament, munitions and war supplies to be produced next year can be visualized physically as equivalent to more than four New York cities, complete from the subsoil up—all five boroughs.

SPURS THAT JANGLE

The dress uniform of the mechanized cavalry includes regulation spurs. With which to cause the tanks and jeeps to gallop, perhaps?

In view of the shortages of both metal and manpower, is it necessary that our mechanosoldiers wear spurs? Or, for that matter, that they have dress uniforms at all, in view of the shortages of much in the way of clothing?

The effect of these new combinations is described as "most compelling"—an expression that signifies coercion. Such are fashion's autumnal "discoveries," which sound to old timers as if Theda Bara were coming back from the age of the silent movies.

Jimmie Fidler
IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—The other night, in our neighborhood theater, I saw one of the many recently-made movies glorifying the people of a fallen European country for their heroic resistance to the extortions and tyrannies of the Nazis conqueror.

Next morning, in the trade papers, I read new instalments of a new story baring Hollywood's weak-kneed submission to Willie Bioff and other ex-gangsters who seized control of a labor union and forced the motion picture industry to pay tribute.

What a contrast between the two!

I can understand the motives that prompted film moguls to hand over hundreds of thousands of dollars to racketeers, rather than to face threatened strikes. The movie leaders were impelled by terror and the instinctive desire to protect their own selfish interests—in short, by exactly the same considerations that influenced many Europeans to deliver themselves, as chattels, to Hitler's gangsters. They too, were lacking in the moral courage to meed an issue—and their weakness is to be pitied rather than blamed.

By now, the movie moguls, as they see justice being handed out to the men they tried to placate, must realize the folly of their own surrender. If they have any lingering doubts, they should make it a point to see their own pictures—"The Moon Is Down," "This Land Is Ours," "North Star," etc.—which preach not only the heroism, but the wisdom, of bidding defiance to tyranny. It's too late for them to be heroes, but they still have a chance to be something almost as good—wise men.

Only a few hours getting a Nevada divorce, Joan Marsh rushed to the altar and acquired a new husband. Veronica Lake—who no longer than three months ago was protesting her devotion to Major John Detlie is now rumored to be romancing with another swain while attorneys handle her forthcoming divorce trial. Two weeks after newspapers announced that he and Deanna Durbin were calling their marriage off, Lieutenant Vaughn Paul—anything but heart broken—was nightclubbing with Judy Garland. It's an old Hollywood story, and it always makes me wonder what holds Filmville marriages together—love or a paper clip?

Speaking of matrimony, Dame Rumor whispers that Jane Withers and Corporal A. C. Lyles are plotting marriage. If the report proves true, I shall wish them happiness in a cup of champagne, considerably diluted by my tears. The tears will be generated as I think of Mama Withers, who, these past ten years, has devoted every waking thought to the management of Jane's screen career. More than any other woman I've ever known, she has submerged her whole existence in that of her child— and she may well be excused a few rueful reflections as she watches her one chick spread wings and fly off to her own nest.

Being incurably addicted to ironies, I call your attention to the case of Ann Jeffreys, who last year inked a contract with Republic. Miss Jeffreys, born with the gift of song, had improved on Nature's bounty by years of hard study. Her one interest in Hollywood was musical pictures. But Republic overlooked her in casting its musicals and gave her, much against her will, the feminine lead in a series of ride-'em-cowboy melodramas. Within the year, she has become the No. 1 western heroine of the screen—the favorite foil of strong, silent gents who like to say: "Thar, thar, little gal, don't cry—I'll shoot the low life squar' 'atween the eyes." Last week, Taylor county, Texas, made her an honorary sheriff and presented her with a silver badge and a gun. But Miss Jeffreys still detests westerns. She'd gladly trade that gun and badge for a chance to sing.

Jinx Falkenburg, just back from a seven-day tour of Mexico as guest of that government, tells me she participated in a tennis tournament; made a speech on Mexican-American Amity at a banquet; was guest of honor at a bull fight, the Opera, a luncheon for Walt Disney and a parade hightlighting Mexico's National Motion Picture week; laid the cornerstone for a bank building; went through an athletic routine for a newsreel; and worked for two days in a Columbia short subject." Did you have a good time?" I asked her. "Well," said the effervescent Miss Falkenburg. "It wasn't exciting, but I had a good rest." From now on, I'm going to avoid Jinx—she makes me feel too old!

Limiting comment to the simple statement that "it happened in Hollywood," I want to tell you about the experience of ventriloquist Bob Evans. Several motion picture talent scouts had turned in good reports on his act; finally, a certain producer summoned him for an interview and audition. Nothing happened, but some weeks later, Evans heard the producers criticism, to wit: "Evans is terrific, but his dummy left me cold. It lacks personality!"

BY HENRY McLEMORE

CAMP BLANDING, Fla.—One thing you can be sure of—Noah Webster never was in the army. All the proof you need of this is to be found in Noah's best-selling little book, the dictionary. Get yourself a copy and turn to his definition of the word "private." Noah has this as the meaning of the word: Peculiar to one's self, personal, alone, secret, not public, secluded.

If Noah had served in the army as a private, even for as short a time as fifteen minutes, he never would have come up with such a definition of the word private as that. Privates in the army should really be called publics. The proverbial goldfish lives the life of a hermit compared to us. We are on display in one form or another most of the time, and when peace comes I plan to turn bear for a year or two in order to enjoy the hibernation period. What a pleasure it would be to be accepted by a community of earnest, sympathetic bears, and when winter comes along, retreat to a dark cave, hang out a "Do Not Disturb" sign, and stay there for a long spell.

It is beyond me why officers and non-coms are so interested in the private life of a private soldier. You would think that with some 6,000,000 of us scattered all over the world, that those who have us in charge would become bored with us, want to keep us out of sight and out of mind as much as possible. But no, there must be something eternally fascinating about us. We must have an indefinable lure—like Mona Lisa's smile, say—because when our keepers can spare a moment they vote it to us.

This is flattering in a way, I suppose, but sometimes we feel that if we are scrutinized much more we will begin to take on the mannerisms of animals in a zoo, and start pacing back and forth like tigers, or rocking on our legs like elephants, or swinging gaily through the air after the manner of monkeys.

Let us examine the life of a private and see how private it is. He lives in a hutment with 19 other privates. That's where Noah Webster got the "alone," and "secluded," angle, I suppose. After all, it is more secluded than if there were fifty to a hutment.

He sleeps in either the lower or upper half of a double bunk. These double deck army bunks are worth a word or two of description. No one has ever definitely decided which is the better for sleeping—the upper or the lower. If you sleep in the upper, you spend a great deal of time swaying, because with each movement of the man in the lower bunk the high altitude perch rolls like a destroyer. Too, no matter how sleepy a man is when he starts ascending to an upper bunk, by the time he does the aerial maneuvers necessary to reach his mattress, he is as wide awake as a steeplejack.

If you sleep in the lower bunk (I have tried both, so I am not giving you any second-hand information) there is no use getting to sleep before the man in the upper bunk turns in. The unwritten procedure for getting in an upper requires that the occupant start his climb by placing his right foot on the neck of his bunk mate in a military manner and using the spring in the neck muscles to provide him his first upward boost. My neck has been stepped on so often that it now looks like the entrance to Grauman's Chinese theater in Hollywood where the movie stars preserve their footprints in cement for posterity.

Another attractive feature of having a lower berth is that the springs of the upper berth are directly over your head. Army bunk springs broadcast on all frequencies, all night. The slightest movement will cause them to (1) groan like a distressed water buffalo, or (2) scream like a demon with his ears caught in a wringing machine, or (3) whine and rattle as if they had been suffering from bronchitis for fifteen years, or (4) screech like a jilted owl.

Further bits of the "privacy" of a private: He stands formation with hundreds of other recluses three times a day. He marches with these same hundreds to chow. He shoves and battles with them for a seat in the company day room, the recreation halls, and for mirrors in the shaving salon.

No, no, Noah Webster. You don't know the meaning of the word "private."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 7

Texts: Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26, 38-45.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Few lessons could offer more occasion for reflection, controversy, and effort toward interpretation than a lesson on the sacredness of human life at a time when humanity is being decimated by a terrible war. The cynic might scoff at the anomaly of being concerned with such a theme when by the millions men—and women—are arrayed to destroy one another.

But the thoughtful student of the Scriptures will realize that it is precisely because the world is at war that it is so important to consider the sacredness of human life. This war has been brought on by those who scorned the teaching of the Bible, and who were willing to kill, and maim, and perpetrate all manner of fiendish cruelties, in the hope of grabbing something for themselves in the manner of any criminal bandit.

If the professions of our country and its brave and self-sacrificing service men are to be taken at their full worth, the war is being waged with the purpose of stopping barbarism. It is because they believe that human life is sacred that they wish to stop murder. If the protection of human life and the establishment of peace among men is not our goal and purpose, we are as guilty as the makers of war.

Two errors are possible in relation to the texts of our lesson. We can interpret them with too great literalism; or we can explain away their meaning until they have no meaning at all.

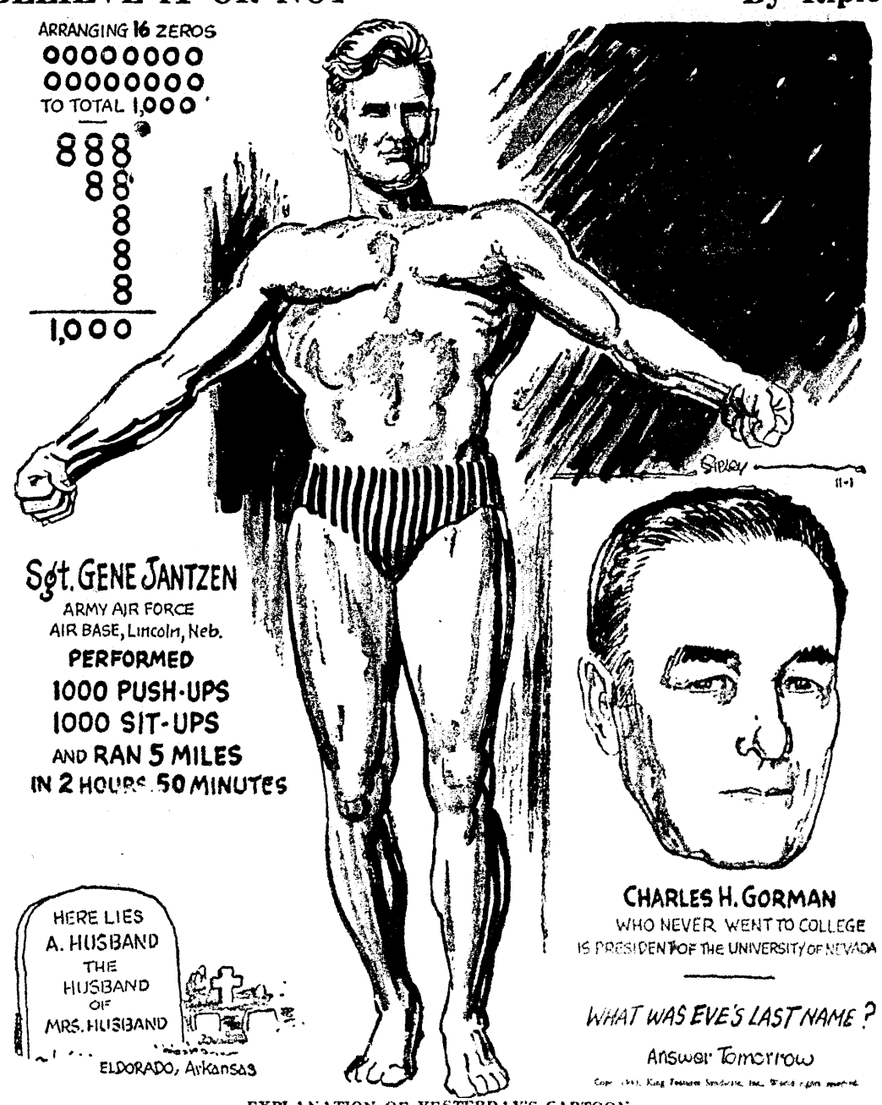

There is an interesting and important book by Professor Douglas (a California but not Lloyd Douglas, the famous novelist), entitled "Overstatement in the New Testament," in which he points out that one method of Jesus was to make His teaching impressive by extreme and striking aphorisms. It was a common method in the East, not always appreciated by prosy and literalistic westerners. Yet its limitations are, or should be, obvious.

It ought to be clear that, if with exact literalness, we interpreted the injunction to give to everyone that asketh of us, we should very soon end by having nothing to give, and that too literally to turn the cheek to everyone who might like to take a poke at us would mean that we should soon have no cheek to turn.

Does this keen teaching of Jesus, then, mean nothing? By no means. Here are laid down great commanding principles and truths concerning human attitudes. A generous attitude invites generosity. By showing a better attitude than those who wrong or assail us, we achieve a real triumph for something higher and better. There will never be any moral gain where men render hate for hate; but where love triumphs over hate the gain is real.

What is necessary is, not to nullify the teachings of Jesus, but to interpret and practice them with common sense.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SHIP THAT TORPEDOED ITSELF—The giant French destroyer "Maille Breze" torpedoed itself While lying off Glasgow in April, 1940, by some incredible accident, one of its torpedo tubes was discharged and the torpedo fell on deck of the 2,440-ton destroyer. The torpedo slithered along the main deck and exploded against the foc'sle and bridge structure. The ship blew up and sank. Of the 220 men aboard, 38 lost their lives.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent

Every so often, it is fun to sit back and gasp, gag or giggle at the amazing variety of stuff that comes out of Washington from Capitol Hill and downtown in the executive agencies. To give you an idea, here's a digest of one day's offerings, most of which undoubtedly did not get in the papers because, apparently, there is a war on, a paper shortage, and other things are considered more important.

There is, for instance, the priceless communique from the Fish and Wildlife service that science has at last succeeded in changing the habits of the salmon. Thirty-five thousand of them, it seems, have been taught to go lay their eggs somewhere else. Beginning in 1939, the salmon were trapped below Grand Coulee, transported in refrigerated tank trucks to other tributaries of the Columbia, and politely asked to spawn there hereafter. The salmon are smarter than you think, for by golly, they caught on. This year, when the 4-year-old fry came back to lay their first eggs, instead of heading for the ancestral maternity wards above Grand Coulee, they went to the tributaries whither their mammy salmon had been transported by man for lying-in, and where these fry had been hatched. So successful has the experiment been that next year all the salmon wanting to go above Grand Coulee will be migrated to other spawning grounds, to change their homing instincts. The same thing will be done below Shasta dam, on the Sacramento in California. All of which proves that man is smarter than fish, or is he?

Dates To Remember

Then there is the "Calendar of Significant Events" for the period Nov. 1-15, issued by the overseas branch of OWI. This is a 40-page affair which you open with that trembly, what's-goin'-to-happen-next feeling, to read:

Nov. 1, 1500—Birth of Benvenuto Ceilini.

Nov. 3, 1852—Birth of Emperor Meiji (Mutsuhito) of Japan.

Nov. 3, 1879—Birth of Vilhjalmur Stefansson.

Nov. 3, 1918—German fleet mutinied at Kiel.

Nov. 4, 1847—Death of Felix Mendelssohn.

OWI isn't the only one to have a monopoly on this hot stuff. The Weather bureau breaks out with information that it is celebrating the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the principle of atmospheric pressure by Evangelista Torricelli, Italian mathematician.

Everybody, in fact, seems to want to celebrate a birthday, the War Shipping administration icing a two-candle handout over the launching of the first Liberty ship, the Patrick Henry, which has logged 62,000 miles and is still afloat in spite of rumors she has been sunk. To celebrate this event, a merchant marine overseas correspondent sent back a story that the skipper had been tossed into the Mediterranean by a heavy wave—small w, of course.

A friend in the marine corps public relations office called up, 28 pounds lighter and all out of breath, to warn that the marines would be 168 years old come Nov. 10 and what was this department going to do about it. When asked if the age-168 part of it explained why the marines hadn't been heard from since Guadalcanal, the friend didn't seem to like it.

Moose Minded

Fish and Wildlife service rang the bell for a second time by announcing that Alaska had only 14 game wardens and five airplanes for them to use in protecting the 20,000 moose population up there, but that one might search diligently through many thousands of square miles without seeing a single moose.

It remained only for congress to take the prize, as you might expect. There, the Honorable Warren G. Magnuson of Seattle, Wash., made himself a one-minute speech:

"Mr. Speaker, most Virginians and most Americans are under the false impression that George Washington was the first president of the United States, but a Scandinavian was the first president of the United States, John Hanson of Maryland. John Hanson has been sleeping too long in American history, Mr. Speaker, and I am introducing a bill today, or a resolution, calling on the president to proclaim Nov. 15 as John Hanson day."

GRASS FIRE EXTINGUISHED

A grass fire at 300 Smith avenue brought Monroe's fire truck number 3 out to the Morningside addition Friday afternoon at 2:15. It took an hour to put out the blaze, reports from the fire station said.

Alaska is nearer to Norway than it is to Tokyo, Japan.

NEW YORK— Diary: A fine eve of conversation with Authors Fre Kelly and Homer Croy, and Clyde Miller of Columbia unive Croy is at work on a book en "Corn on the Cob," having launched his excellent novel, "C try Cured." . . . Kelly is looking for suitable material for a book thy to follow his recent success, Wright Brothers." . . . When wishes to put an antic dispositio he pretends to be very red in opinions, sympathizing with ev thing Communism has to offer. Naturally, this enrages me, and others have fun watching us a On this occasion the session lasted til after midnight, having begu six in a little French restaura the Forties.

I am concerned about Mary Ma legs. Mary is about the most po young person on the Broadway just now. I have watched her she sings, and it's then I bega worry. She keeps time to the mus flexing and unflexing her right resting most of her weight upo left.

Now here's my problem: I wor the right leg become disproportio ly big and muscular, while the practically wastes away. If you one arm continually waving abo the air and held the other clo your side, hand in pocket, you'd s develop one arm more than the

In my highest reaches of co about Mary Martin's legs, I pi her going around in circles whe tries to walk in a straight line to the extra weight and streng the right leg.

But we were speaking of Fred a little way back, and I didn't what I had to say about him be of this persistant matter of M legs.

Fred told me last night that book changed the course of his In school, he read "Bill Nye's marks." Bill Nye was the po humorist of that day, and the co was in stitches about him.

Fred was impressed. He wrot essay, Nye style, for English Teacher and pupils laughed. H it, as our commander-in-chief w express it, agayne and agayne agayne. Always laughs. Fred de to become a writer and make world laugh. He has turned to se writing in later years, but still knowledges his debt to Nye.

So we argued about whether is funny when read today. I that he is not, that his humor is ns definitely as that of the later Rogers. Will wrote upon topics o day, topics which now are la forgotten. Nye wrote more along eral lines of social satire, bu things he laughed at have ceas exist.

On the other hand, Kin Hub and James Whitcomb Riley w mostly about the human being weaknesses and strength. You still salvage many laughs out of Hubbard's stuff, and both smiles tears out of Riley.

And all of this reminds me tha latest jokes from the world's b assembly lines have lately bee sentined in a book called "W Book of Best Jokes" the "ed credited to Eddie Cantor. There thousands of jokes, but perhaps one will do. "How did you ever to kiss like that?" "Well, I use re a vacuum cleaner salesman."

Yes, that will be enough, for present.

World Health

Feeding of the undernourished peoples in the aftermath of the war is already taking shape as a problem for concerted effort. Its immediacy is great, but only secondary to it are the cure and eradication of diseases certain to be brought home to belligerent nations by returning troops from all parts of the world.

Although there has been little public discussion along this line, it cannot fail to be in the thoughts of leaders in the scientific world. And when the time does come at the close of hostilities to set up an international organization whose prime objective will be to prevent the recurrence of future conflicts, of almost equal importance to it will be the conservation of the health of the peoples of the world.

It seems the very height of paradox for an era that has produced two world wars, the second of which is the greatest the world has ever experienced, to be the one in which the care of public health has achieved the stature of a science. As such it is capable of being the instrument by which the physical status of 1,600,000,000 human beings may be measurably enhanced.

So backward are many peoples that this desired end can never be attained on a hit or miss basis. In the new world setup there must be an international organization with far-flung outposts prepared to combat pestilence and wielding a powerful influence to improve the living standards of the human race.

Despite the colossal flop that was the League of Nations, it is a memorable fact that its welfare agencies were active almost to the end, and that the fight it waged on the opium habit alone meant redemption to tens of thousands.

Typhus fever, cause of the greatest number of deaths from disease in all the wars of history, has all but been eliminated among the American forces, there having been but two or three cases in an army of 6,000,000 men. The war on malaria and venereal disease is being won. Scientific discoveries in the field of disease cures and preventives have been enormous in the present conflict.

The post-war world will be a much smaller world, thanks to the great role to be played by airplane travel. A corollary of that, of course, is the danger of importing disease from one quarter of the globe to another, almost before it is recognizable. Here, too, an international health organization could wield a powerful minatory influence, holding up local officials to the most rigid watchfulness.

BIMETALLISM

Disclosing that he is alert to the post-war interests of his industry, Francis H. Brownell, chairman of the American Smelting and Refining company, proposes the adoption of international bimetallism—the linking of silver with gold on a world scale.

Bimetallism has long been regarded by orthodox financiers and economists as weakening to the monetary structure. Brownell argues it will strengthen money after the war by tying all countries to hard money. Otherwise, he warns, paper money inflation will sweep many lands.

This is the first time Bryan's monetary theories have been advanced as a safeguard for fundamental currency values. But here are Brownell's arguments for bimetallism:

Volume of standard money would be increased to meet the larger needs of the post-war period.

Yearly addition to standard money, formerly only 40,000,000 ounces of gold, would be expanded by 250,000,000 ounces of silver. This could be further expanded by drawing upon the arts for more silver.

Nations would be able to restore coinage of standard money on a large scale.

Money volume could be regulated through the mining of the precious metals or by lowering ratio of silver to gold.

It would stimulate international stabilization by permitting nations to deposit silver as well as gold in a world bank.

More nations could themselves be producers of standard money, thus bolstering their stability.

Well, at least Bryan never lived to see the day when his monetary views were advanced as the most conservative having a chance of attainment.

WHERE OUR MONEY GOES

Charles E. Wilson, executive vice-chairman of the WPB, says that next year the United States will have to produce 80 billion dollars worth of armament to meet its war requirements. This year we expect to turn out around 65 billion dollars worth.

Counting so fast that one's tongue twisted around itself, from morning to night, every day in the year, it would require 400 years to count by ones to 80 billion. But perhaps there is a better way to visualize the enormity of what, in a single year, we must create for the destructive purposes of war.

All real estate—land and buildings—and corporate franchises in New York City are valued at only 16 billion dollars. So the armament, munitions and war supplies to be produced next year can be visualized physically as equivalent to more than four New York cities, complete from the subsoil up—all five boroughs.

SPURS THAT JANGLE

The dress uniform of the mechanized cavalry includes regulation spurs. With which to cause the tanks and jeeps to gallop, perhaps?

In view of the shortages of both metal and manpower, is it necessary that our mechanosoldiers wear spurs? Or, for that matter, that they have dress uniforms at all, in view of the shortages of much in the way of clothing?

The effect of these new combinations is described as "most compelling"—an expression that signifies coercion. Such are fashion's autumnal "discoveries," which sound to old timers as if Theda Bara were coming back from the age of the silent movies.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—The other night, in our neighborhood theater, I saw one of the many recently-made movies glorifying the people of a fallen European country for their heroic resistance to the extortions and tyranies of the Nazis conqueror.

Next morning, in the trade papers, I read new instalments of a new story baring Hollywood's weak-kneed submission to Willie Bioff and other ex-gangsters who seized control of a labor union and forced the motion picture industry to pay tribute.

What a contrast between the two!

I can understand the motives that prompted film moguls to hand over hundreds of thousands of dollars to racketeers, rather than to face threatened strikes. The movie leaders were impelled by terror and the instinctive desire to protect their own selfish interests—in short, by exactly the same considerations that influenced many Europeans to deliver themselves, as chattels, to Hitler's gangsters. They too, were lacking in the moral courage to meed an issue—and their weakness is to be pitied rather than blamed.

By now, the movie moguls, as they see justice being handed out to the men they tried to placate, must realize the folly of their own surrender. If they have any lingering doubts, they should make it a point to see their own pictures—"The Moon Is Down," "This Land Is Ours," "North Star," etc.—which preach not only the heroism, but the wisdom, of bidding defiance to tyranny. It's too late for them to be heroes, but they still have a chance to be something almost as good—wise men.

Only a few hours getting a Nevada divorce, Joan Marsh rushed to the altar and acquired a new husband. Veronica Lake—who no longer than three months ago was protesting her devotion to Major John Detlie is now rumored to be romancing with another swain while attorneys handle her forthcoming divorce trial. Two weeks after newspapers announced that he and Deanna Durbin were calling their marriage off, Lieutenant Vaughn Paul—anything but heart broken—was nightclubbing with Judy Garland. It's an old Hollywood story, and it always makes me wonder what holds Filmville marriages together—love or a paper clip?

Speaking of matrimony, Dame Rumor whispers that Jane Withers and Corporal A. C. Lyles are plotting marriage. If the report proves true, I shall wish them happiness in a cup of champagne, considerably diluted by my tears. The tears will be generated as I think of Mama Withers, who, these past ten years, has devoted every waking thought to the management of Jane's screen career. More than any other woman I've ever known, she has submerged her whole existence in that of her child— and she may well be excused a few rueful reflections as she watches her one chick spread wings and fly off to her own nest.

Being incurably addicted to ironies, I call your attention to the case of Ann Jeffreys, who last year inked a contract with Republic. Miss Jeffreys, born with the gift of song, had improved on Nature's bounty by years of hard study. Her one interest in Hollywood was musical pictures. But Republic overlooked her in casting its musicals and gave her, much against her will, the feminine lead in a series of ride-'em-cowboy melodramas. Within the year, she has become the No. 1 western heroine of the screen—the favorite foil of strong, silent gents who like to say: "Thar, thar, little gal, don't cry—I'll shoot the low life squar' 'atween the eyes." Last week, Taylor county, Texas, made her an honorary sheriff and presented her with a silver badge and a gun. But Miss Jeffreys still detests westerns. She'd gladly trade that gun and badge for a chance to sing.

Jinx Falkenburg, just back from a seven-day tour of Mexico as guest of that government, tells me she participated in a tennis tournament; made a speech on Mexican-American Amity at a banquet; was guest of honor at a bull fight, the Opera, a luncheon for Walt Disney and a parade hightlighting Mexico's National Motion Picture week; laid the cornerstone for a bank building; went through an athletic routine for a newsreel; and worked for two days in a Columbia short subject." Did you have a good time?" I asked her. "Well," said the effervescent Miss Falkenburg, "It wasn't exciting, but I had a good rest." From now on, I'm going to avoid Jinx—she makes me feel too old!

Limiting comment to the simple statement that "it happened in Hollywood," I want to tell you about the experience of ventriloquist Bob Evans. Several motion picture talent scouts had turned in good reports on his act; finally, a certain producer summoned him for an interview and audition. Nothing happened, but some weeks later, Evans heard the producers criticism, to wit: "Evans is terrific, but his dummy left me cold. It lacks personality"

BY HENRY McLEMORE

CAMP BLANDING, Fla.—One thing you can be sure of—Noah Webster never was in the army. All the proof you need of this is to be found in Noah's best-selling little book, the dictionary. Get yourself a copy and turn to his definition of the word "private." Noah has this as the meaning of the word: Peculiar to one's self, personal, alone, secret, not public, secluded.

If Noah had served in the army as a private, even for as short a time as fifteen minutes, he never would have come up with such a definition of the word private as that. Privates in the army should really be called publics. The proverbial goldfish lives the life of a hermit compared to us. We are on display in one form or another most of the time, and when peace comes I plan to turn beer for a year or two in order to enjoy the hibernation period. What a pleasure it would be to be accepted by a community of earnest, sympathetic bears, and when winter comes along, retreat to a dark cave, hang out a "Do Not Disturb" sign, and stay there for a long spell.

It is beyond me why officers and non-coms are so interested in the private life of a private soldier. You would think that with some 6,000,000 of us scattered all over the world, that those who have us in charge would become bored with us, want to keep us out of sight and out of mind as much as possible. But no, there must be something eternally fascinating about us. We must have an indefinable lure—like Mona Lisa's smile, say—because when our keepers can spare a moment they vote it to us.

This is flattering in a way, I suppose, but sometimes we feel that if we are scrutinized much more we will begin to take on the mannerisms of animals in a zoo, and start pacing back and forth like tigers, or rocking on our legs like elephants, or swinging gaily through the air after the manner of monkeys.

Let us examine the life of a private and see how private it is. He lives in a hutment with 19 other privates. That's where Noah Webster got the "alone," and "secluded," angle, I suppose. After all, it is more secluded than if there were fifty to a hutment.

He sleeps in either the lower or upper half of a double bunk. These double deck army bunks are worth a word or two of description. No one has ever definitely decided which is the better for sleeping—the upper or the lower. If you sleep in the upper, you spend a great deal of time swaying, because with each movement of the man in the lower bunk the high altitude perch rolls like a destroyer. Too, no matter how sleepy a man is when he starts ascending to an upper bunk, by the time he does the aerial maneuvers necessary to reach his mattress, he is as wide awake as a steeplejack.

If you sleep in the lower bunk (I have tried both, so I am not giving you any second-hand information) there is no use getting to sleep before the man in the upper bunk turns in. The unwritten procedure for getting in an upper requires that the occupant start his climb by placing his right foot on the neck of his bunk mate in a military manner and using the spring in the neck muscles to provide him his first upward boost. My neck has been stepped on so often that it now looks like the entrance to Grauman's Chinese theater in Hollywood where the movie stars preserve their footprints in cement for posterity.

Another attractive feature of having a lower berth is that the springs of the upper berth are directly over your head. Army bunk springs broadcast on all frequencies, all night. The slightest movement will cause them to (1) groan like a distressed water buffalo, or (2) scream like a demon with his ears caught in a wringing machine, or (3) whine and rattle as if they had been suffering from bronchitis for fifteen years, or (4) screech like a jilted owl.

Further bits of the "privacy" of a private: He stands formation with hundreds of other recluses three times a day. He marches with these same hundreds to chow. He shoves and battles with them for a seat in the company day room, the recreation halls, and for mirrors in the shaving salon.

No, no, Noah Webster. You don't know the meaning of the word "private."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 7

Texts: Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26, 38-45.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Few lessons could offer more occasion for reflection, controversy, and effort toward interpretation than a lesson on the sacredness of human life at a time when humanity is being decimated by a terrible war. The cynic might scoff at the anomaly of being concerned with such a theme when by the millions men—and women—are arrayed to destroy one another.

But the thoughtful student of the Scriptures will realize that it is precisely because the world is at war that it is so important to consider the sacredness of human life. This war has been brought on by those who scorned the teaching of the Bible, and who were willing to kill, and maim, and perpetrate all manner of fiendish cruelties, in the hope of grabbing something for themselves in the manner of any criminal bandit.

If the professions of our country and its brave and self-sacrificing service men are to be taken at their full worth, the war is being waged with the purpose of stopping barbarism. It is because they believe that human life is sacred that they wish to stop murder. If the protection of human life and the establishment of peace among men is not our goal and purpose, we are as guilty as the makers of war.

Two errors are possible in relation to the texts of our lesson. We can interpret them with too great literalism; or we can explain away their meaning until they have no meaning at all.

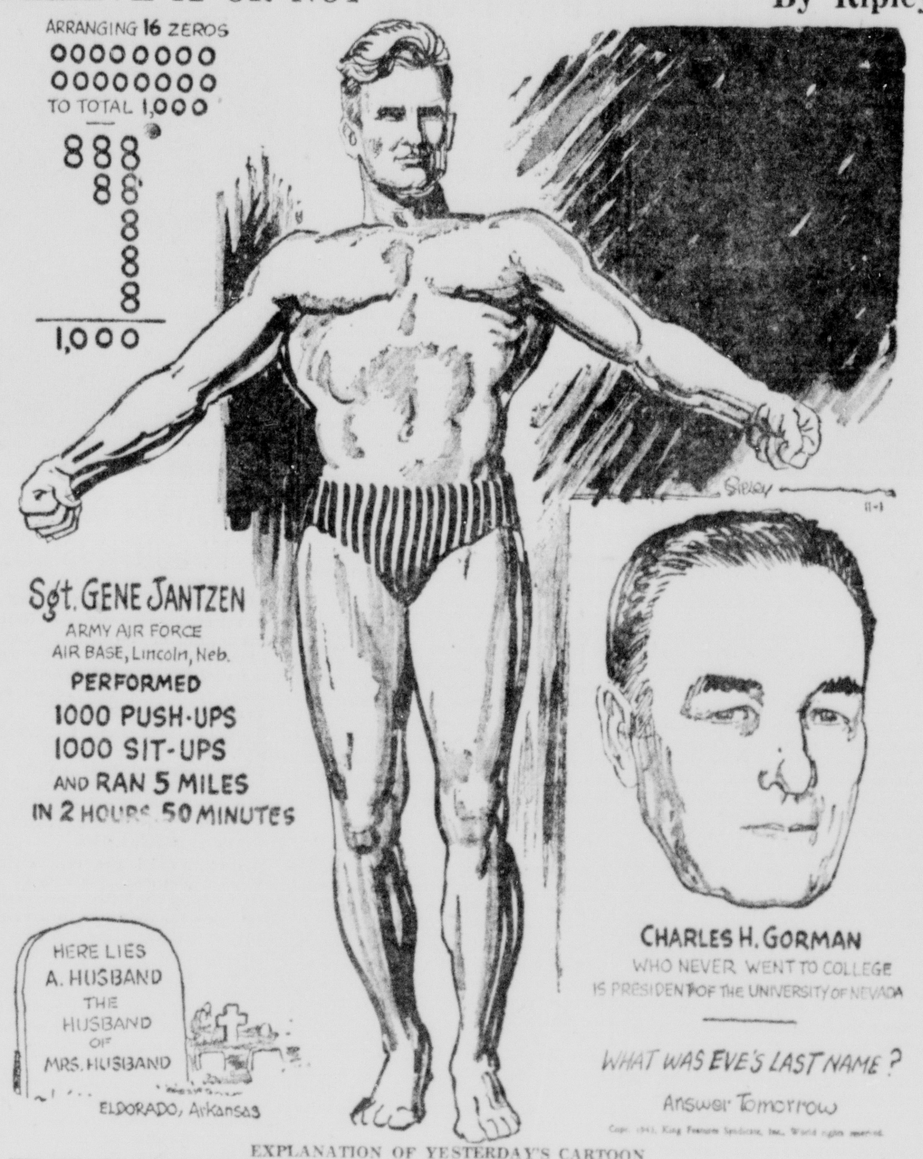

There is an interesting and important book by Professor Douglas (a California but not Lloyd Douglas, the famous novelist), entitled "Overstatement in the New Testament," in which he points out that one method of Jesus was to make His teaching impressive by extreme and striking aphorisms. It was a common method in the East, not always appreciated by prosy and literalistic westerners. Yet its limitations are, or should be, obvious.

It ought to be clear that, if with exact literalness, we interpreted the injunction to give to everyone that asketh of us, we should very soon end by having nothing to give, and that too literally to turn the cheek to everyone who might like to take a poke at us would mean that we should soon have no cheek to turn.

Does this keen teaching of Jesus, then, mean nothing? By no means. Here are laid down great commanding principles and truths concerning human attitudes. A generous attitude invites generosity. By showing a better attitude than those who wrong or assail us, we achieve a real triumph for something higher and better. There will never be any moral gain where men render hate for hate; but where love triumphs over hate the gain is real.

What is necessary is, not to nullify the teachings of Jesus, but to interpret and practice them with common sense.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SHIP THAT TORPEDOED ITSELF—The giant French destroyer "Maille Breze" torpedoed itself. While lying off Glasgow in April, 1940, by some incredible accident, one of its torpedo tubes was discharged and the torpedo fell on deck of the 2,440-ton destroyer. The torpedo slithered along the main deck and exploded against the foc'sle and bridge structure. The ship blew up and sank. Of the 220 men aboard, 38 lost their lives.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent

Every so often, it is fun to sit back and gasp, gag or giggle at the amazing variety of stuff that comes out of Washington from Capitol Hill and downtown in the executive agencies. To give you an idea, here's a digest of one day's offerings, most of which undoubtedly did not get in the papers because, apparently, there is a war on, a paper shortage, and other things are considered more important.

There is, for instance, the priceless communique from the Fish and Wildlife service that science has at last succeeded in changing the habits of the salmon. Thirty-five thousand of them, it seems, have been taught to go lay their eggs somewhere else. Beginning in 1939, the salmon were trapped below Grand Coulee, transported in refrigerated tank trucks to other tributaries of the Columbia, and politely asked to spawn there hereafter. The salmon are smarter than you think, for by golly, they caught on. This year, when the 4-year-old fry came back to lay their first eggs, instead of heading for the ancestral maternity wards above Grand Coulee, they went to the tributaries whither their mammy salmon had been transported by man for lying-in, and where these fry had been hatched. So successful has the experiment been that next year all the salmon wanting to go above Grand Coulee will be migrated to other spawning grounds, to change their homing instincts. The same thing will be done below Shasta dam, on the Sacramento in California. All of which proves that man is smarter than fish, or is he?

Dates To Remember

Then there is the "Calendar of Significant Events" for the period Nov. 1-15, issued by the overseas branch of OWI. This is a 40-page affair which you open with that trembly, what's-goin'-to-happen-next feeling, to read:

Nov. 1, 1500—Birth of Benvenuto Cellini.

Nov. 3, 1852—Birth of Emperor Meiji (Mutsuhito) of Japan.

Nov. 3, 1879—Birth of Vilhjalmur Stefansson.

Nov. 3, 1918—German fleet mutinied at Kiel.

Nov. 4, 1847—Death of Felix Mendelssohn.

OWI isn't the only one to have a monopoly on this hot stuff. The Weather bureau breaks out with information that it is celebrating the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the principle of atmospheric pressure by Evangelista Torricelli, Italian mathematician.

Everybody, in fact, seems to want to celebrate a birthday, the War Shipping administration icing a two-candle handout over the launching of the first Liberty ship, the Patrick Henry, which has logged 62,000 miles and is still afloat in spite of rumors she has been sunk. To celebrate this event, a merchant marine overseas correspondent sent back a story that the skipper had been tossed into the Mediterranean by a heavy wave—small w, of course.

A friend in the marine corps public relations office called up, 28 pounds lighter and all out of breath, to warn that the marines would be 168 years old come Nov. 10 and what was this department going to do about it. When asked if the age-168 part of it explained why the marines hadn't been heard from since Guadalcanal, the friend didn't seem to like it.

Moose Minded

Fish and Wildlife service rang the bell for a second time by announcing that Alaska had only 14 game wardens and five airplanes for them to use in protecting the 20,000 moose population up there, but that one might search diligently through many thousands of square miles without seeing a single moose.

It remained only for congress to take the prize, as you might expect. There, the Honorable Warren G. Magnuson of Seattle, Wash., made himself a one-minute speech:

"Mr. Speaker, most Virginians and most Americans are under the false impression that George Washington was the first president of the United States; but a Scandinavian was the first president of the United States, John Hanson of Maryland. John Hanson has been sleeping too long in American history, Mr. Speaker, and I am introducing a bill today, or a resolution, calling on the president to proclaim Nov. 15 as John Hanson day."

VERDICT DELAYED IN RHOADES CASES

Decision on the four misdemeanor counts for which Orlin "Speedy" Rhodes went on trial Friday in this district court will be withheld until Rhodes faces trial November 4 on felony charges in the same court. Three of the four counts were tried in Friday's session which lasted until 5:30 in the afternoon. The case on the fourth misdemeanor count was reset for November 26.

Rhoades took the stand to testify that he did not know that the tires he purchased from McClain were stolen, taking exception to his statement made to Sheriff Coverdale in June, when he was said to have stated he had never purchased tires from McClain. Rhodes claimed he had not fully understood the question.

He goes on trial Thursday facing felony charges, although the misdemeanor fourth count trial will not be heard until November 26. Judge Frank W. Hawthorne presided on the bench Friday.

Sixteen witnesses were called on to testify, chief one being J. T. McClain, in prison now on sentences for eight separate charges involving taking castings from W. D. Rose owner of Central Service Station, November 1.

BOYS' CLUB IS CHARACTER AID

Salvation Army's Red Shields Get Assistance From Local Chest

Jacob Riis said many years ago: "Nothing will grow on bare city streets; why expect good character to grow there?" The development of good citizenship can not be left to accident. The sort of character boys achieve is determined in large part by their activities, associates and environment.

The Red Shield club, recently formed in the Twin Cities, is an organization of young boys and girls who need a place to develop into good and useful citizens.

The club, which is located at 510 Harrison street, has grown rapidly in membership and accomplishment under the direction of Captain Houston Ellis.

The games room is the heart of all boys. Here they drop in any or every day in the week, meet with their fellows, and find a variety of games, the test of competitive skill that has attracted people in all generations. It is open to all members and has no schedule of hours. Adjacent to it are the library and reading rooms which appeal to many, particularly those who come from homes where books, magazines and papers are seldom found.

The organization, appealing to masses of boys, not only keeps them out of trouble by providing worthwhile activities, but it also supplies a controlled environment under trained leadership during leisure time which influences behavior and the formation of good character.

The club does not duplicate the work of the other splendid character-building agencies for youth. It is a cooperating agency, specializing in an inadequately served field where the need is obviously great. Proof of this need can be seen clearly by looking at American crime bill which totals annually $15,000,000. Ninety per cent of the criminals come from underprivileged classes. Of this number of young men and women committed to institutions 80 per cent are never released. The annual cost required to keep a boy or girl in an institution is $600. The Red Shield club, through its method, keeps the boy or girl at home, and the cost is far less than that of institutions.

Citizens of Ouachita parish can do no better piece of constructive work than assist the Red Shield club, which is operated by the Salvation Army. To continue its fine program, support must be given the Community Chest fund. Those who have a share in establishing this fund will be repaid many fold.

To provide a place for wholesome living to give an opportunity to enjoy good clean fun, to pave the way for the development of real character, you can't do a better job than sponsor the Red Shield club. This can be accomplished by sharing the Community Chest drive.

Square boys, not square miles make a city.

MORRISON HITS COTTON CEILING

JENA, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—James Morrison, candidate for governor, delivered talks in Winnfield and Jonesboro today. He urged crowds to get out and work in his behalf. Now since Earl Long has withdrawn from the governor's race, that all of Earl's friends could now vote for Morrison, and he said that great numbers of Earl Long men are now out for victory with Morrison.

He explained how he fought on the floor of the house the past week condemning the New York cotton exchange for placing an unwarranted, illegal and arbitrary ceiling price on cotton that will cost cotton buyers, cotton markets and cotton farmers over 50 million dollars.

"What actually happened," stated Morrison, "was when gamblers and speculators on cotton futures misjudged the market and rather than pay their losses, they welched by getting the cotton exchange in New York to fix an arbitrary cotton ceiling. With the use of the exchange, it was one of those 'Heads I win, tails you lose.' Every cotton farmer is disgusted and there is a growing demand that the cotton exchange be abolished."

In the first picture in sailor suit is Seaman First Class Joe Accardo who entered service September 17, 1942, and has been assigned to New Orleans, LaPorte, Tex., and now is back in New Orleans. He was a winner in the golf tournament some months ago. Shown beside him is Sergeant Leonard Accardo who has been in the air corps since November 2, 1942, first in Miami Beach, Fla., then in Kearney, Neb. and now at Scott field, Ill. Private Charles Accardo (lower picture) entered service March 17, 1943. Was assigned to Keesler field, Miss., and later received training in a Virginia army field and later still in Westover field, Mass. All three boys were home recently on short furloughs.

ASSESSOR ASKS RETURN TO POST

Bert Coverdale States Assessment Rate Is Now Reduced

Bert Coverdale assessor of Ouachita parish since January 1, 1941, Saturday formally announced his candidacy for reelection.

In making his announcement, Mr. Coverdale stated that he and his force have at all times tried in every way possible to render efficient service, pointing to the fact that this year he was able to reduce the assessment rate 15 [illegible] and [illegible] obtained an additional 15 per cent reduction on merchandise inventories of merchants and business men.

Much effort is put forward by this office each year in having property owners obtain the benefits of homestead exemption, employing newspapers, radio, telephone and other means of reminding tardy property owners to sign their homestead exemption applications. A total of 9,914 property owners this year are receiving the benefits of homestead exemption and by which they are saving the payment of $107,377.15 in taxes. There are 435 more property owners this year taking advantage of homestead exemptions, and which means a saving to them of $10,416.72 in taxes.

The total 1943 assessed valuation of Ouachita parish amounts to $45,590,-972.00, which is an increase of $42,155.00 in valuation, and on which collectable taxes, after deducting taxes paid by homestead exemption, amounts to $799,217.58.

Mr. Coverdale assures the public that he and his force will continue to strive at all times to better serve everyone, and at the same time improve the methods and manner of handling assessments.

SCHOOL BUS AND AUTOMOBILE CRASH

A school bus and an automobile were badly damaged yesterday afternoon when the two machines crashed at the intersection of Breard and North Sixth streets at 3 o'clock, but occupants of the two vehicles escaped injury, according to Monroe police who investigated the accident.

The bus, driven by D. P. Lenard, route 2, Columbia, and occupied by one other man, W. R. Knighton, Columbia, was traveling south on Sixth when it collided with the automobile reported operated by M. C. Gay, negro, residing on the Joe Carter place at Oak Ridge. The negro was said to have been traveling east on Breard. The bus left the street, the front end jumping a four-foot ditch and coming to a stop on the sidewalk along Breard street while the rear end remained in the street.

While in Monroe he will be entertained with a coffee hour at the Masonic temple from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

This afternoon the worshipful grand master will pay a visit to the Masonic lodge in Winnsboro and many local Masons will go there to attend the meeting scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

The visits to Monroe and Winnsboro are in connection with the official's formal tour of the state.

CHOUDRANT AIRMAN BACK FROM WARFARE IN AFRICA

Describes Raids Over Rome, Naples And In Sicily

CHOUDRANT, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Captain Rex Holstead, who led a flight of A-20s along the northern continent route by Labrador to England in his plane named "Stud," October 3, 1942, has returned to his home here after reporting to General H. H. Arnold in Washington. Captain Holstead, whose plane was the "mother" ship of a group of A-20s arrived in England November 12. From there he went to Africa, landing in Casablanca, November 20.

He was also the flight leader of a group of three B-25s and one P-38 on his return to the states. The crews of these planes were supposed to go on war bond tours, but on their arrival they found everything had been cancelled and therefore the members were able to go to their homes.

Captain Holstead's plane "Stud" was the only plane of the group that went over that has returned. The figure painted on his plane signifies that he was the seventh flight commander of the group and since it has been good luck to him, the captain replied, "No," when asked if it was to be taken off.

All of Captain Holstead's missions are history now and especially those over Bizerte and other coastline cities of North Africa, also two over Rome, three over Naples, and others, but the most important and most successful was the mission for which he was recommended the distinguished flying cross. This was his last mission and was over Salerno. This was when the Fifth army under General Clark was pushed back into a pass and was being strafed by dive bombers.

The dive bombers were also diving in about the formation of planes for which Captain Holstead was flight commander, but the mission was a great success since Bagla-Bagla was virtually wiped out leaving only five buildings standing. All planes returned.

On Captain Holstead's second raid over Rome, when they were coming down the continent, the men were to bomb the railroad marshalling yards. The Italians, however, laid smoke screens and with the wind blowing south the railroads were screened from view. Captain Holstead and his group "planted" the bombs on the railroad yards and also bombed an air field nearby. This raid proved a success although the men could not see their targets.

Another very successful mission was the bombing of a torpedo factory at Naples. Captain Holstead stated that he really got a "kick" out of seeing the factory blow sky high.

In the "Stud," Captain Holstead has been on 48 missions and two others in a different plane. His plane has a few holes in it from the various missions, but he never did have to come in on just one motor. His gunner was on every mission that he was on, and his bombardier had a transport ship to his credit.

Captain Holstead received the purple heart after being wounded during the African campaign. He also was awarded the air medal with seven oak leaf clusters.

Holstead left with the national guard unit on January 12, 1941 for Camp Hulen, Texas. His brother, Roy, was in the same group. On November 5 he entered cadet school in Cal Aero academy, California, graduating May, 1942. From there he went to Columbia, S. C., where he was made instructor pilot. He was there until he was assigned to a new group as flight commander and went across in October 1942.

He is the son of Mrs. Myra Holstead, teacher in Choudrant High school, and is the brother of Roy Holstead who is stationed with the coast artillery in San Diego.

Captain Holstead will be here for 20 days including the time allotted for travel.

VERDICT DELAYED IN RHOADES CASES

Decision on the four misdemeanor counts for which Orlin "Speedy" Rhodes went on trial Friday in this district court will be withheld until Rhodes faces trial November 4 on felony charges in the same court. Three of the four counts were tried in Friday's session which lasted until 5:30 in the afternoon. The case on the fourth misdemeanor count was reset for November 26.

Rhoades took the stand to testify that he did not know that the tires he purchased from McClain were stolen, taking exception to his statement made to Sheriff Coverdale in June, when he was said to have stated he had never purchased tires from McClain. Rhodes claimed he had not fully understood the question.

He goes on trial Thursday facing felony charges, although the misdemeanor fourth count trial will not be heard until November 26. Judge Frank W. Hawthorne presided on the bench Friday.

Sixteen witnesses were called on to testify, chief one being J. T. McClain, in prison now on sentences for eight separate charges involving taking casings from W. D. Ross, owner of Central Service Station November 1.

BOYS' CLUB IS CHARACTER AID

Salvation Army's Red Shields Get Assistance From Local Chest

Jacob Riis said many years ago: "Nothing will grow on bare city streets; why expect good character to grow there?" The development of good citizenship can not be left to accident. The sort of character boys achieve is determined in large part by their activities, associates and environment.

The Red Shield club, recently formed in the Twin Cities, is an organization of young boys and girls who need a place to develop into good and useful citizens.

The club, which is located at 510 Harrison street, has grown rapidly in membership and accomplishment under the direction of Captain Houston Ellis.

The games room is the heart of all boys. Here they drop in any or every day in the week, meet with their fellows, and find a variety of games, the test of competitive skill that has attracted people in all generations. It is open to all members and has no schedule of hours. Adjacent to it are the library and reading rooms which appeal to many, particularly those who come from homes where books, magazines and papers are seldom found.

The organization, appealing to masses of boys, not only keeps them out of trouble by providing worthwhile activities, but it also supplies a controlled environment under trained leadership during leisure time which influences behavior and the formation of good character.

The club does not duplicate the work of the other splendid character-building agencies for youth. It is a cooperating agency, specializing in an inadequately served field where the need is obviously great. Proof of this need can be seen clearly by looking at American crime bill which totals annually $15,000,000. Ninety per cent of the criminals come from underprivileged classes. Of this number of young men and women committed to institutions 80 per cent are never reclaimed. The annual cost required to keep a boy or girl in an institution is $600. The Red Shield club, through its method, keeps the boy or girl at home, and the cost is far less than that of institutions.

Citizens of Ouachita parish can do no better piece of constructive work than assist the Red Shield club, which is operated by the Salvation Army. To continue its fine program, support must be given the Community Chest drive. Those who have a share in establishing this fund will be repaid many fold.

To provide a place for wholesome living, to give an opportunity to enjoy good clean fun, to pave the way for the development of real character, you can't do a better job than sponsor the Red Shield club. This can be accomplished by sharing the Community Chest drive.

Square boys, not square miles make a city.

MORRISON HITS COTTON CEILING

JENA, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Jimmy Morrison, candidate for governor, delivered talks in Winnfield and Jonesboro today. He urged crowds to get out and work in his behalf. Now since Earl Long has withdrawn from the governor's race, that all of Earl's friends could now vote for Morrison, and he said that great numbers of Earl Long men are now out for victory with Morrison.

He explained how he fought on the floor of the house the past week condemning the New York cotton exchange for placing an unwarranted, illegal and arbitrary ceiling price on cotton that will cost cotton buyers, cotton markets and cotton farmers over 50 million dollars.

"What actually happened," stated Morrison, "was when gamblers and speculators on cotton futures misjudged the market and rather than pay their losses, they welched by getting the cotton exchange in New York to fix an arbitrary cotton ceiling. With the air of the exchange, it was one of those 'Heads I win, tails you lose.' Every cotton farmer is disgusted and there is a growing demand that the cotton exchange be abolished."

TRIO IN SERVICE

Shown above are the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Accardo, 503 South First street, Monroe. In the first picture in sailor suit is Seaman First Class Joe Accardo who entered service September 17, 1942, and has been assigned to New Orleans, LaPorte, Tex., and now is back in New Orleans. He was a winner in the golf tournament some months ago. Shown beside him is Sergeant Leonard Accardo who has been in the air corps since November 2, 1942, first in Miami Beach, Fla., then in Kearney, Neb., and now at Scott field, Ill. Private Charles Accardo (lower picture) entered service March 17, 1943. Was assigned to Keesler field, Miss., and later received training in a Virginia army field and later still in Westover field, Mass. All three boys were home recently on short furloughs.

ASSESSOR ASKS RETURN TO POST

Bert Coverdale States Assessment Rate Is Now Reduced

Bert Coverdale, assessor of Ouachita parish since January 1, 1941, Saturday formally announced his candidacy for reelection.

In making his announcement, Mr. Coverdale stated that he and his force have at all times tried in every way possible to render efficient service, pointing to the fact that this year he was able to reduce the assessment rate .15 of a mill, in addition to having obtained an additional 15 per cent reduction on merchandise inventories of merchants and business men.

Much effort is put forward by this office each year in having property owners obtain the benefits of homestead exemption, employing newspapers, radio, telephone and other means of reminding tardy property owners to sign their homestead exemption applications. A total of 5,914 property owners this year are receiving the benefits of homestead exemption and by which they are saving the payment of $107,377.13 in taxes. There are 438 more property owners this year taking advantage of homestead exemptions, and which means a saving to them of $10,416.52 in taxes.

The total 1943 assessed valuation of Ouachita parish amounts to $45,590,-972.00, which is an increase of $42,155.00 in valuation, and on which collectable taxes, after deducting taxes paid by homestead exemption, amounts to $199,217.58.

Mr. Coverdale assures the public that he and his force will continue to strive at all times to better serve everyone, and at the same time improve the methods and manner of handling assessments.

SCHOOL BUS AND AUTOMOBILE CRASH

A school bus and an automobile were badly damaged yesterday afternoon when the two machines crashed at the intersection of Breard and North Sixth streets at 3 o'clock, but occupants of the two vehicles escaped injury, according to Monroe police who investigated the accident.

The bus, driven by D. P. Lenard, route 2, Columbia, and occupied by one other man, W. R. Knighton, Columbia, was traveling south on Sixth when it collided with the automobile reported operated by M. C. Gay, negro, residing on the Joe Carter place at Oak Ridge. The negro was said to have been traveling east on Breard. The bus left the street, the front end jumping a four-foot ditch and coming to a stop on the sidewalk along Breard street while the rear end remained in the street.

This afternoon the worshipful grand master will pay a visit to the Masonic lodge in Winnsboro and many local Masons will go there to attend the meeting scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

The visits to Monroe and Winnsboro are in connection with the official's formal tour of the state.

Describes Raids Over Rome, Naples And In Sicily

CHOUDRANT, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Captain Rex Holstead, who led a flight of A-20s along the northern continent route by Labrador to England in his plane named "Stud," October 3, 1942, has returned to his home here after reporting to General H. H. Arnold in Washington. Captain Holstead, whose plane was the "mother" ship of a group of A-20s arrived in England November 12. From there he went to Africa, landing in Casablanca, November 20.

He was also the flight leader of a group of three B-25s and one P-38 on his return to the states. The crews of these planes were supposed to go on war bond tours, but on their arrival they found everything had been cancelled and therefore the members were able to go to their homes.

Captain Holstead's plane "Stud" was the only plane of the group that went over that has returned. The figure painted on his plane signifies that he was the seventh flight commander of the group and since it has been good luck to him, the captain replied, "No," when asked if it was to be taken off.

All of Captain Holstead's missions are history now and especially those over Bizerte and other coastline cities of North Africa; also two over Rome, three over Naples, and others, but the most important and most successful was the mission for which he was recommended the distinguished flying cross. This was his last mission and was over Salerno. This was when the Fifth army under General Clark was pushed back into a pass and was being strafed by dive bombers.

The dive bombers were also diving in about the formation of planes for which Captain Holstead was flight commander, but the mission was a great success since Bagla-Bagla was virtually wiped out leaving only five buildings standing. All planes returned.

On Captain Holstead's second raid over Rome, when they were coming down the continent, the men were to bomb the railroad marshaling yards. The Italians, however, laid smoke screens and with the wind blowing south the railroads were screened from view. Captain Holstead and his group "planted" the bombs on the railroad yards and also bombed an air field nearby. This raid proved a success although the men could not see their targets.

Another very successful mission was the bombing of a torpedo factory at Naples. Captain Holstead stated that he really got a "kick" out of seeing the factory blow sky high.

In the "Stud," Captain Holstead has been on 48 missions and two others in a different plane. His plane has a few holes in it from the various missions, but he never did have to come in on just one motor. His gunner was on every mission that he was on, and his bombardier had a transport ship to his credit.

Captain Holstead received the purple heart after being wounded during the African campaign. He also was awarded the air medal with seven oak leaf clusters.

Holstead left with the national guard unit on January 12, 1941 for Camp Hulen, Texas. His brother, Roy, was in the same group. On November 5 he entered cadet school in Cal Aero academy, California, graduating May, 1942. From there he went to Columbia, S. C., where he was made instructor pilot. He was there until he was assigned to a new group as flight commander and went across in October 1942.

He is the son of Mrs. Myra Holstead, teacher in Choudrant High school, and is the brother of Roy Holstead who is stationed with the coast artillery in San Diego.

Captain Holstead will be here for 20 days including the time allotted for travel.

DR. COHN TO HEAD ALUMNI FEDERATION

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Dr. Isidore Cohn, physician and surgeon of New Orleans, was elected president of the Louisiana State University Alumni federation at the annual business meeting of the organization here this afternoon. He was unopposed, the only other nominee for the post, Ralph Thornton, Alexandria, having withdrawn.

Dr. Cohn was graduated from the university in the class of 1903. He succeeds S. W. Gladden, Baton Rouge, president for the past year.

Named to respective posts of first and second vice-president were Verdie Reece Perkins, Baton Rouge, and Arthur L. O'Quinn, Shreveport.

Five members of the council at large elected are John Doles, Plain Dealing; Julius Dupont, Houma; Al Moreau, Baton Rouge; Fred Haas, Jr., New Orleans, and Dr. Mabel F. Wood, New Orleans.

Lewis Gottlieb, Baton Rouge, was reelected as a representative to the university's athletic council. There are two alumni representatives to the council, one of whom is elected each year.

RED CROSS MOTOR CORPS AT SELMAN

Mrs. Cloma Ray, left, peers under the hood of the staff car assigned to Colonel John W. Egan, commanding officer of Selman field, while on a visit to the motor pool at the field to take the army driver's test. Thomas G. Hardy, center, and Lieutenant Roy R. McCue, both of the motor pool, discuss what they see under the automobile's bonnet. Red Cross Motor corps drivers began driving staff cars this week on a regular schedule at the field.

WOMEN DRIVING OFFICERS' CARS

Red Cross Motor Corps Freeing WAC And Enlisted Drivers

The Red Cross motor corps began driving Selman field staff cars during the week, thereby freeing WAC and enlisted men drivers for other duties, and establishing yet another contribution by the women of the Twin Cities of Selman field.

Thursday morning found five drivers attired in the natty blue uniforms of the motor corps reporting to the branch motor pool in the WAC area at 7:45 o'clock. They were Mrs. N. G. Gaston, of 1220 Fairview avenue; Mrs. Lovett Edwards, of 611 Bres avenue; Mrs. Henry Mayo, of 700 Hudson lane; Mrs. T. J. Sandridge, of 304 K street; and Mrs. L. L. Shlenker, of 504 Hilton street.

These women, who were followed by others on the remaining days of the week, all had passed the army driver's tests, and were the first of many who, it is hoped, will volunteer for motor corps training and permit turning more vehicles over to motor corps personnel for driving.

Mrs. C. C. North, chairman of the Ouachita parish chapter motor corps, has announced that women may volunteer Wednesday afternoons from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at chapter headquarters, 200 South Grand street, telephone 6780.

Wives of Selman field personnel are invited to sign up.

On account of the urgency of the need, drivers will be permitted, once they have passed the army driver's test at Selman field, to begin the first aid and motor mechanics courses leading to full membership in the corps after they have begun work at the field.

Thursday's assignment found all five women driving all day. They worked in cooperation with two enlisted WACs, Corporal Helen Jones, of Gillette, Mont., who is truckmaster, and Private First Class Hazel Sommer, of Maywood, Ill., dispatcher.

The truckmaster's job is to supervise maintenance of the vehicles, checking before and after runs on tires, gas, water, oil, batteries and general behavior of all vehicles in her charge. The dispatcher records requests and checks vehicles in and out.

Mrs. Gaston was the driver of the commanding officer's car, Colonel John W. Egan. Mrs. Edwards drove the conveyance of Major William J. Kaiser, post plans and training officer; Mrs. Mayo that of Major Herbert W. Rogers, the post supply officer; Mrs. Sandridge that of Major Patrick T. McMenimen, post administrative inspector; and Mrs. Shlenker that of Major A. M. Culpepper, post mess supervisor.

Mid-day "mess" was shared with the WACs of the 790th WAC Post Headquarters company, which is commanded by Lieutenant Polly McAllister. An excellent meal was served in the cheery atmosphere of the WAC dining hall.

Lieutenant Colonel Lyman Burbank, the post quartermaster, is the officer under whose supervision the motor corps program is being carried out.

COL. TODD'S BODY WILL LEAVE TODAY

The body of Colonel Edgar R. Todd, commanding officer of the twin engine flying school at Stuttgart, Ark., who died at Selman field here Friday morning, will leave Monroe this evening at 6:10 o'clock over the Missouri Pacific railroad to Jamestown, N. Y., where last rites and burial will take place.

Colonel Todd is survived by his wife and a daughter, Carrol Jane, who are now in Jamestown. Colonel Todd's home was at St. Petersburg, Fla.

He had been commanding officer of the Stuttgart field since its opening in June, 1942. A graduate of the U[niversity] of Florida, he received [his] commission and wings at Kelly [field] in 1928 and had been in continu[ous] service since. He had previously b[een] stationed at Luke field, Hawaii; L[uf]ley field, Va.; Kelly field, Tex.; [and] Barksdale field where in 1940 he [was] in charge of the twin engine sch[ool]

8TH AIR FORCE WIDENS ATTACKS

Sets Record Month By Destroying 600 German Planes

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The United States Eighth air force significantly expanded the scope of its operations in October, making raids from the Atlantic coast to Poland and drawing from the German air force its most overt admission to date of its depletion: failure to send up a single Nazi fighter in two raids on important French targets.

It was a record month for German planes destroyed—more than 600—as well as an American planes lost—174 heavy bombers.

Despite several recent heavy losses, data compiled by the Associated Press from official and other reliable sources indicate that the Eighth air force's bombing campaign, the only American blow against Germany itself so far, is being carried out within the five per cent casualty average considered operationally economical.

Combat losses in about 100 raids made since the start of operations 16 months ago have been about 50 fighters, 20 medium bombers and 730 heavy bombers, representing roughly $200,000,000 worth of equipment and some 6,000 fliers, of whom it is estimated at least half are safe.

The economical five per cent loss rate does not refer to permissible sacrifice against an individual target, since military considerations might warrant the expenditure of a large portion of the task force to wipe out a major objective; the rate refers rather to the level, considering replacement problems, necessary to maintain operations in full gear.

October's record of 600 German planes destroyed and 174 heavy bombers lost in seven raids broke the August record of 541 German craft destroyed and 114 bombers lost.

Spells of bad weather kept the heavy raids down to three less than September's record ten. The medium bombers went out five days as compared with almost daily operations in September. No medium bombers were lost this month.

Fortresses for the first time penetrated beyond Germany to bomb Danzig and Gdynia, Poland, only 250 miles from Russia. Their peak loss for a raid was the 60 shot down from a force of about 200 in the October 14 raid on the ball bearing plant at Schweinfurt.

The Fortresses suffered their lowest proportional casualties to date in a deep-penetration raid in the attack on a Frankfurt propeller factory October 4, when 17 were lost.

The count of plane losses for the whole war as compiled by the authoritative civilian weekly "Aeroplane" stands at 12,159 Allied planes lost as against 18,026 for the Axis, mainly over Europe and excluding Russia and the Orient. The toll in men is put at 48,470 for the Allies and 39,182 for the Axis.

DR. COHN TO HEAD ALUMNI FEDERATION

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Dr. Isidore Cohn, physician and surgeon of New Orleans, was elected president of the Louisiana State University Alumni federation at the annual business meeting of the organization here this afternoon. He was unopposed, the only other nominee for the post, Ralph Thornton, Alexandria, having withdrawn.

Dr. Cohn was graduated from the university in the class of 1903. He succeeds S. W. Gladden, Baton Rouge, president for the past year.

Named to respective posts of first and second vice-president were Verdie Reece Perkins, Baton Rouge, and Arthur L. O'Quinn, Shreveport.

Five members of the council at large elected are John Doles, Plain Dealing; Julius Dupont, Houma; Al Moreau, Baton Rouge; Fred Haas, Jr., New Orleans, and Dr. Mabel F. Wood, New Orleans.

Lewis Gottlieb, Baton Rouge, was reelected as a representative to the university's athletic council. There are two alumni representatives to the council, one of whom is elected each year.

RED CROSS MOTOR CORPS AT SELMAN

Mrs. Cloma Ray, left, peers under the hood of the staff car assigned to Colonel John W. Egan, commanding officer of Selman field, while on a visit to the motor pool at the field to take the army driver's test. Thomas G. Hardy, center, and Lieutenant Roy R. McCue, both of the motor pool, discuss what they see under the automobile's bonnet. Red Cross Motor corps drivers began driving staff cars this week on a regular schedule at the field.

WOMEN DRIVING OFFICERS' CARS

Red Cross Motor Corps Freeing WAC And Enlisted Drivers

The Red Cross motor corps began driving Selman field staff cars during the week, thereby freeing WAC and enlisted men drivers for other duties, and establishing yet another contribution by the women of the Twin Cities of Selman field.

Thursday morning found five drivers attired in the natty blue uniforms of the motor corps reporting to the branch motor pool in the WAC area at 7:45 o'clock. They were Mrs. N. G. Gaston, of 1220 Fairview avenue; Mrs. Lovett Edwards, of 611 Bres avenue; Mrs. Henry Mayo, of 700 Hudson lane; Mrs. T. J. Sandridge, of 304 K street; and Mrs. L. L. Shlenker, of 504 Hilton street.

These women, who were followed by others on the remaining days of the week, all had passed the army driver's tests, and were the first of many who, it is hoped, will volunteer for motor corps training and permit turning more vehicles over to motor corps personnel for driving.

Mrs. C. C. North, chairman of the Ouachita parish chapter motor corps, has announced that women may volunteer Wednesday afternoons from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at chapter headquarters, 200 South Grand street, telephone 6780.

Wives of Selman field personnel are invited to sign up.

On account of the urgency of the need, drivers will be permitted, once they have passed the army driver's test at Selman field, to begin the first aid and motor mechanics courses leading to full membership in the corps after they have begun work at the field.

Thursday's assignment found all five women driving all day. They worked in cooperation with two enlisted WACs, Corporal Helen Jones, of Gillette, Mont., who is truckmaster, and Private First Class Hazel Sommer, of Maywood, Ill., dispatcher.

The truckmaster's job is to supervise maintenance of the vehicles, checking before and after runs on tires, gas, water, oil, batteries and general behavior of all vehicles in her charge. The dispatcher records requests and checks vehicles in and out.

Mrs. Gaston was the driver of the commanding officer's car, Colonel John W. Egan. Mrs. Edwards drove the conveyance of Major William J. Kaiser, post plans and training officer; Mrs. Mayo that of Major Herbert W. Rogers, the post supply officer; Mrs. Sandridge that of Major Patrick T. McMeniman, post administrative inspector; and Mrs. Shlenker that of Major A. M. Culpepper, post mess supervisor.

Mid-day "mess" was shared with the WACs of the 790th WAC Post Headquarters company, which is commanded by Lieutenant Polly McAllister. An excellent meal was served in the cheery atmosphere of the WAC dining hall.

Lieutenant Colonel Lyman Burbank, the post quartermaster, is the officer under whose supervision the motor corps program is being carried out.

COL. TODD'S BODY WILL LEAVE TODAY

The body of Colonel Edgar R. Todd, commanding officer of the twin engine flying school at Stuttgart, Ark., who died at Selman field here Friday morning, will leave Monroe this evening at 6:10 o'clock over the Missouri Pacific railroad to Jamestown, N. Y., where last rites and burial will take place.

Colonel Todd is survived by his wife and a daughter, Carrol Jane, who are now in Jamestown. Colonel Todd's home was at St. Petersburg, Fla.

He had been commanding officer of the Stuttgart field since its opening in June, 1942. A graduate of the versity of Florida, he received commission and wings at Kelly in 1928 and had been in continservice since. He had previously stationed at Luke field, Hawaii; Ley field, Va.; Kelly field, Tex.; Barksdale field where in 1940 he in charge of the twin engine sc

Sets Record Month By Destroying 600 German Planes

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The United States Eighth air force significantly expanded the scope of its operations in October, making raids from the Atlantic coast to Poland and drawing from the German air force its most overt admission to date of its depletion: failure to send up a single Nazi fighter in two raids on important French targets.

It was a record month for German planes destroyed—more than 600—as well as an American planes lost—174 heavy bombers.

Despite several recent heavy losses, data compiled by the Associated Press from official and other reliable sources indicate that the Eighth air force's bombing campaign, the only American blow against Germany itself so far, is being carried out within the five per cent casualty average considered operationally economical.

Combat losses in about 100 raids made since the start of operations 16 months ago have been about 50 fighters, 20 medium bombers and 730 heavy bombers, representing roughly $200,000,000 worth of equipment and some 6,000 fliers, of whom it is estimated at least half are safe.

The economical five per cent loss rate does not refer to permissible sacrifice against an individual target, since military considerations might warrant the expenditure of a large portion of the task force to wipe out a major objective; the rate refers rather to the level, considering replacement problems, necessary to maintain operations in full gear.

October's record of 600 German planes destroyed and 174 heavy bombers lost in seven raids broke the August record of 541 German craft destroyed and 114 bombers lost.

Spells of bad weather kept the heavy raids down to three less than September's record ten. The medium bombers went out five days as compared with almost daily operations in September. No medium bombers were lost this month.

Fortresses for the first time penetrated beyond Germany to bomb Danzig and Gdynia, Poland, only 250 miles from Russia. Their peak loss for a raid was the 60 shot down from a force of about 200 in the October 14 raid on the ball bearing plant at Schweinfurt.

The Fortresses suffered their lowest proportional casualties to date in a deep-penetration raid in the attack on a Frankfurt propeller factory October 4, when 17 were lost.

The count of plane losses for the whole war as compiled by the authoritative civilian weekly "Aeroplane" stands at 12,159 Allied planes lost as against 18,026 for the Axis, mainly over Europe and excluding Russia and the Orient. The toll in men is put at 48,470 for the Allies and 39,182 for the Axis.

OFFICERS' WIVES SPONSOR BENEFIT

Will Conduct Bridge Party To Aid In War Chest Drive

As a gesture of gratitude to the city of Monroe for the generous hospitality and friendship it has shown the personnel of Selman field, the officers' wives are winding up the last day of the Twin City United War Fund drive combined with the Community Chest with a huge benefit bridge party which will be held the Cadet club at 2 p.m., Friday, November 5. All proceeds will be turned over to the local fund and much interest is already shown in the event.

Mrs. Charles Bowman, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Bowman, executive officer of the post, is general chairman. Army officers' wives as well as civilian hostesses will greet everyone as they enter the door. Refreshments will be served and there will be table prizes as well as a door prize. Tickets are $1.00 and will be on sale at the Frances and Virginia hotel Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

These door prizes will add much interest to the occasion stated Mrs. Bowman general chairman. Merchants of the Twin Cities are donating many valuable prizes and gifts for the occasion. It will be a gala event and a thrilling climax to the Twin City Community Chest drive and a large contribution is expected to be turned over to the Chest.

Committee heads include Mrs. Charles Bowman, general chairman; Mrs. Earl Naeden and Mrs. Bridges Thornhill, refreshments; Mrs. Roland De Maziere, prizes; Mrs. John A. Rowe, cards and tables; Mrs. James Beattie and Mrs. William Davis, decorations; Mrs. Walter Scarborough and Mrs. Paul Sparks, tickets; Mrs. Theodore Merrell, publicity.

Army personnel hostesses for the benefit bridge are: Mesdames Lyman Burbank, C. D. Wright, Homer Cox, Leo Lautenberg, Miles Costello, James Holland, William Allen, Robert Tezzan, William Fritz, John Kyak, Hugh McMullan, Richard Ruland, William Ragsdale, Rexford Whitley, Arthur Carpenter, Darwin Fenner, Alonzo Arnett, William Ammerman, Boyd Creighton, William Eakins, James Gibson, T. P. Magee, Jack Morris, Ed Tomlinson, Jerome Olsen, Howard Bateman, and Lieutenant Polly McAlister.

REV. C. B. WHITE TO PREACH HERE

Rev. C. B. White, superintendent of the Louisiana Methodist orphanage in Ruston, will preach at both the morning and evening services of the First Methodist church in West Monroe today.

Announcement to this effect was made by the district superintendent, Dr. H. M. Jernigan, who stated that Dr. C. Kelso Smith, pastor, will be out of the city next Sunday. Dr. Smith was summoned to Chicago to attend the funeral of his son-in-law who died suddenly when in armed service at Tucson, Ariz., last Thursday and whose funeral will be in Illinois.

APPLICATIONS FOR PAYMENTS BEGIN

Farmers May Apply Monday For Dairy Feed Adjustment Money

A. C. Smith, state triple A administrator, announced today that parish AAA committees will begin taking applications for dairy feed adjustments on November 1.

These payments which are to offset increases in dairy feed prices since September 1942 will be at the rate of fifty cents a hundred weight for whole milk delivered and six cents a pound for butterfat in the parishes of Bienville, Bossier, Caddo, Caldwell, Catahoula, Claiborne, Concordia, DeSoto, East Carroll, Franklin, Grant, Jackson, LaSalle, Lincoln, Madison, Morehouse, Natchitoches, Ouachita, Red river, Richland, Sabine, Tensas, Union, Webster, West Carroll, and Winn. Producers in all other parishes in the state will be paid at forty cents a hundred weight for whole milk and five cents a pound on butterfat. Payments on sales of butter will be made at 80 per cent of the rate on butterfat.

Payment will be made by draft direct to the producer by the parish Triple A committee for the parish in which the producer's farm is located upon the submission of satisfactory evidence of the quantity of milk, butter or butterfat sold, according to Mr. Smith. For dairy producers selling whole milk to cooperative associations, milk distributors, etc., the statement normally furnished the producer will constitute satisfactory evidence, provided it shows the quantity of whole milk delivered. Similarly, the receipts furnished by the creameries for butterfat will be accepted as satisfactory evidence under the plan outlined by the AAA administrator.

Mr. Smith said that payments might be held up for a few days pending receipt of the printed draft forms from Washington but applications can be taken immediately and the drafts mailed to the farmer as soon as the forms are available. Farmers will only have to make one trip to the parish office if they have satisfactory records of sales for October.

Producers who retail milk will need to substantiate their claims by submission of customer's lists or other supporting evidence. Producers who sell butter to consumers, local stores, etc., will need to obtain receipts from the buyers or other evidence of sale.

Smith emphasized that dairymen delivering whole milk should be sure that the records furnished them by the buyer show the weight of milk delivered and not merely the quantity of butterfat since payment will be made on the weight of milk rather than on the butterfat content.

The War Food administration has announced that the present program will be in force for October, November and December.

The higher rate of payment designated for north Louisiana parishes is attributed to the fact that the severe drouth in that section has greatly reduced the quantity of feed and roughage produced on the farm by dairymen and therefore increased the total feed cost in that section above the southern portion of the state, according to the statement of WFA officials as given to Mr. Smith.

The ancient Hindus thought the moon as a vessel filled with sacred wine, that waned as it was drunk, but always filled up again.

REV. C. B. WHITE TO PREACH HERE

Rev. C. B. White, superintendent of the Louisiana Methodist orphanage in Ruston, will preach at both the morning and evening services of the First Methodist church in West Monroe today.

Announcement to this effect was made by the district superintendent, Dr. H. M. Johnson, who stated that Dr. C. Karlos Smith, pastor, will be out of the city over Sunday. Dr. Smith was summoned to Chicago to attend the funeral of his son-in-law who died suddenly when in armed service at Tucson, Ariz., last Thursday and whose funeral will be in Illinois.

APPLICATIONS FOR PAYMENTS BEGIN

Farmers May Apply Monday For Dairy Feed Adjustment Money

A. C. Smith, state triple A administrator, announced today that parish AAA committees will begin taking applications for dairy feed adjustments on November 1.

These payments which are to offset increases in dairy feed prices since September 1942 will be at the rate of fifty cents a hundred weight for whole milk delivered and six cents a pound for butterfat in the parishes of Bienville, Bossier, Caddo, Caldwell, Catahoula, Claiborne, Concordia, DeSoto, East Carroll, Franklin, Grant, Jackson, LaSalle, Lincoln, Madison, Morehouse, Natchitoches, Ouachita, Red river, Richland, Sabine, Tensas, Union, Webster, West Carroll, and Winn. Producers in all other parishes in the state will be paid at forty cents a hundred weight for whole milk and five cents a pound on butterfat. Payments on sales of butter will be made at 80 per cent of the rate on butterfat.

Payment will be made by draft direct to the producer by the parish Triple A committee for the parish in which the producer s farm is located upon the submission of satisfactory evidence of the quantity of milk, butter or butterfat sold, according to Mr. Smith. For dairy producers selling whole milk to cooperative associations, milk distributors, etc., the statement normally furnished the producer will constitute satisfactory evidence, provided it shows the quantity of whole milk delivered. Similarly, the receipts furnished by the creameries for butterfat will be accepted as satisfactory evidence under the plan outlined by the AAA administrator.

Mr. Smith said that payments might be held up for a few days pending receipt of the printed draft forms from Washington but applications can be taken immediately and the drafts mailed to the farmer as soon as the forms are available. Farmers will only have to make one trip to the parish office if they have satisfactory records of sales for October.

Producers who retail milk will need to substantiate their claims by submission of customer's lists or other supporting evidence. Producers who sell butter to consumers, local stores, etc., will need to obtain receipts from the buyers or other evidence of sale.

Smith emphasized that dairymen delivering whole milk should be sure that the records furnished them by the buyer show the weight of milk delivered and not merely the quantity of butterfat since payment will be made on the weight of milk rather than on the butterfat content.

The War Food administration has announced that the present program will be in force for October, November and December.

The higher rate of payment designated for north Louisiana parishes is attributed to the fact that the severe drouth in that section has greatly reduced the quantity of feed and roughage produced on the farm by dairymen and therefore increased the total feed cost in that section above the southern portion of the state, according to the statement of WFA officials as given to Mr. Smith.

The ancient Hindus thought the moon as a vessel filled with sacred wine, that waned as it was drunk, but always filled up again.

Miss Jerry John And Earl Mulhern To Wed

Wedding To Be Held At Wichita Where Groom Is Employed In Aircraft Plant

Of sincere interest to the many friends of both families is the formal announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. Mike John, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their only daughter, Jerry, to Mr. Earl Mulhern, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Mulhern of Mangham, La.

The wedding will be solemnized on December 3 in Wichita, Kans., where Mr. Mulhern is now employed as apprentice engineer at Boeing Aircraft corporation. Mrs. John will accompany her daughter to Kansas.

Both are graduates of Louisiana Tech where Miss John majored in commerce and Mr. Mulhern majored in engineering. Miss John served as secretary of her sorority, Theta Upsilon, and was vice-president of the student senate, and reporter for the Blue Jackets pep squad. Her name was also listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. For the past two years she has been employed as bookkeeper for H. Mickel Dry Goods company in Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Oliver announce the marriage of their only daughter, Charley Idelle to Mr. William Coy Dismukes of Little Rock, Ark., on October 9th.

Rev. Van Arsdale preformed the double ring ceremony at the First Baptist church at Benton, Ark.

The bride wore a lovely early fall model of flying blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of carnations.

The bride was formerly a resident of Sterlington and was a student of Ouachita Parish High school, Northeast Junior college and B. M. I. commercial school.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dismukes of Little Rock.

The young couple are both employed at the M. O. P. railroad in North Little Rock.

Interest Centered In Nuptial Event

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Virginia L. Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Myers of Scottsbluff, Nebraska, and Staff Sergeant William M. Heard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Heard of West Monroe. The ceremony, witnessed by a few intimate friends, took place in the home of Lieutenant Ruth Son of Cheyenne, Wyoming, with Reverend John M. Pattison, an old friend of the bride's family, officiating.

Miss Ruth Seader, the bride's attendant, wore a pastel blue model with harmonizing accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by Captain R. Crosswise, wore a beautiful flying blue model with red fox collar and cinnamon brown accessories and carried an arm bouquet of talisman roses and stephanotis.

Corporal Lawrence Purcell served as best man.

An informal reception, following the ceremony permitted the young couple to cut their beautifully embossed wedding cake, a gift from the government hospital staff at Fort Warren where Sergeant Heard is attached to the medical corps.

Mrs. Heard is a graduate of Scottsbluff High school and for the past two years has been associated with the Fort Warren hospital.

The young couple will reside in Cheyenne.

Every...ody knew what that meant—a ball ...night.

The traditional prairie wedding is described. The bride carried paper flowers and the groom were black gloves and a paper flower in his lapel. The author also tells of an old time "charivari," with men riding about on horseback asking for contributions to the festive gumbo of the evening.

Mr. Kane says: "The bayou waterways flow in a way of their own—sometimes in one direction, again in another. At many places a bayou may flow east at dawn, west by dusk. The bayous follow no rules but those of their own making."

"The majority of the bayous are notable for things other than size. Prodigal in number and in combination, they make a kind of lacework out of land—curving, twisting, curling back on their own curves, branching to meet others, splitting and resplitting. No adequate list of them has ever been made. Some are streams of renown—celebrated in gallant song and gay anecdote. Others are familiar only to the three or four families that live upon them in their houseboats—and who may have named them after Grandpere."

"In the latter case, of the smaller waterways, it is mainly these few who know the secrets of their cobweb meshes of water lines. Only one who had spent years in tracing and retracing their patterns could be expected to find his way about them. In such terrain it is not difficult to lose one's way at a turn. Hemmed in by grass and sedge and palmetto, without a foot of wholly certain land within sight—terror may come quickly; sometimes death. Occasionally, even long-time residents are reported missing in the lower marsh reaches.

"The bayous and their points of meeting have shaped the life and the history of their area and of their people—setting the design within which men have moved, made their livings and enjoyed their world. Along the line of their movement came settlement, for these waters have been the highways of their country; paths of armored conquerors, of grand seigneurs and bearded, silent fur hunters."

New Officers Of 'Y' Take Over Duties

A new year of work is now beginning for the work and program of the Young Women's Christian association. The following officers for the board of directors and the association have been elected: President, Mrs. Henry Whitfield; vice-president, Mrs. W. C. Oliver; secretary, Mrs. C. K. Crandall; treasurer, Mrs. J. Norman Coon. The following are the members of the board of directors: Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. C. K. Crandall, Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. Mary Mills Harker, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. J. E. Walsworth, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, and Mrs. Henry Whitfield.

The nominating committee elected is composed of Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. Ralph Gibson. The staff is composed of the general secretary, Miss Bess Sharp, and the residence secretary and hostess, Mrs. Frances Galloway.

Federated Club Women Will Hear National Pres. Speak During Convention

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, vice-president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs will leave Monday for Shreveport in company with other prominent club women of this city, to attend the fifty-fourth annual convention.

Unusual interest abounds in this year's state convention as the national president, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst will be the guest of honor.

Mrs. Whitehurst recently returned from England where she spent five weeks as the guest of the British government. She was entertained by the Queen of England and was extended many courtesies, socially and otherwise.

Mrs. Whitehurst returned to the United States with a strengthened conviction that the hope of the future is in world cooperation. She will talk to the club women of Louisiana along these lines when she addresses them next Tuesday evening at the Baptist church auditorium. An informal reception in her honor will follow the evening's program.

Since Mrs. Whitehurst assumed the presidency of the federation, May, 1941, more than 2,000,000 printed pamphlets, 1,000,000 prepared speeches, and 5,500,000 pieces of government material, all on war service, have been mailed to member clubs from national headquarters.

As editor-in-chief of the General Federation Clubwomen, Mrs. Whitehurst has devoted every issue to promoting war service and international understanding. The October, 1943, pressions of the British people.

Mrs. Whitehurst not only heads the magazine carries a record of her own experiences in England, and her imlargest women's organization in the world, but she serves on 30 national advisory committees. She is the only woman member and secretary of the board of regents, University of Maryland, of the state board of agriculture. She serves as the only woman member of the Maryland council of defense and resources—in which capacity she organized the women of Maryland for war service.

Mrs. Whitehurst was born in Philadelphia, studied medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, and had come to Baltimore to specialize in psychiatry at Johns Hopkins university when she met Mr. Whitehurst and changed her mind about a medical career. The Maryland Federation of Women's clubs drafted her for president from 1930 to 1932. In the general federation she served as vice chairman of legislation from 1932 to 1935; as chairman of education, 1935-1938; and as vice-president, 1938-1941.

Mrs. Whitehurst is tall and distinguished looking—quite as attractive as she is intelligent. She prefers dark clothes for the platform, and on every occasion is dressed with impeccable taste.

Y. W. C. A. Holds Annual Meeting And Open House

The Young Women's Christian association held its annual meeting and open house on Thursday, October 21. Mrs. P. A. Poag, president of the board of directors, gave the general report of the year's work. Mrs. R. H. B. Gibson gave a financial report for the year. Mrs. Henry Whitfield and Mrs. Wilma Otwell submitted reports on the work of the two business girls clubs for the year. Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, personnel chairman, gave her report and presented the new residence secretary, Mrs. Frances Galloway, to the group.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, social chairman, gave her report on the work of this committee and extended an invitation for the "social hour" after the meeting. Mrs. J. B. Thornhill presided over the urns during the coffee hour. Members of the committees in charge of this meeting were: Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. Robert Cretney, Mrs. R. H. B. Gibson, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. B. B. Martin.

The "Y" was decorated with many beautiful flowers, and the table was lovely with its centerpiece of roses and the soft candlelight. The following board members were elected: Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. Norman Coon, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, and Mrs. J. E. Walsworth.

Wedding Gowns Sent To British Women

Wedding gowns for British service women will soon be on their way to England.

A romantic dream of the A. T. S., the W. A. A. F. S. and other women in uniform will come true when beautiful, white satin wedding gowns reach London from General Federation of Women's clubs headquarters in Washington.

Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president, sent the request to two and a half million women in her organization. With immediate enthusiasm, the junior clubs of Indiana responded with an exquisite bridal dress and veil. The federation of Maryland, Mrs. Whitehurst's state, was second to purchase an outfit.

British girls wishing to borrow a gown make application to their service headquarters through the unit officer. About a week before the eventful day the package is sent. Ten shillings are charged for each use of the gown, so that it may be cleaned and worn over and over again.

Mrs. Whitehurst recently returned from a flight to England—to study war conditions and observe the contributions of women to the war effort. While there, she was deeply impressed by the fact that bridegrooms wanted their brides in white but no wedding gowns could be secured, nor were girls permitted to borrow from their American cousins.

Bridal outfits presented by the various state federations and clubs will be modeled by Junior club women of the respective states, and pictures will appear in the national organ of the general federation.

Mr. Kane says: "The bayou waterways flow in a way of their own—ometimes in one direction, again in nother. At many places a baycu may low east at dawn, west by dusk. The ayous follow no rules but those of heir own making."

"The majority of the bayous are otable for things other than size. rodigal in number and in combinaion, they make a kind of lacework ut of land—curving, twisting, curling back on their own curves, branching to meet others, splitting and resplitting. No adequate list of them has ever been made. Some are streams of renown—celebrated in gallant song and gay anecdote. Others are familiar only to the three or four families that live upon them in their houseboats—and who may have named them after Grandpere."

"In the latter care, of the smaller waterways, it is mainly these few who know the secrets of their cobweb meshes of water lines. Only one who had spent years in tracing and retracing their patterns could be expected to find his way about them. In such terrain it is not difficult to lose one's way at a turn. Hemmed in by grass and sedge and palmetto, without a foot of wholly certain land within sight—terror may come quickly; sometimes death. Occasionally, even long-time residents are reported missing in the lower marsh reaches.

"The bayous and their points of meeting have shaped the life and the history of their area and of their people—setting the design within which men have moved, made their livings and enjoyed their world. Along the line of their movement came settlement, for these waters have been the highways of their country; paths of armored conquerors, of grand seigneurs and bearded, silent fur hunters."

New Officers Of 'Y' Take Over Duties

A new year of work is now beginning for the work and program of the Young Women's Christian association.

The following officers for the board of directors and the association have been elected: President, Mrs. Henry Whitfield; vice-president, Mrs. W. C. Oliver; secretary, Mrs. C. K. Crandall; treasurer, Mrs. J. Norman Coon. The following are the members of the board of directors: Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. C. K. Crandall, Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. Mary Mills Harker, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. J. E. Walsworth, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, and Mrs. Henry Whitfield.

The nominating committee elected is composed of Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. Ralph Gibson. The staff is composed of the general secretary, Miss Bess Sharp, and the residence secretary and hostess, Mrs. Frances Galloway.

Federated Club Women Will Hear National Pres. Speak During Convention

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, vice-president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs will leave Monday for Shreveport in company with other prominent club women of this city, to attend the fifty-fourth annual convention.

Unusual interest abounds in this year's state convention as the national president, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst will be the guest of honor.

Mrs. Whitehurst recently returned from England where she spent five weeks as the guest of the British government. She was entertained by the Queen of England and was extended many courtesies, socially and otherwise.

Mrs. Whitehurst returned to the United States with a strengthened conviction that the hope of the future is in world cooperation. She will talk to the club women of Louisiana along these lines when she addresses them next Tuesday evening at the Baptist church auditorium. An informal reception in her honor will follow the evening's program.

Since Mrs. Whitehurst assumed the presidency of the federation, May, 1941, more than 2,000,000 printed pamphlets, 1,000,000 prepared speeches, and 3,500,000 pieces of government material, all on war service, have been mailed to member clubs from national headquarters.

As editor-in-chief of the General Federation Clubwomen, Mrs. Whitehurst has devoted every issue to promoting war service and international understanding. The October, 1943, pressions of the British people.

Mrs. Whitehurst not only heads the magazine carries a record of her own experiences in England, and her imlargest women's organization in the world, but she serves on 30 national advisory committees. She is the only woman member and secretary of the board of regents, University of Maryland, of the state board of agriculture. She serves as the only woman member of the Maryland council of defense and resources—in which capacity she organized the women of Maryland for war service.

Mrs. Whitehurst was born in Philadelphia, studied medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, and had come to Baltimore to specialize in psychiatry at Johns Hopkins university when she met Mr. Whitehurst and changed her mind about a medical career. The Maryland Federation of Women's clubs drafted her for president from 1930 to 1932. In the general federation she served as vice chairman of legislation from 1932 to 1935; as chairman of education, 1935-1938; and as vice-president, 1938-1941.

Mrs. Whitehurst is tall and distinguished looking—quite as attractive as she is intelligent. She prefers dark clothes for the platform, and on every occasion is dressed with impeccable taste.

Y. W. C. A. Holds Annual Meeting And Open House

The Young Women's Christian association held its annual meeting and open house on Thursday, October 21. Mrs. P. A. Poag, president of the board of directors, gave the general report of the year's work. Mrs. R. H. B. Gibson gave a financial report for the year. Mrs. Henry Whitfield and Mrs. Wilma Otwell submitted reports on the work of the two business girls' clubs for the year. Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, personnel chairman, gave her report and presented the new residence secretary, Mrs. Frances Galloway, to the group.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, social chairman, gave her report on the work of this committee and extended an invitation for the "social hour" after the meeting. Mrs. J. B. Thornhill presided over the urns during the coffee hour. Members of the committees in charge of this meeting were: Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. Robert Cretney, Mrs. R. H. B. Gibson, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. B. B. Martin.

The "Y" was decorated with many beautiful flowers, and the table was lovely with its centerpiece of roses and the soft candelight. The following board members were elected: Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. Norman Coon, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, and Mrs. J. E. Walsworth.

Wedding Gowns Sent To British Women

Wedding gowns for British service women will soon be on their way to England.

A romantic dream of the A. T. S., the W. A. A. F. S. and other women in uniform will come true when beautiful, white satin wedding gowns reach London from General Federation of Women's clubs headquarters in Washington.

Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president, sent the request to two and a half million women in her organization. With immediate enthusiasm, the junior clubs of Indiana responded with an exquisite bridal dress and veil. The federation of Maryland, Mrs. Whitehurst's state, was second to purchase an outfit.

British girls wishing to borrow a gown make application to their service headquarters through the unit officer. About a week before the eventful day the package is sent. Ten shillings are charged for each use of the gown, so that it may be cleaned and worn over and over again.

Mrs. Whitehurst recently returned from a flight to England—to study war conditions and observe the contributions of women to the war effort. While there, she was deeply impressed by the fact that bridegrooms wanted their brides in white but no wedding gowns could be secured, nor were girls permitted to borrow from their American cousins.

Bridal outfits presented by the various state federations and clubs will be modeled by Junior club women of the respective states, and pictures will appear in the national organ of the general federation.

Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Ray Rhymes And Mrs. Ivy Jordon Hostess At Party

A light-hearted occasion and one that captured the fashion spotlight was the early twilight tea last Tuesday at the Lotus club honoring Miss Robertine Rhymes, bride-elect, with Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Ray Rhymes and Mrs. Ivy Jordon, hostesses.

The lounge of the club, recently redecorated and refurnished, was in gala floral attire with wide-spreading urns overflowing with pink roses, purple dahlias and yellow daisies placed at every vantage point.

Miss Rhymes, standing with her hostesses and her mother Mrs. Robert Rhymes in the receiving line, wore a black chiffon and lace semi-evening model of unadorned simplicity. A corsage of pink Butterfly roses, a gift from her hostesses, was worn high on the shoulder. Mrs. Robert Rhymes wore a black crepe model with deep yoke of aqua blue encrusted in variegated colored beads. Mrs. Ray Rhymes wore a lip-stick red crepe model accented with gold and Mrs. Jordon wore a white silk jersey model. Mrs. Alfred Reid was wearing a black chiffon a model with inserts of black Chantilly lace.

The guests passed into the library were Mrs. Louis Milner in a black and White chiffon model and Mrs. Patrick Earle in shell pink chiffon with orchids in her hair, presided over the silver services placed at either end of the candle-lit table.

The table, overlaid with Point Venise lace, was developed exclusively in pink and silver. A pyramid of pink roses and pale pink chrysanthemums formed the floral decor. Pink tapers burned at the four corners in handsome silver candelabra.

Miss Rhymes' intimate friends assisted in serving the luscious confections ranging from open-faced sandwiches, cheese straws to pastry puffs, kisses, and assorted gateaux. Mrs. Alex Ryan was wearing a black taffeta and lace model. Miss Nora Virginia Abernathy wore white jersey model with wide jeweled belt. Mrs. Jack Howe wore a pale pink satin model. Miss Ellen Hale wore a flowered taffeta and net model and Miss Marguerite McHenry wore a black crepe model accented with azure blue. Mrs. Thomas Wyatt's gown was fashioned with black skirt and bodice of camellia pink. Mrs. J. W. Perry wore a salmon colored chiffon velvet model and Mrs. Gordon Surguine wore black crepe. Mrs. Lee Thompson wore flowered chiffon and Mrs. Oliver Lowry wore a white crepe model accented with black. Miss Mildred Keller wore a rose pink satin model and Mrs. G. L. Morgan was wearing a black crepe model. Mrs. Albin Furlow wore a gold colored model and Mrs. John Atkinson wore a black transparent velvet. Mrs. Flood Madison was in black chiffon and Mrs. Harvey Parnell wore a peach colored crepe model.

Conversation over the tea and coffee cups was devoted to the approaching marriage of Miss Rhymes and Benajah Bibb Cobb. It will be a brilliant event of November 7 at the First Methodist church at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The reception will be held at the plantation home of the bride's parents.

Miss Rhymes, patriotically inclined, requested hostesses to cancell all prenuptial courtesies planned in her honor. The courtesies were limited to the announcement tea at the Neil McHenry plantation home and the tea last Tuesday at the Lotus club.

A breakfast on the day of the wedding will include Miss Rhymes' fiance who will arrive the day before from New Orleans where he is a medical student at Tulane university.

Dr. Wendt To Address Town Hall Audience

More changes will occur in the next 20 years than have been seen in the last 50 according to Dr. Gerland Wendt who will address the Town Hall audience November 9 at the Parish High school auditorium. Due to the exceeding interest of this particular lecture this meeting has been designated as "Family Night."

This will be no dry-as-dust lecture, no dull scientific treatise over the heads of ordinary men and women but a down-to-earth report of thrilling, personal interest to all. Dr. Wendt describes the results of scientific and laboratory research in words that tell every club member what is likely to happen to him, his business, his food, his clothing, his means of transportation, what his vacation trips are apt to be in five, ten, twenty years from now.

Dr. Wendt, who is admitted to be America's foremost interpreter of science, has been secured by the local club because of its membership in the great Associated Club organization to which Dr. Wendt has promised practically all the speaking dates he can spare from his desk as an editor of "Time."

Any club member or the wife of any club member who misses Dr. Wendt will forever after condemn himself.

Mrs. Henry Addresses Altrurian Book Club

'The Amazing Roosevelt Family" Subject Of Interesting alk At Meeting

An excellent paper on "The Amazing Roosevelt Family," was presented by Mrs. R. B. Henry at the October meeting of the Altrurian Book club. She said in part:

"In this swiftly placed family chronicle we find no dry-as-dust geneology, but a kaleidoscope pageant of men and events. It is the absorbing story of the two main branches of the Roosevelt family tree, each of which produced a president.

Woven into this fascinating story of an amazing family, there is also the stirring history of a great nation. From the shadowy immigrant who brought the name to America in 1612, down to the present day. The Roosevelts who march through these dramatic pages, come vividly alive, as they play astonishingly varied roles in the rise to greatness, of the United States of America.

"The earliest Roosevelts in the New World was one known as 'The Little Fellow' and it is not definitely known whether the nickname was given because of his strapping size, or merely as an apt description. He was a sailor whose captain and crew plied about in the waters off the eastern shore of America, about the year 1613. 'The Little Fellow,' whose name was Kleytjen, is believed to be the progenitor of all the Roosevelt's in America. He lived with the Indians in the Hudson valley before the Pilgrims landed! His son, a fur-trader and shopkeeper, founded the family fortune.

"For four generations, he was the last of his breed to achieve a reputation extending beyond that of a smug world of shopkeepers, bankers, ship owners and landlords, in which the Roosevelt family lived until Theodore Roosevelt broke the mold and shouted his way to the presidency. Isaac Roosevelt supported the Revolution with his money and strength and was the second president of the city's first bank; he helped write his state's first constitution, and stood with Alexander Hamilton for a strong federal union. He was typical of his class and time. Nicholas Roosevelt the second, was an inventor, the paddle wheel for steamboats being his best known invention, but he died embittered and broken.

Among the earlier Roosevelt clan the name of James Henry stands out as a philanthropist. Had no member of the family ever achieved fame, New Yorkers would remember him and in many instances bless his name because it was his money that made possible the establishment and maintenance of what today is the best known and largest semi-public hospital in New York.

"James Henry's life was a sad one, being both beautiful and tragic. He had inherited considerable property from his father. As a boy he was unusually bright. He chose law as his profession and was admitted early to the bar. He fell in love while in college with Miss Julia Marie Boardman, but bitter tragedy occurred which ruined their plans forever. Almost exactly a month after he was admitted to practice he was stricken with infantile paralysis. He was destined to be an invalid, able to walk only with the use of crutches for the rest of his life! As was to be the case with a later Roosevelt, he refused to surrender to his infirmity. Although the law was shut to him, and the doors of business closed, and society could hold but little pleasure for him, he decided to live as actively as the confinement of his home would allow. He was endowed with the Roosevelt business genius. He tended his estate with infinite care. Throughout the trying years, the closest friend he had, was the girl whom he had intended to marry. He died at the age of 65, leaving Miss Boardman an annuity of four thousand dollars.

"Down through the ages, from 1613 to 1943, there has been chronicled many a tale, of many a Roosevelt! James Roosevelt, the father of President Franklin D. was a gentle man of some importance in his own little world and in his time. He was a dashing figure among the sports loving descendents of the Hudson river patroons! He ranked high in the exclusive social circles dominated by Mrs. Caroline Astor, leader of the "Four Hundred." He was a charming guest in his friends' home in England, Germany and France.

"And he was an able lawyer and business man, whose talents aided materially in the post civil war development of an important link in the railroad system of America. The Roosevelt fortune handed down through three generations, had been carefully nurtured. He married early, a Miss Rebecca Mowland and inherited the Mount Hope house across the road from Hyde Park.

"Greatness came to the Roosevelt family in the seventh generation. Comparison between the two great Roosevelts who within our own time have commanded the attention of the world, is inevitable. We must remember that the problems which Theodore faced were not those which Franklin Roosevelt had to solve. The lives of the cousins have stretched over the most momentous years of our history.

"In the 300 year history of the Roosevelt family in America, two women, both Roosevelts to the core, have attracted almost as much attention, as that accorded to the men.

"The story of Alice Longworth Roosevelt and Anna Eleanor Roosevelt is one of contrasts. Alice grew up under the spotlight. As a young lady she was suave, smart witty, sophisticated, the toast of Washington and Newport. A glamour girl of the years before World war I.

"The spotlight did not shine on Eleanor, until after her first grandchild was born. As a girl she was a homely, lonely, queerly dressed orphan, whose father had made a tragic failure of his life and whose mother had died when Eleanor was very young."

"The earliest Roosevelts in the New World was one known as 'The Little Fellow' and it is not definitely known whether the nickname was given because of his strapping size, or merely as an apt description. He was a sailor whose captain and crew plied about in the waters off the eastern shore of America, about the year 1613. 'The Little Fellow,' whose name was Kleytjen, is believed to be the progenitor of all the Roosevelt's in America. He lived with the Indians in the Hudson valley before the Pilgrims landed! His son, a fur-trader and shopkeeper, founded the family fortune.

"For four generations, he was the last of his breed to achieve a reputation extending beyond that of a smug world of shopkeepers, bankers, ship owners and landlords, in which the Roosevelt family lived until Theodore Roosevelt broke the mold and shouted his way to the presidency. Isaac Roosevelt supported the Revolution with his money and strength and was the second president of the city's first bank; he helped write his state's first constitution, and stood with Alexander Hamilton for a strong federal union. He was typical of his class and time. Nicholas Roosevelt the second, was an inventor, the paddle wheel for steamboats being his best known invention, but he died embittered and broken.

Among the earlier Roosevelt clan the name of James Henry stands out as a philanthropist. Had no member of the family ever achieved fame, New Yorkers would remember him and in many instances bless his name because it was his money that made possible the establishment and maintenance of what today is the best known and largest semi-public hospital in New York.

"James Henry's life was a sad one, being both beautiful and tragic. He had inherited considerable property from his father. As a boy he was unusually bright. He chose law as his profession and was admitted early to the bar. He fell in love while in college with Miss Julia Marie Boardman, but bitter tragedy occurred which ruined their plans forever. Almost exactly a month after he was admitted to practice he was stricken with infantile paralysis. He was destined to be an invalid, able to walk only with the use of crutches for the rest of his life! As was to be the case with a later Roosevelt, he refused to surrender to his infirmity. Although the law was shut to him, and the doors of business closed, and society could hold but little pleasure for him, he decided to live as actively as the confinement of his home would allow. He was endowed with the Roosevelt business genius. He tended his estate with infinite care. Throughout the trying years, the closest friend he had, was the girl whom he had intended to marry. He died at the age of 65, leaving Miss Boardman an annuity of four thousand dollars.

"Down through the ages, from 1613 to 1943, there has been chronicled many a tale, of many a Roosevelt! James Roosevelt, the father of President Franklin D. was a gentle man of some importance in his own little world and in his time. He was a dashing figure among the sports loving descendents of the Hudson river patroons! He ranked high in the exclusive social circles dominated by Mrs. Caroline Astor, leader of the "Four Hundred." He was a charming guest in his friends' home in England, Germany and France.

"And he was an able lawyer and business man, whose talents aided materially in the post civil war development of an important link in the railroad system of America. The Roosevelt fortune handed down through three generations, had been carefully nurtured. He married early, a Miss Rebecca Mowland and inherited the Mount Hope house across the road from Hyde Park.

"Greatness came to the Roosevelt family in the seventh generation. Comparison between the two great Roosevelts who within our own time have commanded the attention of the world, is inevitable. We must remember that the problems which Theodore faced were not those which Franklin Roosevelt had to solve. The lives of the cousins have stretched over the most momentous years of our history.

"In the 300 year history of the Roosevelt family in America, two women, both Roosevelts to the core, have attracted almost as much attention, as that accorded to the men.

"The story of Alice Longworth Roosevelt and Anna Eleanor Roosevelt is one of contrasts. Alice grew up under the spotlight. As a young lady she was suave, smart witty, sophisticated, the toast of Washington and New port. A glamour girl of the years before World war I.

"The spotlight did not shine on Eleanor, until after her first grandchild was born. As a girl she was a homely, lonely, queerly dressed orphan, whose father had made a tragic failure of his life and whose mother had died when Eleanor was very young."

Miss Eloise Hall And Lieutenant Lynn Wed

Claiming affectionate interest is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Eloise Hall, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hall of West Monroe and Lieutenant Harold Daniel Lynn, son of Reverend and Mrs. C. E. Lynn, of Lubbock, Tex.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. L. Tanner October 19th at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

The bride wore a beautiful Madonna blue model with accessories of navy and a corsage of Talisman roses. She was attended by her aunt, Mrs. L. L. Boatright, who wore a two-piece black and white ensemble with corsage of gardenias and white carnations.

The groom's attendant was Mr. L. L. Boatright.

Following the ceremony the bride changed her wedding gown for a smart tailleur and left with Lieutenant Lynn for a honeymoon in Dallas. They visited en route, Lieutenant Lynn's sister and his parents in Lubbock, Texas.

When Lieutenant Lynn leaves for overseas duty Mrs. Lynn will return to Monroe where she will be at home with her parents for the duration.

Women's Part In War Effort' Is Discussed

rs. J. K. Blue Delivers Interesting Talk To Current Literature Club

"Women's Part in the War Effort" was the subject of an ceptionally interesting talk delivered by Mrs. J. K. Blue be- re members of the Current Literature club in the home of rs. Leslie Boyce, West Monroe, with Mrs. R. E. Wilson, co- stess.

he meeting was called to order by . W. L. Moore, the president, and minutes of the last meeting were d by Mrs. A. B. Colmer in the ence of the regular secretary, Mrs. us Chandler. It was decided at this eting that the war service chair- n, Mrs. W. L. Jones, should meet h the war service chairman of the ious other clubs and couperate h them fully in furnishing the C recreation room at Selman ld. Delegates and alternates for Louisiana State Convention of efated Clubwomen to be held in eveport, were appointed by Mrs. ore. The delegates were as fol- s: Mrs. W. L. Moore, Mrs. W. L. es, and Mrs. C. E. Autry; and al- nates, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. R. E. son, and Mrs. Leslie Boyce, suc- tively. Those attending this con- tion will be privileged to hear . John L. Whitehurst, national sident of General Federation of men's clubs.

new member was introduced to club by Mrs. Moore at this time. . E. Schapiro.

rs. Blue, introducing the program the afternoon, said: "This is a total —a war in which every woman as l as every man must play a part. men in the service of our coun- are in for one reason alone—to t! They are in the service of our ntry to fly planes, man the ships, to smash the Nazis and Japs. But keep them fighting, there are im- tant service jobs that must be car- d on at home—man-sized, full time s which the women of America st fill. Never in the history of erica have women been offered h a chance to serve their country, and never has there been such an urgent need for their service." Mrs. Blue then introduced Lieutenant Vivian Locke, of the WAC recruiting office, who proved to be a most interesting speaker, and she gave the club many "off the record" facts about the early experiences of a WAC enlistee. In her discussion she said in part:

"The WAC is an organization of women whose job is to replace men in the army. There are 155 jobs in the army for women now and each of these jobs available would release a man for active duty.

"Women are needed in the service now as never before and it is hoped that Louisiana will meet the quota of 1,260 enlistees by December 7, Pearl Harbor day.

"So successful have the WAC companies been, here and abroad, that the commanding officers have nothing but praises for them. The air corps alone has requestioned 63,000 WACs, and is sending out their own recruiting teams to encourage women to offer their services. We feel that these reports should indicate what a definite and vital place a woman has in the winning of this war." Lieutenant Locke then gave a detailed account of the basic, specialist, and officer candidate training in the women's army corps, and pointed out the values and advantages to be enjoyed in each."

Mrs. Blue then gave an interesting discussion on the "Waves and Spars." She said in part: "The Waves is an organization of women whose job is to replace navy men at shore stations. The Spars is an organization of women whose job is to replace coast guard men at shore stations. As a member of the Waves or Spars, you can wear the same navy blues, win the same ratings and earn the same pay as America's finest fighting navy men. Whatever your work, wherever you go, you can be sure that you are performing a very real, very vital service for your country. It will not be any picnic, nor a part time "glamour" job, but a full time work. It will be hard work. But as you are the sort of woman who loves America and honors the brave men fighting to keep it free, it is work you will be proud to do.

"The first training schools opened for the Waves and Spars were in radio, storekeeping, and navy clerical work. But now, many new fields have been opened up. There is a place for women with experience in practically every field of business and industry. Especially wanted are women good in such subjects as accounting, aeronautical engineering, astronomy, business statistics, civil, electrical, mechanical and radio engineering, electronics, mathematics metallurgy, modern languages, and physics. Experience listed as desirable also includes typewriting teachers, business machine demonstrators, junior executives and personal supervisors.

"The navy and coast guard want women of good character. When you enlist you will have to come highly recommended with good references. For it is a proud moment when you have finally been accepted and you raise your right hand and swear allegiance to your country. From then on, you step into a new life—in the service of Uncle Sam.

"What about saluting? Yes, your salute will be recognized even by the admiral himself. And you deserve recognition. You will salute all superiors and be recognized.

"So, women of America, there is a job to be done. It is a big job. And the Waves and the Spars will go down in American history of tomorrow as having done their part to further the war effort."

Mrs. Blue also spoke of some interesting "off the record" facts about the work being done by these women and the places in which they are serving.

After the program was completed, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following members: Mrs. C. E. Autrey, Mrs. J. K. Blue, Mrs. Leslie Boyce, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. Jesse Heard, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. Floyd Matthews, Mrs. W. M. Mitchell, Mrs. W. L. Moore, Mrs. E. Schapiro, Mrs. R. E. Wilson, and guests, Lieutenant Vivian Locke, and Mrs. D. N. Barron.

Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. Has Second Meeting

The Georgia Tucker Parent-Teacher association had their second meeting for this year in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon. The reports from different committees were given and special emphasis placed on plans for the safety of the children. It was asked that safety in the homes be given attention. This association has a membership of 436. Mrs. Fagan Cox, the state president, was the speaker.

After the usual business Mrs. A. D. Tisdale spoke from the doctor's viewpoint about the Wagner bill which is now before congress, saying it means control and regimentation of doctors and possible lead to other regimentation and government control. It has been tried in Germany and England and statistics show it has been unsuccessful. Doctors feel it is destructive to ambition. America is now the medical center of the world and foreigners come here now to finish their training rather than Americans going to Europe to complete their work as was formerly the case.

Coffee and cakes were served and a social hour was enjoyed.

Miss Miriam Freeman Weds Lieut. Cantwell

Bride's Father Performs Ceremony At Selman Field Chapel; Reception Follows

The interest of friends in this section of the state is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Miriam Freeman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Merriman Freeman of this city, to Frank Pierce Cantwell, Lieutenant United States Army Air Corps, of Selman Field, Monroe, La., and Morristown, Tenn. Miss Freeman is the daughter of the district superintendent of the Methodist church in this area, and Mrs. Freeman, and Lieutenant Cantwell is the only son of Mrs. R. P. Cantwell of Morristown.

The wedding was solemnized Friday afternoon, October 29, at five o'clock in Sexton chapel of the First Methodist church of Shreveport. The bride's father performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of a few friends and relatives.

White gladioli interspersed with plumosos fern were arranged attractively in white floor standards. Graceful palms formed an effective background for the ceremony. Seven branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers formed an arch over the plumosos entwined chanced rail.

Prior to the service a program of nuptial music, including "I Love You Truly," "Because," "At Dawning," and "Lieberstraum" was rendered by Miss Rita Lee Harrison, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Captain A. M. Freeman, Jr., was attired in a bridal gown of white brocaded satin, designed with a sweetheart neckline caught with orange blossoms. The full skirt fell in a train, and the fitted sleeves ended in points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught in a tiara of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses falling in a cascade of valley lilies.

Mrs. A. M. Freeman, Jr., served as matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a becoming model of aqua chiffon fashioned with shirred bodice, sweetheart neckline, and full, wrist-length sleeves. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses.

Lieutenant Homer S. Brewer, also of Selman field, served as best man.

Mrs. Freeman, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue crepe model and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Freeman entertained at an informal reception.

The bride attended Birmingham-Southern college and Vanderbilt university where she received both her bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and served as a founder of the Vanderbilt chapter during her senior year. She recently joined her family in Shreveport, coming from Monroe, where she was a popular member of the Spinsters club and on the faculty of Ouachita Parish High school. At the time of her marriage she was a teacher in the city schools.

Lieutenant Cantwell received his education at the University of Tennessee and William and Mary college in Virginia. He received his pilot's wings last February and since that time has been stationed in Monroe. His fraternity is Kappa Sigma.

Rules Outlined For Conserving Food

Since food has taken its place as a vital weapon in the fight for freedom, still more conservation and thrift is demanded of America's homemakers and their families. Now the government requests that a "clean plate" campaign be initiated in every home.

Viewed as a patriotic wartime duty, general economy measures in the preparation, serving, and eating of food are not difficult to carry out and can easily become routine. For example:

Over-size servings should be avoided; average size portions satisfy the appetite in most instances, are more attractive, and help the diner to achieve the "clean plate."

The majority of children are capricious eaters and ask for second servings when actually they may wish but an extra bite or two. Or, they refuse to eat certain food because they wish something else which has not been prepared. The suggestion that it is a part of the war effort to eat what is put before you should solve this problem.

Butter or fortified margarine left partially eaten is a waste which may be eliminated by cutting pats in half for serving.

A bread board for cutting the loaf at table offers a way to reduce dried-out slices to a minimum. Uneaten toast should be rolled and utilized as crumbs in cooking.

Salad mixed and dressed at table is apt to reduce the quantity usually left uneaten. Greens not used should then be returned to the refrigerator container to keep crisp for another meal.

The "clean plate" idea applies as much to cooking utensils as to serving plates. Not a morsel of food need be left in the cooking pans; a spatula or flexible knife with a thin blade can be used to remove all of the mashed potatoes, or rice, cereal, corn or other food from the pan.

A spatula or plate scraper will get the last spoonful of batter from the mixing bowl, the last drop of melted chocolate, molasses, or fat from the measuring cup.

Attention to cooking to turn the gas flame low to maintain gentle cooking of foods prepared over top burners will eliminate over-cooking or scorching of foods. Over-cooking dries out food and destroys the vitamins. Scorching defeats the purpose of the "clean plate" because it destroys the food itself. Careless cooking of high flame cooks food improperly and also uses fuel wastefully and needlessly.

Utilization of the coarse outer leaves of cabbage, romaine lettuce and other greens in soup stock is one of the "musts" in the present program of good conservation. Minced, these portions add fresh vegetable nutriment to dehydrated soups.

America's pioneer mother was a wizard with left-overs. And she threw nothing away: She rinsed the cream pitcher with milk and used it. Now the English on wartime rations rinse the milk bottle with water and utilize it as the liquid in gravy.

MR. AND MRS. HERLEVIC

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Ludvic Herlevic was an interesting event of recent date at St. Matthews' Catholic church. Mrs. Herlevic was formerly Miss Myrtis Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Johnson of Choudrant, Louisiana.

Rules Outlined For Conserving Food

Since food has taken its place as a vital weapon in the fight for freedom, still more conservation and thrift is demanded of America's homemakers and their families. Now the government requests that a "clean plate" campaign be initiated in every home.

Viewed as a patriotic wartime duty, general economy measures in the preparation, serving, and eating of food are not difficult to carry out and can easily become routine. For example:

Over-size servings should be avoided; average size portions satisfy the appetite in most instances, are more attractive, and help the diner to achieve the "clean plate."

The majority of children are capricious eaters and ask for second servings when actually they may wish but an extra bite or two. Or, they refuse to eat certain food because they wish something else which has not been prepared. The suggestion that it is a part of the war effort to eat what is put before you should solve this problem.

Butter or fortified margarine left partially eaten is a waste which may be eliminated by cutting pats in half for serving.

A bread board for cutting the loaf at table offers a way to reduce dried-out slices to a minimum. Uneaten toast should be rolled and utilized as crumbs in cooking.

Salad mixed and dressed at table is apt to reduce the quantity usually left uneaten. Greens not used should then be returned to the refrigerator container to keep crisp for anothr meal.

The "clean plate" idea applies as much to cooking utensils as to serving plates. Not a morsel of food need be left in the cooking pans; a spatula or flexible knife with a thin blade can be used to remove all of the mashed potatoes, or rice, cereal, corn or other food from the pan.

A spatula or plate scraper will get the last spoonful of batter from the mixing bowl, the last drop of melted chocolate, molasses, or fat from the measuring cup.

Attention to cooking to turn the gas flame low to maintain gentle cooking of foods prepared over top burners will eliminate over-cooking or scorching of foods. Over-cooking dries out food and destroys the vitamins. Scorching defeats the purpose of the "clean plate" because it destroys the food itself. Careless cooking at high flame cooks food improperly and also uses fuel wastefully and needlessly.

Utilization of the coarse outer leaves of cabbage, romaine, lettuce and other greens in soup stock is one of the "musts" in the present program of good conservation. Minced, those portions add fresh vegetable nutriment to dehydrated soups.

America's pioneer mother was a wizard with left-overs. And she threw nothing away: She rinsed the cream pitcher with milk and used it. Now the English on wartime rations rinse the milk bottle with water and utilize it as the liquid in gravy.

LET Freedom RING!

Once upon a time the ringing of a bell signified independence for the American colonies. From that day, independence has been an American symbol, representing not only our independence as a nation, but also the personal freedom of thought and action that is typically American.

Today, with our nation engaged in a struggle for Victory, it is fitting to consider again all the meanings of the phrase—"Let Freedom ring." There are the four freedoms, for instance—freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom from want, freedom from fear. In the America we hope for after the war, we want to know that all of us can enjoy these freedoms, and the security they afford.

There is a fifth freedom that we, as Americans, must treasure and uphold. It is the freedom of private enterprise—our right as Americans to work, to build, to invent—to seek our fortune and, perhaps, to find it!

That is the kind of independence that has made this country great. Freedom of enterprise—let's keep that, too, for postwar America!

LET Freedom RING!

Once upon a time the ringing of a bell signified independce for the American colonies. From that day, independence s been an American symbol, representing not only our dependence as a nation, but also the personal freedom of ought and action that is typically American.

Today, with our nation engaged in a struggle for Victory, s fitting to consider again all the meanings of the phrase—et Freedom ring." There are the four freedoms, for stance—freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom om want, freedom from fear. In the America we hope for ter the war, we want to know that all of us can enjoy these eedoms, and the security they afford.

There is a fifth freedom that we, as Americans, must easure and uphold. It is the freedom of private enterise—our right as Americans to work, build, to invent—to seek our fortune d, perhaps, to find it!

That is the kind of independence that s made this country great. Freedom enterprise—let's keep that, too, for stwar America!

Miss Mildred English Weds William Herring

Former Resident Of Monroe And Memphis Girl In Ceremony At Home Of Bride

Of sincere interest to friends in this city is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mildred English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Joseph English of Memphis, Tenn., and Mr. William G. Herring of Oklahoma City, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Matthew Herring of this city, Monday, October 18, at the home of the bride's parents.

An improvised altar was reared in the reception suite where beautiful autumnal flowers were everywhere in evidence. Golden hued chrysanthemums and gladioli overflowed from baskets placed at vantage points. White gladioli and tuberoses banked the mantel where numerous cathedral tapers burned in tall crystal candelabra.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas F. Nenon, assisted by Rev. Paul Curran and Rev. Thomas Woodley.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father looked lovely in the traditional ivory satin, designed with graceful princess lines with a high neckline and long, tapering sleeves. The full skirt extended into a circular train. Her veil caught to the hair with a coronet of lace was showered with tiny sprays of lilies of the valley. She carried a satin prayer book which was adorned with white orchids and shower of tuberoses.

Mrs. James K. Larkin was her sister's matron of honor; another sister, Miss Margaret English, was maid of honor. Both wore lovely gowns of American Beauty taffeta with matching Juliet caps. They carried dahlias and chrysanthemums in harmonizing shades. The bridesemaids, Mrs. Calvin O. Franklin, another sister, Mrs. Ernest Appolone and Mrs. Douglas Nance of Monroe, La., sister of the groom all wore gowns of aqua green taffeta with matching caps; their bouquets were in harmonizing shades.

Mr. Herring was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Douglas Nance, of Monroe, La. The groomsmen were Calvin O. Franklin, James H. Larkin, Thomas Wade and Lieutenant Ernest Appolone.

Following the wedding the parents of the bride entertained with a reception. At this time the wedding cake was cut and toasts offered to the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Herring will reside in Memphis for the time being.

Many lovely wedding gifts were on display among which was noted a complete chest of silver and set of Lenox china.

Out of city guests for the wedding were: Miss Dorothy O' Brien of New Orleans, Miss Martha McManus of Jackson, Miss., Mrs. R. C. Sparks, sister of the groom and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Nance, sister and brother-in-law of the groom, all of Monroe, La.

CHAPTER XXIX

"You never told me how you got your stuff," Imhof shouted to Enzell, to make himself heard over the roar of the engines. Stein had been tied up with leftover strips of Schroeder's bed sheet, which Pat had brought in her raincoat pockets, and everyone had settled down as comfortably as possible. "Let's have the yarn."

"Too much noise," protested Enzell.

"What's the matter with the intercom?" said Rick.

The suggestion was adopted and all were soon fitted out.

Enzell was silent a moment.

"Berlin was where I first got a hunt of this business. I went there on quite another trail, some U-boat stuff—which I never got—and took a job as a waiter in the Adlon.

"One day I was in a suite to pick up a tray. The people had already gone out. I went to the open window to shake the table cloth and heard voices in the next room.

"A woman was lamenting what would be 'Adi's' fate at the hands of the enemy. Now nobody in Germany calls Hitler 'Adi' but real intimates, particularly his old friends of the early days.

"'Frieda!' the man boomed. 'You upset yourself unnecessarily, my dear. Adi's very clever. And he always looks ahead. I happen to know he has in this matter. He will never be taken alive—alive or dead.'

"'But how in the world'—she began.

"Here he shut her up. 'No questions, Frieda! Even to you I must say nothing further. And you'll keep to yourself what I've said.'

"I listened a bit more, but he changed the subject very firmly.

"When I checked up on that suite, I found it was occupied by a certain Nazi and his wife, both old friends of Hitler's and still close to him, though the man was not prominent in the party now, having dropped politics for plane manufacturing.

"I quit the Adlon and went to Dresden, where our friend ran a big factory. I kept my eye on his plant and found he was shipping certain unusual-looking plane parts to a small assembly plant in Chemnitz. Why? He had his own assembly lines.

"I made Chemnitz my next stop. The plant was significantly well guarded but there are ways and means when you have a well-filled pocket-book and before long I managed to see that a really huge plane of most unusual type was being assembled there.

"I looked around for a worker I could pump and, after some school study, picked a likely subject. A small, dark, thin nervous man about 35 with a lot of ambition, self-importance in him wanting an outlet. Kind that unbuttons when drunk. I got to work on him. The best thing he let out was that some Nazi Great Man was coming to see the plane soon.

"This sounded like a lead and I kept watch.

"One night a big transport without escort drove up outside the plant. A man got out, then two others. I couldn't see faces but that voice! That walk! There is only one Hitler, thank God!

"The three men entered the plant and I did some hard thinking, fast. The car was not Hitler's official one, I knew, and there was no entourage, no guards. This was an unexpected windfall, although not surprising in the light of future events. The chauffeur drove off a little way, then got out to stretch his legs. He walked around to the front of the building and fell into conversation with the sentry. There was my chance! I idled past the car, then, making sure I wasn't observed, picked the simple lock on the luggage compartment with a bit of wire I carry for the purpose. It was the work of a minute to lift the lid, climb in and close it down over me. Those top-flight Nazis were sure to talk when they left the factory and now I had a front-row seat.

"Everything went like clockwork. Once in the car and on their way again, did they talk!

"Luck had been with me so far—but now it broke. A blow-out! I was out of that luggage place and down the road before the chauffeur could leave the car. But of course the setup in the rear gave the show away.

"They almost got me in Stuttgart. They had my description from people in Chemnitz, where a fast check probably showed me as the only missing person. And they thought I'd head for the frontier, as I did.

"The close call in Stuttgart made me change plans. With the frontier hermetically sealed to me I was sewed up in Germany, for a while anyhow. So I sent out my message through the Dutchmen.

"In Stuttgart I wrote and mailed the Zellen letter and also, in case one of my messages got into Gestapo hands, a letter to one Stolz in Bingen, in meaningless code. Then I broke north, pulling up in Frankfort, sneaked out to Wiesbaden to park my stuff in the library there and mail the Gehrig letter. Then back to Frankfort to go to earth in the jail.

"The rest of the story you know," Enzell concluded matter-of-factly.

The little audience of three which had listened quietly without interruption now burst into excited comment. Rick's voice shrilled somewhat plaintively.

"I say," he protested, "I catch the drift of most of what's been afoot but there's one thing everybody but me seems to be in the know about. What is the 'stuff' of your anyway, Enzell—or shouldn't I ask?"

CHAPTER XXIX

"You never told me how you got your stuff," Imhof shouted to Enzell, to make himself heard over the roar of the engines. Stein had been tied up with leftover strips of Schroeder's bed sheet, which Pat had brought in her raincoat pockets, and everyone had settled down as comfortably as possible. "Let's have the yarn."

"Too much noise," protested Enzell.

"What's the matter with the intercom?" said Rick.

The suggestion was adopted and all were soon fitted out.

Enzell was silent a moment.

"Berlin was where I first got a hint of this business. I went there on quite another trail, some U-boat stuff—which I never got—and took a job as a waiter in the Adlon.

"One day I was in a suite to pick up a tray. The people had already gone out. I went to the open window to shake the table cloth and heard voices in the next room.

"A woman was lamenting what would be 'Adi's' fate at the hands of the enemy. Now nobody in Germany calls Hitler 'Adi' but real intimates, particularly his old friends of the early days.

"'Frieda!' the man boomed. 'You upset yourself unnecessarily, my dear. Adi's very clever. And he always looks ahead. I happen to know he has in this matter. He will never be taken alive—alive or dead.'

"'But how in the world'—she began.

"Here he shut her up. 'No questions, Frieda! Even to you I must say nothing further. And you'll keep to yourself what I've said.'

"I listened a bit more, but he changed the subject very firmly.

"When I checked up on that suite, I found it was occupied by a certain Nazi and his wife, both old friends of Hitler's and still close to him, though the man was not prominent in the party now, having dropped politics for plane manufacturing.

"I quit the Adlon and went to Dresden, where our friend ran a big factory. I kept my eye on his plant and found he was shipping certain unusual-looking plane parts to a small assembly plant in Chemnitz. Why? He had his own assembly lines.

"I made Chemnitz my next stop. The plant was significantly well guarded but there are ways and means when you have a well-filled pocket-book and before long I managed to see that a really huge plane of most unusual type was being assembled there.

"I looked around for a worker I could pump and, after some saloon study, picked a likely subject. A small, dark, thin, nervous man about 35 with a lot of inhibited self-importance in him wanting an outlet. Kind that unbuttons when drunk. I got to work on him. The best thing he let out was that some Nazi Great Man was coming to see the plane soon.

"This sounded like a lead and I kept watch.

"One night a big limousine without escort drew up outside the plant. A man got out, then two others. I couldn't see faces but that voice! That walk! There is only one Hitler, thank God!

"The three men entered the plant and I did some hard thinking, fast. The car was not Hitler's official one, I knew, and there was no entourage, no guards! This was an unexpected windfall, although not surprising in the light of future events. The chauffeur drove off a little way, then got out to stretch his legs. He walked around to the front of the building and fell into conversation with the sentry. There was my chance! I idled past the car; then, making sure I wasn't observed, picked the simple lock on the luggage compartment with a bit of wire I carry for the purpose. It was the work of a minute to lift the lid, climb in and close it down over me. Those top-flight Nazis were sure to talk when they left the factory and now I had a front-row seat.

"Everything went like clockwork. Once in the car and on their way again, did they talk!

"Luck had been with me so far—but now it broke. A blow-out! I was out of that luggage place and down the road before the chauffeur could leave the car. But of course the setup in the rear gave the show away.

"They almost got me in Stuttgart. They had my description from people in Chemnitz, where a fast check probably showed me as the only missing person. And they thought I'd head for the frontier, as I did.

"The close call in Stuttgart made me change plans. With the frontier hermetically sealed to me I was sewed up in Germany, for a while anyhow. So I sent out my message through the Dutchmen.

"In Stuttgart I wrote and mailed the Zellen letter and also, in case one of my messages got into Gestapo hands, a letter to one Stolz in Bingen, in meaningless code. Then I broke north, pulling up in Frankfort, sneaked out to Wiesbaden to park my stuff in the library there and mail the Gehrig letter. Then back to Frankfort to go to earth in the jail.

"The rest of the story you know," Enzell concluded matter-of-factly.

The little audience of three which had listened quietly without interruption now burst into excited comment. Rick's voice shrilled somewhat plaintively.

"I say," he protested, "I catch the drift of most of what's been afoot but there's one thing everybody but me seems to be in the know about. What is the 'stuff' of your anyway, Enzell—or shouldn't I ask?"

Woolley, Fields In Star Cast

Laird Cregar And Una O'Connor Also In Hilarious New Film

IF YOU'D like to see a wild and Woolley-Fields day of fun and frolic—and who doesn't, these days—don't miss "Holy Matrimony," which is slated for the Paramount theater on Monday.

For when he of the pointed beard and double-jointed tongue—Monty Woolley—gets together with that lovable lady of laughter and song—Gracie Fields—there's bound to be an uproar! And that's the way it is all through the new 20th Century-Fox comedy hit, according to advance reports.

As you might imagine from the title, Kid Cupid draws a bead on bewhiskered Monty, and before he knows it he's together with Gracie in a rose-covered cottage—with a laugh for every single shingle on the roof.

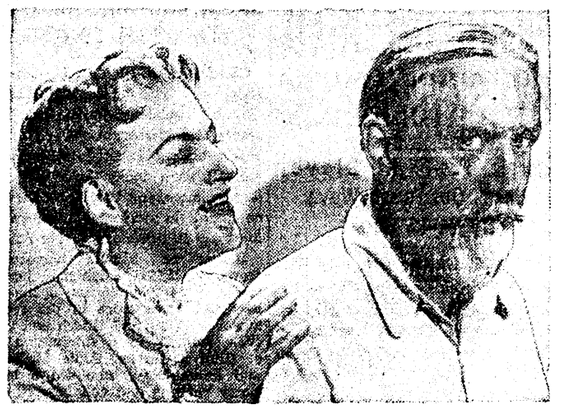

To Producer Nunnally Johnson goes the credit for much of the hilarity in the film, for in addition to the responsibility of filming the picture, he wrote the screen play from Arnold Bennett's famed "Buried Alive." And he made certain that the film was peopled by superior actors well known in Hollywood.

But perhaps the single most important factor in keeping the picture at the proper pitch is Gracie Fields, the famed English comedienne who brings to the screen much of the charm and buoyancy she exhibits in her nightly broadcasts. For those who haven't seen or heard her—as those who have will be the first to say—Gracie represents the finest kind of treat the screen can present. She is a perfect team-mate for Monty—and to say more would be superfluous.

As for gruff, hearty, beshikered Monty—he's found that there is such a thing as love. Which makes him wonder—but not too much—about the shape of things to come. But it in no wise takes the barbs out of the famous Woolley gags, and his assaults on his butler, the police and the world at large are something to behold. No one has ever denied his command of the English language—and after seeing "Holy Matrimony," all will be convinced that words are stronger than blows.

The cast of the film is headed by eccentric Laird Cregar, and his verbal tussles with the irascible Woolley will bring chuckles to all. And in addition, there is a top-notch cast that includes Una O'Connor, Alan Mowbray, Melville Cooper and Franklin Pangborn—all among the top when it comes to getting laughs.

To John Stahl went the enviable job of directing "Holy Matrimony." The veteran director has studded the film with unusual situations and has maintained the hilarious pace throughout.

Because the groundwork of Italy's surrender was laid in Portugal, she has been thought by many to be a hotbed of intrigue. Her titular head, President General Antonio Oscar De Fragoso Carmona (right), and his prime minister (left), Dr. Antonio De Oliveira, shown as they appear in the March of Time, "Europe's Crossroads," showing at the Paramount Monday through Wednesday.

'So Proudly We Hail' Is Coming Here

Colbert, Goddard And Lake Starred In Film At Capitol Tuesday

A PICTURE that is heralded everywhere it plays as one of the greatest ever to come out of Hollywood, is Paramount's "So Proudly We Hail," which will arrive in Monroe next Tuesday at the Capitol theater. To judge by advance reports, movie fans are going to want to keep the lines in town for a long time. Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake are co-starred, supported by George Reeves, Barbara Britton, Walter Abel and Sonny Tufts.

"So Proudly We Hail," produced and directed by Mark Sandrich, is the story of a handful of American nurses, their lives and their love under the terrific fire of Bataan and Corregidor. It's an original story, written by Allan Scott, based on what was told by the nurses who were flown out of that holocaust to the safety of Australia and thence to the United States.

The three glamorous stars, Claudette Paulette and Veronica, will be seen as army nurses whose personal lives are closely bound up with their professional lives. Claudette's romantic interest is George Reeves who gets his first big break in the role of Lieutenant John Summers. He and Claudette are married on Corregidor with Jap guns thundering their wedding march. Their honeymoon is spent in a foxhole, their future uncertain.

Paulette's big moment is a newcomer to the screen, a blond giant of a man—Sonny Tufts who seems to have everything it takes to make him a big star in no time flat. It isn't often a film has two such male heart-throbs as Tufts and Reeves so female fans should look forward with anticipation of much pleasure to "So Proudly We Hail."

Veronica Lake's role as a heart-broken girl whose finance was killed at Pearl Harbor, is a departure from everything she has done before. It will give her new standing as a fine emotional actress.

All in all, reports have it that "So Proudly We Hail" stands out as a truly great picture and one that is rich in stars, in story and in exciting entertainment.

Theater Signs Contract For First-Run Features In Monroe

THE recent selection of the Joy theater by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures to present the productions of that famed studio first-run in Monroe raises this showhouse to premiere position in north Louisiana, Manager Anna Beth Houck said this week.

To accommodate the screen product of that leading Hollywood studio, together with that recently contracted from United Artists, another ranking producer, the Joy will alter its established policy of exclusive double-feature presentations to embrace a combination policy of deluxe first-runs with a continuation of its popular double-feature offerings.

The established double-feature "bargain" programs will be continued at the Joy Friday through Monday, with the stellar productions of MGM and United Artists being presented Tuesday through Thursday. The current popular prices will remain in effect for all the first named programs, but slightly increased admission prices are required under terms of the contract for the latter, Manager Houck explained.

"I am certain the moviegoers of Monroe will applaud the enterprise of the Joy in bringing to this city the great productions of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer," Mrs. Houck said, "for that company has long been recognized as the leader in the motion picture industry, boasting a succession of hit productions through the years as yet unapproached by any other studio." In announcing the acquisition of MGM, she emphasized that this company maintains a "stable" of top-flight stars exceeding in popularity and importance that of all other producing companies combined, and thus is consistently able to turn out a major portion of top boxoffice successes.

The productions of MGM and United Artists both were formerly presented first-run in Monroe in another theater.

The first of the MGM attractions scheduled at the Joy is "Somewhere I'll Find You," a spectacular drama of war correspondents in the Far East, which co-stars Clark Gable and Lana Turner. This production was one of the last to be completed by Captain Gable prior to his enlistment in the army air corps. It plays three days at the Joy, commencing Tuesday.

Others to follow in quick succession are: "Random Harvest," with Greer Garson and Ronald Colman, universally acclaimed the outstanding hit of the recent movie season; "Panama Hattie," with Red Skelton and Ann Sothern; Mickey Rooney in William Saroyan's fabled "The Human Comedy"; Judy Garland and the new star sensation, Gene Kelly, in "For Me and My Gal"; Robert Taylor, Brian Donlevy and Charles Laughton in "Stand By for Action"; Hedy Lamarr and Walter Pidgeon in tropical thrill romance, "White Cargo"; and many others.

FLYING FIGURES

By the end of 1943, 80,000 aircraft will have come off production lines. The dollar volume of plane production for 1944 is expected to be increased by 50 per cent.

Woolley, Fields In Star Cast

Laird Cregar And Una O'Connor Also In Hilarious New Film

IF YOU'D like to see a wild and Woolley-Fields day of fun and frolic—and who doesn't, these days—don't miss "Holy Matrimony," which is slated for the Paramount theater on Monday.

For when he of the pointed beard and double-jointed tongue—Monty Woolley—gets together with that lovable lady of laughter and song—Gracie Fields—there's bound to be an uproar! And that's the way it is all through the new 20th Century-Fox comedy hit, according to advance reports.

As you might imagine from the title, Kid Cupid draws a bead on bewhiskered Monty, and before he knows it he's together with Gracie in a rose-covered cottage—with a laugh for every single shingle on the roof.

To Producer Nunnally Johnson goes the credit for much of the hilarity in the film, for in addition to the responsibility of filming the picture, he wrote the screen play from Arnold Bennett's famed "Buried Alive." And he made certain that the film was peopled by superior actors well known in Hollywood.

But perhaps the single most important factor in keeping the picture at the proper pitch is Gracie Fields, the famed English comedienne who brings to the screen much of the charm and buoyancy she exhibits in her nightly broadcasts. For those who haven't seen or heard her (as those who have will be the first to say) Gracie represents the finest kind of treat the screen can present. She is a perfect team-mate for Monty—and to say more would be superfluous.

As for gruff, hearty, bewhiskered Monty—he's found that there is such a thing as love. Which makes him wonder—but not too much—about the shape of things to come. But it in no wise takes the barbs out of the famous Woolley gags, and his assaults on his butler, the police and the world at large are something to behold. No one has ever denied his command of the English language—and after seeing "Holy Matrimony," all will be convinced that words are stronger than blows.

The cast of the film is headed by gigantic Laird Cregar, and his verbal tussles with the irascible Woolley will bring chuckles to all. And in addition, there is a topnotch cast that includes Una O'Connor, Alan Mowbray, Melville Cooper and Franklin Pangborn—all among the top when it comes to getting laughs.

To John Stahl went the enviable job of directing "Holy Matrimony." The veteran director has stacked the film with unusual situations and has maintained the hilarious pace throughout.

Because the groundwork of Italy's surrender was laid in Portugal, she has been thought by many to be a hotbed of intrigue. Her titular head, President General Antonio Oscar De Fragoso Carmona (right), and his prime minister (left), Dr. Antonio De Oliveira, shown as they appear in the March of Time, "Europe's Crossroads," showing at the Paramount Monday through Wednesday.

Colbert, Goddard And Lake Starred In Film At Capitol Tuesday

A PICTURE that is hearlded everywhere it plays as one of the greatest ever to come out of Hollywood, is Paramount's "So Proudly We Hail," which will arrive in Monroe next Tuesday at the Capitol theater. To judge by advance reports, movie fans are going to want to keep the film in town for a long time. Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake are co-starred, supported by George Reeves, Barbara Britton, Walter Abel and Sonny Tufts.

"So Proudly We Hail," produced and directed by Mark Sandrich, is the story of a handful of American nurses, their lives and their loves under the terrific fire of Bataan and Corregidor. It's an original story, written by Allan Scott, based on what was told by the nurses who were flown out of that holocaust to the safety of Australia and thence to the United States.

The three glamous stars, Claudette Paulette and Veronica, will be seen as army nurses whose personal lives are closely bound up with their professional lives. Claudette's romantic interest is George Reeves who gets his first big break in the role of Lieutenant John Summers. He and Claudette are married on Corregidor with Jap guns thundering their wedding march. Their honeymoon is spent in a foxhole, their future uncertain.

Paulette's big moment is a newcomer to the screen, a blond giant of a man—Sonny Tufts who seems to have everything it takes to make him a big star in no time flat. It is'nt often a film has two such male heart-throbs as Tufts and Reeves so female fans should look forward with anticipation of much pleasure to "So Proudly We Hail."

Veronica Lake's role as a heart-broken girl whose finance was killed at Pearl Harbor, is a departure from everything she has done before. It will give her new standing as a fine emotional actress.

All in all, reports have it that "So Proudly We Hail" stands out as a truly great picture and one that is rich in stars, in story and in exciting entertainment.

775 JAP PLANES DOWNED

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Seven hundred and seventy-five Japanese planes have been destroyed in October in the southwest Pacific to run enemy losses in four months to 2,292. The bulk of October's record bag was made in five powerful smashes at Rabaul, New Britain, where nearly 700 tons of bombs were dropped.

Theater Signs Contract For First-Run Features In Monroe

THE recent selection of the Joy theater by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures to present the productions of that famed studio first-run in Monroe raises this showhouse to premiere position in north Louisiana, Manager Anna Beth Houck said this week.

To accommodate the screen product of that leading Hollywood studio, together with that recently contracted from United Artists, another ranking producer, the Joy will alter its established policy of exclusive double-feature presentations to embrace a combination policy of deluxe first-runs with a continuation of its popular double-feature offerings.

The established double-feature "bargain" programs will be continued at the Joy Friday through Monday, with the stellar productions of MGM and United Artists being presented Tuesday through Thursday. The current popular prices will remain in effect for all the first named programs, but slightly increased admission prices are required under terms of the contract for the latter, Manager Houck explained.

"I am certain the moviegoers of Monroe will applaud the enterprise of the Joy in bringing to this city the great productions of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer," Mrs. Houck said, "for that company has long been recognized as the leader in the motion picture industry, boasting a succession of hit productions through the years as yet unapproached by any other studio." In announcing the acquisition of MGM, she emphasized that this company maintains a "stable" of top-flight stars exceeding in popularity and importance that of all other producing companies combined, and thus is consistently able to turn out a major portion of top boxoffice successes.

The productions of MGM and United Artists both were formerly presented first-run in Monroe in another theater.

The first of the MGM attractions scheduled at the Joy is "Somewhere I'll Find You," a spectacular drama of war correspondents in the Far East, which co-stars Clark Gable and Lana Turner. This production was one of the last to be completed by Captain Gable prior to his enlistment in the army air corps. It plays three days at the Joy, commencing Tuesday.

Others to follow in quick succession are: "Random Harvest," with Greer Garson and Ronald Colman, universally acclaimed the outstanding hit of the recent movie season; "Panama Hattie," with Red Skelton and Ann Sothern; Mickey Rooney in William Saroyan's fabled "The Human Comedy"; Judy Garland and the new star sensation, Gene Kelly, in "For Me and My Gal"; Robert Taylor, Brian Donlevy and Charles Laughton in "Stand By for Action"; Hedy Lamarr and Walter Pidgeon in tropical thrill romance, "White Cargo"; and many others.

Cyclones Seeking Revenge For Previous Loss To Huge Flying Tigers

Undefeated Lake Charles army air field and the Selman field football teams, Selman having been beaten only by Lake Charles in the season's opener, clash at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon on the gridiron of the Neville High school stadium in a battle that should rate on par with any pigskin fracas seen in this section this fall.

Hoping to assume the role of giant killers, the vastly improved Cyclones of Selman have pointed for the battle today against the huge Flying Tigers and are blood-thirsty for revenge to ease the pain of that setback in the curtain raiser at Lake Charles two weeks ago. With a much more coordinated attack and with the addition of a natural leader in William (Dub) Mattis, who was named on several all-American selections while playing with Tulane's Green Wave and who joined the Selman squad this week, the Cyclones are in a much better position to give the mighty Tigers a run for their money than they were two weeks ago.

Triple-threat Mattis will not be in the starting lineup this afternoon when the Cyclones trot out on the field, but he is certain to see plenty of action. Another performer who won't be in the opening eleven but who will be in the game as long as possible and be a mighty big help while he is in there is "Hammering Hank" Agusiewicz. This former George Washington university ace missed last week's game with Camp Livingston because of injuries and he is expected to be able to appear today for only limited service, but that little bit of service might well be the difference between victory and defeat for the Cyclones. Undoubtedly one of the best linesmen to ever appear in these parts, Agusiewicz is the kingpin of the Selman defense and can be depended on to give invaluable aid while in the lineup.

The injury jinx has robbed the Cyclones of two of their most capable linesmen on the eve of the all-important clash, but able replacements will make the loss less keenly felt. Ed Schumacher, clever guard and former all-Conference at Louisiana Normal, and Ralph Whitman, bruising tackle who starred for L. S. U. will be the missing links. Schumacher has a bad leg and Whitman is sidelined with a bum ankle. This still leaves the Selman combine with five top notch guards, Melvin Russell, Freemon Nixon, Fred Heimlen, Agusiewicz and Herbert Davis, to throw into the gap with Russell and Nixon slated to be the starters. Willard Keland will replace Whitman at the starting tackle position to team up with Melvin Delgado. Gordon Hansen, Lawson Howland and Jimmy Ulrich will be around for reserve duty.

Outweighed in every department, the Cyclones have cast their main stock for victory in their deceptive running attack built around the tricky "T" formation. With "Jack Rabbit" Jesse Nichols, Bob Swanson, Gerald Braud, DeSales Cavey, Jimmy Harris, Mack Bishop, Bob Cook, Vito Pernicone and Mattis, all fairly light but speed demons, to carry the mail, the Selman outfit hopes to run around the Tigers instead of trying to run over them as in the last tilt.

Prospects of an aerial circus being unleashed by the Cyclones also appear bright today. Mattis, whose leaping, running pass is one of the main reasons he drew so much attention at Tulane, can toss a football around like a baseball and forwards are liable to explode all over the massive Lake Charles defenders. MIGHTY IRISH SMOTHER NAVY '11', 33-6; BERTELLI STARS

Notre Dame Ace Ruins Middie Unbeaten Record In Last Game

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Notre Dame's mighty Irish took a long stride toward the national championship and their first perfect season since 1930 as they smothered hitherto unbeaten-untied Navy 33 to 6 today before 82,000 fans in Cleveland's jammed Lakefront stadium.

It was the sixth straight win for the South Bend team, and it gave the Irish 261 points to 31 for the combined opposition.

The victory belonged to Notre Dame, but the story belongs to "Accurate Angelo" Bertelli, the 173-pound quarterback and passer deluxe, who sang his collegiate swan song, for the duration at least, loud enough for the world to hear. He reports to Parris Island, S. C., for further training with the marines.

The Notre Dames struck after a punt exchange early in the first period. With the ball on Navy's 48, Bertelli hit Halfback Julius Rykovich, who scored without a hand touching him.

At the start of the second period, Bertelli connected for a six-yarder and an eight-yarder and made it three in a row with a long one to Creighton Miller which covered 52 yards for another touchdown. Three times Miller was bottled up, but shook all tacklers to score.

The Navy started moving, as Hamberg connected on three of four passes for the lone Middie touchdown. He threw a seven-yarder to Sub Back Bill Barron, a 14-yarder to Hillis Hume, and picked Barron out of a mass of Notre Dame defenders and hit him for the touchdown.

A three-yard pass from Bertelli to End John Yonakor on the fifth play of the third period gave Notre Dame its third score, after Fullback Jim Mello ran for 38 and Miller for 25 on consecutive plays. Late in the same session Mello intercepted a pass on his own 40 and reached the six before being hauled down, Miller finally plunging three yards for the touchdown.

The last marker came late in the contest, Bertelli plunging over from the two after Vic Kulbitski, sub fullback, scampered around his left end for 72 yards to the Middie six, where Sub Back Jim Pettit caught him from behind.

Today's defeat was the worst ever suffered by Navy at the hands of the scrapping Irish and gave Notre Dame 14 victories against three defeats in the long series with the Sailors.

The starting lineup:

Notre Dame	Pos.	Navy
Limont	LE	Channell
White	LT	Whitmire
Filley	LG	Brown
Coleman	C	J. Martin
Perko	RG	Chase
Czarobski	RT	Sprinkle
Yonakor	RE	Johnston
Bertelli	QB	Nelson
Miller	LH	Crawley
Rykovich	RH	D. Martin
Mello	FB	Hume

Score by quarters:

Notre Dame	6	7	14	6	—33
Navy	0	6	0	0	—6

Navy scoring: Touchdown, Barron (sub for B. Martin).

RICE 13; TEXAS TECH 0

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Rice Owls passed and ran their way to their first victory today, defeating Texas Tech's Red Raiders, 13-0.

A crowd of 5,000 watched the Owls three times drive within the Tech ten-yard line before they could score.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Story out of Washington—via Walter McCallum, ear-to-the-ground Evening Star scribe—is that Los Angles interests are offering $100,000 for the National Football league playoff with the idea of staging it in the Rose Bowl. . . . Since the Redskins are likely to be the eastern playoff team, the report may carry considerable weight. . . . Since the playoff is scheduled for December 19 in the Midwest, such a shift would eliminate a lot of financial uncertainty even though it did deprive some fans of (1) a last chance to see the team they follow all season and (2) pneumonia.

Alma Stranger

Scrap Collection

Westminster college, a garden basketball "regular," will be back again this winter with a trainee team. . . . Bob Artman, last season's top scorer for Doc Carlson at Pitt, will head the Titans. . . . The Rev. Arnold Fenton, who taught Yale's Scooter Scussel to boot a football 70 yards or so, says that when Ray first started at the U. of Connecticut he "hooked the ball like a heifer side-kicking a harsh milker." . . . Jerry Lawrence, New York radio man who golfs in the 70s, used to caddy for Bing Crosby in California. It's reported that Jerry also croons a bit when he takes over a pal for a couple of bucks on the links. . . . When St. Mary's High school of Rutherford, N. J., entertains Cardinal Hayes of New York tomorrow, the coaches will be otherwise engaged. St. Mary's is coached by Bob Trocolar and Cardinal Hayes by Ward Cuff, both of the Giants.

Service Department

The Sampson, N. Y., naval station basketball team has been booked for a couple of double headers in Buffalo's civic auditorium, if navy rules about playing off-base don't interfere. Opposition will be either Colorado Aggies or Brigham Young in one bill and East Texas and U. of Savannah in the other, with Canisius college taking the other half. . . . While Charley Brickley, Harvard's famous dropkicker, is working in a Wilmington, Del., shipyard, Sergeant Charley, Jr., is with the army somewhere in England and another son, Private First Class John of the marines, is attached to a M. P. unit in the south Pacific area.

A Pheasant Time Was Had

Captain Don Caseby of the army air corps, former Syracuse U. tennis coach, spent two days of a brief furlough tramping the woods and fields near his home in a vain search for a pheasant. . . . As he was breakfasting his last morning at home, Don looked out the window and saw a cock pheasant. . . . He grabbed his gun, stepped out and bagged the bird, then discovered he had only five minutes to catch the train back to his base. . . . His wife wrote that she enjoyed the meal he had provided. . . . A case of going hunting—instead of fishing—and getting nary a bite.

TULANE DEFEATED BY SKYCRACKERS

Georgia Pre-Flight Eleven Noses Out Green Wave By 14-13 Count

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Steve Filipowicz's passing and expert place kicking by Pat Harder gave the Skycrackers of Georgia pre-flight a 14-to-12 win over the Tulane Green Wave here today before 18,000 fans in a bitterly fought game.

Filipowicz, a second string All-America back at Fordham, pitched a touchdown pass to End Warren Tiller, a high school kid from Orlando, Fla., late in the first quarter, and Harder, another second string All-America from Wisconsin, kicked the point to offset an early Tulane touchdown and conversion.

Filipowicz passed to Harder for the second Skycracker touchdown early in the third period, Harder taking the ball on the Tulane 5-yard line and scoring standing up. Harder kicked the game-winning point from placement.

Tulane was first to score, Tailback Billy Jones flipping a 32-yard six-pointer to Ken Tarzetti, lanky end, for a touchdown in the first four minutes of play. Jones added the point from placement to give the Greenies a 7-to-0 lead.

Tarzetti blocked Filipowicz's punt and Gaston Bourgeois recovered on the pre-flight 49 to start the Greenies on their first touchdown drive. Jones' 17-yard pass to Leonard Finley figured in the march, "Joltin' Joe" Renfroe, veteran wingback, put Tulane back in the game early in the fourth quarter by traveling 41 yards on a reverse for a touchdown. A 65-yard punt by Renfroe had backed the Skycrackers deep into their own territory and paved the way for the score Jim Shiver, transfer back from Auburn, attempted the extra point from placement, but missed.

The pre-flighters' first touchdown came on a 21-yard drive after a weak punt by Renfroe, and the second was good for 42 yards.

Tulane fought desperately to score again in the fourth quarter. With the Wave backed up on its own 3-yard line, Jones passed from behind the Tulane goal, intended for Earl Worsen Jahncke, but the pass missed its mark by inches.

The Skycrackers stalled for time in the last 11 seconds of play. Parker on the Tulane 30 said line and with fourth down coming up, Filipowicz took the pass from center and ran all the way back to his own 34-yard line as the game ended.

Tulane rolled up 156 yards rushing to 89 for Georgia pre-flight and made 50 yards passing to 60 for the Skycrackers. The Skycrackers made first downs 13 to 10.

The starting lineups:

Ga. Pre-Flight	Pos.	Tulane
Shepherd	LE	Tarzetti
Hale	LT	G. Jones
A. Walker	LG	Bourgeois
G. Walker	C	Kirschenheiter
Davidsmeyer	RG	McMillan
McFarland	RT	Roseman
Tiller	RE	Taylor
Ramsey	QB	Finley
Noble	LH	Jones
Hoequist	RH	Renfroe
Randall	FB	R. James

Score by quarters:

Georgia pre-flight	7	0	7	0	—14
Tulane	7	0	0	6	—13

Tulane scoring: Touchdowns: Tarzetti, Renfroe. Point after touchdown: Jones (placement).

UNBEATEN TULSA ELEVEN TIED BY SOUTHWESTERN

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Tulsa's hopes for a second straight all-victorious season were shattered today by the powerful marines of Southwestern university, who battled the Golden Hurricane to a 6-6 deadlock before 10,000 fans in Skelly stadium.

Southwestern showed up with its full crew of former college stars and after yielding a first-period touchdown, stormed back to tie the score in the third with a vicious running attack, R. L. Cooper scoring from the four-yard line.

The Hurricane forged into the lead with a 51-yard aerial march, Clyde Leforce hitting Barney White with the payoff throw from the one-yard line. But Leforce, who had connected with 19 out of 22 placement kicks for extra points in Tulsa's four earlier games, missed this all-important boot.

MISSISSIPPI ELEVEN TO PLAY GEORGIA CHAMPIONS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Meridian "Cats," claimants of the Mississippi high school football championship, will meet Georgia's outstanding high school team here Christmas day.

The game will be a substitute for the annual Blue-Gray college all-star tilt, which for several years has pitted outstanding players from North and South in a post-season clash at Cramton Bowl.

After running over Laurel and Jackson, Meridian downed Tupelo Friday night, 62 to 0. In seven straight wins, the Cats have scored an even 300 points.

Boys High school and Tech High school of Atlanta meet next Friday in a contest that has bearing on the state championship and the team to be matched against the Mississippi champions, sponsors of an annual charity game here said.

CAMP LEJEUNE 14; CAMP DAVIS 0

NEW RIVER, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Camp Lejeune marines defeated the Camp Davis football team, 14-0, here today as they continued a spectacular mid-season comeback which has seen three straight victories prior to today's.

The Leathernecks got the jump on the soldiers' Blue Brigade and pushed over touchdowns in the second and final period periods. They also threatened on other occasions.

DALEY AND HIRSCH LEAD MICHIGAN TO 42-6 WIN

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Bill Daley and Elroy Hirsch, Michigan's heralded lend-lease backs from Minnesota and Wisconsin, turned on the power against Illinois' undermanned football team today for two touchdowns apiece, and the Wolverines had no trouble in scoring a 42-to-6 success for their fifth victory in six starts.

Before an Illinois homecoming crowd of 13,500, Michigan jammed across three touchdowns in the first half and three more in the second, but even Daley and Hirsch had to tip their helmets to a diminutive pair of Illini halfbacks, Eddie McGovern and Eddie Bray, who did a lot of classy running and collaborated on a pass play for the lone Illinois touchdown.

Playing in his last football game before reporting Tuesday to the naval training station, Daley smashed over the goal line from the two-yard line in the first period and again from the 10 in the second quarter, and his long gains helped set up the two markers.

Hirsch tallied the game's first touchdown from the nine after an 86-yard Wolverine drive on the opening series of the contest, and clicked again from the four in the third period after a 73-yard Michigan advance.

LIONS AND TIGERS HAVE OPEN DATES

Ouachita Rests Up For Byrd; Neville Seeks Tilt With Clarks This Week

Monroe's two high school football teams, the Ouachita Parish High school Lions and the Neville High school Tigers, have open dates on their schedules for this week, but Coach Egin Boggs of the Bengals said last night there is a strong possibility that Neville will slate a game with Clarks.

Coach Boggs, whose lightweight eleven showed surprising form in holding the heavier and much more experienced Ruston Bearcats to a 24-6 victory Friday, said negotiations were underway to have the Clarks High school Lumberjacks come here for a game Thursday afternoon.

The Ouachita Lions, who lost a hard fought game to the favored Fair Park Indians of Shreveport, 25-0, here Friday afternoon, have two weeks in which to get ready for the powerful Byrd High school Yellow Jackets, the outfit the "experts" have already tagged as the team to beat in the Class AA conference race.

Coach George Riser's Lions meet Byrd in Shreveport on the week-end of November 20 but the actual date has not yet been set. Coach Riser reported last night that Byrd was as yet undecided whether to play the game on Thursday or Friday of that week.

The Lions came out of the Fair Park game in good shape except for the usual crop of bruises. Miller Free, quarterback, who came out of the game in the last half with an arm injury was reported all right yesterday after an X-ray examination that revealed no fractures. However, the arm was badly bruised at the elbow. Ouachita ends the season here on Thanksgiving day with the Bolton Bears of Alexandria.

The Tigers emerged from their scrap with Ruston in good shape and all should be in top form for the Lumberjacks, if the Clarks game is assured.

Charlie Brown, who was in the Neville backfield Friday in the place of the injured Bobby Holmes, scored Neville's first touchdown of the year to give the Ruston margin of victory to three touchdowns.

Reports from observers who have seen Neville in action in all games this year were that the Tigers, although defeated, seemingly "found themselves at Ruston and realized they could play when they tried hard enough."

Hugh Smith, center, J. W. Graves, fullback, Bob Phillips, guard, and George Luffey, end, were especially praised for their work against Ruston, the quartet showing decided improvement over past performances while the team as a whole also worked much better.

GARDNER TO URGE TEXAS LOOP TO RESUME PLAY

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Serious consideration to resumption of Texas league operations next year will be urged by J. Alvin Gardner, president, when representatives of his eight member clubs assemble here at his call November 13 for their first official meeting since the Shreveport gathering last February.

Aside from being optimistic over the prospects for an early favorable turn in the war, Gardner is thoroughly convinced that the public wants baseball and needs it for its recreational and morale stimulation qualities.

"Last year I thought the people wouldn't want baseball," he explained. "Now I see that I was wrong. The professional leagues that did operate last season drew well."

The manpower situation presents a problem, the league president admitted, "but I believe it can be solved. * * * I don't think we'll have too much trouble rounding up enough talent to operate a very good league."

Gardner will not insist upon a definite commitment at the November 15 meeting. He does think the magnates should go on record, however, as being agreeable to resumption of play in 1944 if world conditions permit and have tentative plans laid before the national convention in New York in December.

PARKER, SWENSON ON MAT PROGRAM

Pair Billed In Main Event At Monroe Wrestling Arena Wednesday

Main event on Wednesday night's mat program here will be a clash between Jack Swenson, rugged grappler from Kalamazoo, Mich., and Allen "Sailor" Parker, the Tennessee toughie, it was announced last night by Promoter Gus Kallio.

Swenson and Parker were semi-finalists on last week's light-heavy championship card that featured Jack Steele and "Dutch" Schultz, and they put on a brawl that was the equal of the feature attraction as a crowd pleaser.

It was largely on the strength of their performance last Wednesday that brought the two bruisers top billing on this week's program.

Swenson, a powerful Swede and favorite with the customers, won straight falls from the Nashville villain in their last scramble with the help of the disqualification of Parker for assaulting the referee during one fall.

Parker's brawling with Referee Allen Corbin, in addition to the Swenson assignment, only brought him trouble. Objecting to Corbin's efforts to break illegal holds, Parker engaged the ring official in a first fall slugfest that cost him the fall. In the second heat the same thing almost happened when Parker again attacked the referee and subjected the lighter Corbin to a bone crushing body slam that almost knocked the official out.

The stunned referee had trouble gaining his feet with all intent and purpose of ruling Parker disqualified, but Swenson saved him the trouble by giving the ex-sailor a good dose of body slams and followed with a body cover to win.

Promoter Kallo last night had not been able to bill a semi-final event but said the principals in the curtain raiser would most likely be announced Monday.

VIRGINIA 34; V. M. I. 0

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The University of Virginia Cavaliers dropped in on Virginia Military Institute homecoming festivities for nearly two and one-half hours here today, served Coach Frank Murray's particular brand of "T" to 2,500 fans and paraded to a 34-to-0 victory.

The Cavaliers simply were too good for the cadets, but here today. They blocked V. M. I.'s punts, and stole their passes, and worked their "T" formation to perfection.

MENARD '11' BEATS LUMBERJACKS, 19-0

CLARKS, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The strong Menard Memorial High school Eagles of Alexandria trounced the Clarks High school Lumberjacks, 19 to 0, here last night.

Matthews raced 59 yards for the first Eagle touchdown in the opening quarter. In the second period a lateral pass play, Gravel to Lewis to Matthews, was good for 65 yards and another score, and in the final period Gravel passed to Lewis over the goal line for the final touchdown. Gravel dropkicked for the extra point after the last touchdown for the only extra point of the game.

The lineups:

Menard	Pos.	Clarks
Mannas	LE	Nessmith
Madden	LT	Parker
Scallan	LG	Storey
McCauley	C	Eason

Matthews	FB	Richmond

WAKE FOREST 41; CLEMSON 12

CLEMSON, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Wake Forest's demon Deacons came from behind to spoil homecoming festivities for Clemson's young Tigers before 3,500 spectators today, 41 to 12.

Displaying two brief flashes to the good form they have enjoyed spasmodically this fall, Clemson's Tigers marched 86 yards through a clearly superior Wake Forest line to open scoring late in the first quarter. Midway in the second quarter Coach Frank Howard's youngsters cleared the way for a 75-yard touchdown run by Tiger Wingback Jim Whitmire, who also contributed 64 yards in Clemson's first touchdown parade.

SELMAN TAKES ON LAKE CHARLES HERE TODAY

Cyclones Seeking Revenge For Previous Loss To Huge Flying Tigers

Undefeated Lake Charles army air field and the Selman field football teams, Selman having been beaten only by Lake Charles in the season's opener, clash at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon on the gridiron of the Neville High school stadium in a battle that should rate on par with any pigskin fracas seen in this section this fall.

Hoping to assume the role of giant killers, the vastly improved Cyclones of Selman have pointed for the battle today against the huge Flying Tigers and are blood-thirsty for revenge to ease the pain of that setback in the curtain raiser at Lake Charles two weeks ago. With a much more coordinated attack and with the addition of a natural leader in William (Dub) Mattis, who was named on several all-American selections while playing with Tulane's Green Wave and who joined the Selman squad this week, the Cyclones are in a much better position to give the mighty Tigers a run for their money than they were two weeks ago.

Triple-threat Mattis will not be in the starting lineup this afternoon when the Cyclones trot out on the field, but he is certain to see plenty of action. Another performer who won't be in the opening eleven but who will be in the game as long as possible and be a mighty big help while he is in there is "Hammering Hank" Agusiewicz. This former George Washington university ace missed last week's game with Camp Livingston because of injuries and he is expected to be able to appear today for only limited service, but that little bit of service might well be the difference between victory and defeat for the Cyclones. Undoubtedly one of the best linesmen to ever appear in these parts, Agusiewicz is the kingpin of the Selman defense and can be depended on to give invaluable aid while in the lineup.

The injury jinx has robbed the Cyclones of two of their most capable linesmen on the eve of the all-important clash, but able replacements will make the loss less keenly felt. Ed Schumacher, clever guard and former all-Conference at Louisiana Normal, and Ralph Whitman, bruising tackle who starred for L. S. U. will be the missing links. Schumacher has a bad leg and Whitman is sidelined with a bum ankle. This still leaves the Selman combine with five top notch guards, Melvin Russell, Freemon Nixon, Fred Heinlen, Agusiewicz and Herbert Davis, to throw into the gap with Russell and Nixon slated to be the starters. Willard Keland will replace Whitman at the starting tackle position to team up with Melvin Delgado. Gordon Hansen, Lawson Howland and Jimmy Ulrich will be around for reserve duty.

Outweighed in every department, the Cyclones have cast their main stock for victory in their deceptive running attack built around the tricky "T" formation. With "Jack Rabbit" Jesse Nichols, Bob Swanson, Gerald Braud, DeSales Cavey, Jimmy Harris, Mack Bishop, Bob Cook, Vito Pernicone and Mattis, all fairly light but speed demons, to carry the mail, the Selman outfit hopes to run around the Tigers instead of trying to run over them as in the last tilt.

Prospects of an aerial circus being unleashed by the Cyclones also appear bright today. Mattis, whose leaping, running pass is one of the main reasons he drew so much attention at Tulane, can toss a football around like a baseball and forwards are liable to explode all over the massive Lake Charles defenders. MIGHTY IRISH SMOTHER NAVY '11', 33-6; BERTELLI STARS

Notre Dame Ace Ruins Middie Unbeaten Record In Last Game

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Notre Dame's mighty Irish took a long stride toward the national championship and their first perfect season since 1930 as they smothered hitherto unbeaten-untied Navy 33 to 6 today before 82,000 fans in Cleveland's jammed Lakefront stadium.

It was the sixth straight win for the South Bend team, and it gave the Irish 261 points to 31 for the combined opposition.

The victory belonged to Notre Dame, but the story belongs to "Accurate Angelo" Bertelli, the 173-pound quarterback and passer deluxe, who sang his collegiate swan song, for the duration at least, loud enough for the world to hear. He reports to Parris Island, S. C., for further training with the marines.

The Notre Dames struck after a punt exchange early in the first period. With the ball on Navy's 48, Bertelli hit Halfback Julius Rykovich, who scored without a hand touching him.

At the start of the second period, Bertelli connected for a six-yarder and an eight-yarder and made it three in a row with a long one to Creighton Miller which covered 52 yards for another touchdown. Three times Miller was bottled up, but shook all tacklers to score.

The Navy started moving, as Hamberg connected on three of four passes for the lone Middie touchdown. He threw a seven-yarder to Sub Back Bill Barron, a 14-yarder to Hillis Hume, and picked Barron out of a mass of Notre Dame defenders and hit him for the touchdown.

A three-yard pass from Bertelli to End John Yonakor on the fifth play of the third period gave Notre Dame its third score, after Fullback Jim Mello ran for 38 and Miller for 25 on consecutive plays. Late in the same session Mello intercepted a pass on his own 40 and reached the six before being hauled down, Miller finally plunging three yards for the touchdown.

The last marker came late in the contest, Bertelli plunging over from the two after Vic Kulbitski, sub fullback, scampered around his left end for 72 yards to the Middie six, where Sub Back Jim Pettit caught him from behind.

Today's defeat was the worst ever suffered by Navy at the hands of the scrapping Irish and gave Notre Dame 14 victories against three defeats in the long series with the Sailors.

The starting lineup:

Notre Dame	Pos.	Navy
Limont	LE	Channell
White	LT	Whitmire
Filley	LG	Brown
Coleman	C	J. Martin
Perko	RG	Chase
Czarobski	RT	Sprinkle
Yonakor	RE	Johnston
Bertelli	QB	Nelson
Miller	LH	Crawley
Rykovich	RH	D. Martin
Mello	FB	Hume

Score by quarters:

Notre Dame	6	7	14	6	—33
Navy	0	6	0	0	—6

Notre Dame scoring: Touchdowns, Rykovich, Miller 2, Yonakor, Bertelli. Points after touchdown, Bertelli 3 (placekicks).

Navy scoring: Touchdown, Barron (sub for B. Martin).

RICE 13; TEXAS TECH 0

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Rice Owls passed and ran their way to their first victory today, defeating Texas Tech's Red Raiders, 13-0.

A crowd of 5,000 watched the Owls three times drive within the Tech ten-yard line before they could score.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Story out of Washington—via Walter McCallum, ear-to-the-ground Evening Star scribe—is that Los Angles interests are offering $100,000 for the National Football league playoff with the idea of staging it in the Rose Bowl. . . . Since the Redskins are likely to be the eastern playoff team, the report may carry considerable weight. . . . Since the playoff is scheduled for December 19 in the Midwest, such a shift would eliminate a lot of financial uncertainty even though it did deprive some fans of (1) a last chance to see the team they follow all season and (2) pneumonia.

Alma Stranger

Scrap Collection

Westminister college, a garden basketball "regular," will be back again this winter with a trainee team. . . . Bob Artman, last season's top scorer for Doc Carlson at Pitt, will head the Titans. . . . The Rev. Arnold Fenton, who taught Yale's Scooter Scussel to boot a football 70 yards or so, says that when Ray first started at the U. of Connecticut he "hooked the ball like a heifer side-kicking a harsh milker." . . . Jerry Lawrence, New York radio man who golfs in the 70s, used to caddy for Bing Crosby in California. It's reported that Jerry also croons a bit when he takes over a pal for a couple of bucks on the links. . . . When St. Mary's High school of Rutherford, N. J., entertains Cardinal Hayes of New York tomorrow, the coaches will be otherwise engaged. St. Mary's is coached by Bob Trocolar and Cardinal Hayes by Ward Cuff, both of the Giants.

Service Department

The Sampson, N. Y., naval station basketball team has been booked for a couple of double headers in Buffalo's civic auditorium, if navy rules about playing off-base don't interfere. Opposition will be either Colorado Aggies or Brigham Young in one bill and East Texas and U. of Savannah in the other, with Canisius college taking the other half. . . . While Charley Brickley, Harvard's famous dropkicker, is working in a Wilmington, Del., shipyard, Sergeant Charley, Jr., is with the army somewhere in England and another son, Private First Class John of the marines, is attached to a M. A Pheasant Time Was Had

Captain Don Casety of the army air corps, former Syracuse U. tennis coach, spent two days of a brief furlough tramping the woods and fields near his home in a vain search for a pheasant. . . . As he was breakfasting his last morning at home, Don looked out the window and saw a cock pheasant. . . . He grabbed his gun, stepped out and bagged the bird, then discovered he had only five minutes to catch the train back to his base. . . . His wife wrote that she enjoyed the meal he had provided. . . . A case of going hunting—instead of fishing—and getting nary a bite.

TULANE DEFEATED BY SKYCRACKERS

Georgia Pre-Flight Eleven Noses Out Green Wave By 14-13 Count

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Steve Filipowicz's passing and expert place kicking by Pat Harder gave the Skycrackers of Georgia pre-flight a 14-to-12 win over the Tulane Green Wave here today before 18,000 fans in a bitterly fought game.

Filipowicz, a second string All-America back at Fordham, pitched a touchdown pass to End Warren Tiller, a high school kid from Orlando, Fla., late in the first quarter, and Harder, another second string All-America from Wisconsin, kicked the point to offset an early Tulane touchdown and conversion.

Filipowicz passed to Harder for the second Skycracker touchdown early in the third period, Harder taking the ball on the Tulane 5-yard line and scoring standing up. Harder kicked the game-winning point from placement.

Tulane was first to score, Tailback Billy Jones flipping a 32-yard six-pointer to Ken Tarzetti, lanky end, for a touchdown in the first four minutes of play. Jones added the point from placement to give the Greenies a 7-to-0 lead.

Tarzetti blocked Filipowicz's punt and Gaston Bourgeois recovered on the pre-flight 49 to start the Greenies on their first touchdown drive. Jones' 17-yard pass to Leonard Finley figured in the march, "Joltin' Joe" Renfroe, veteran wingback, put Tulane back in the game early in the fourth quarter by traveling 41 yards on a reverse for a touchdown. A 65-yard punt by Renfroe had backed the Skycrackers deep into their own territory and paved the way for the score. Jim Shiver, tranfer back from Auburn, attempted the extra point from placement, but missed.

The pre-flighters' first touchdown came on a 21-yard drive after a weak punt by Renfroe, and the second was good for 43 yards.

Tulane fought desperately to score again in the fourth quarter. With the Wave backed up on its own 3-yard line, Jones passed from behind the Tulane goal, intended for End Warren Jahncke, but the pass missed its mark by inches.

The Skycrackers stalled for time in the last 11 seconds of play. Parker on the Tulane 30 yard line and with fourth down coming up, Filipowicz took the pass from center and ran all the way back to his own 34-yard line as the game ended.

Tulane rolled up 156 yards rushing to 89 for Georgia pre-flight and made 50 yards passing to 60 for the Skycrackers. The Skycrackers led in first downs 13 to 10.

The starting lineups:

Ga. Pre-Flight	Pos.	Tulane
Shepherd	LE	Tarzetti
Hale	LT	G. Jones
A. Walker	LG	Bourgeois
G. Walker	C	Kirschenheuter
Davidsmeyer	RG	McMillan
McFarland	RT	Roseman
Tiller	RE	Taylor
Ramsey	QB	Finley
Nolte	LH	W. Jones
Hoequist	RH	Renfroe
Randall	FB	R. James

Score by quarters:

Georgia pre-flight	7	0	7	0	—14
Tulane	7	0	0	6	—13

Tulane scoring: Touchdowns: Tarzetti, Renfroe. Point after touchdown: Jones (placement).

UNBEATEN TULSA ELEVEN TIED BY SOUTHWESTERN

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Tulsa's hopes for a second straight all-victorious season were shattered today by the powerful marines of Southwestern university, who battled the Golden Hurricane to a 6-6 deadlock before 10,000 fans in Skelly stadium.

Southwestern showed up with its full crew of former college stars and after yielding a first-period touchdown, stormed back to tie the score in the third with a vicious running attack, R. L. Cooper scoring from the four-yard line.

The Hurricane forged into the lead with a 51-yard aerial march, Clyde Leforce hitting Barney White with the payoff throw from the one-yard line. But Leforce, who had connected with 19 out of 22 placement kicks for extra points in Tulsa's four earlier games, missed this all-important boot.

MISSISSIPPI ELEVEN TO PLAY GEORGIA CHAMPIONS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Meridian "Cats," claimants of the Mississippi high school football championship, will meet Georgia's outstanding high school team here Christmas day.

The game will be a substitute for the annual Blue-Gray college all-star tilt, which for several years has pitted outstanding players from North and South in a post-season clash at Cramton Bowl.

After running over Laurel and Jackson, Meridian downed Tupelo Friday night, 62 to 0. In seven straight wins, the Cats have scored an even 300 points.

Boys High school and Tech High school of Atlanta meet next Friday in a contest that has bearing on the state championship and the team to be matched against the Mississippi champions, sponsors of an annual charity game here said.

CAMP LEJEUNE 14; CAMP DAVIS 0

NEW RIVER, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Camp Lejeune marines defeated the Camp Davis football team, 14-0, here today as they continued a spectacular mid-season comeback which has seen three straight victories prior to today's.

The Leathernecks got the jump on the soldiers' Blue Brigade and pushed over touchdowns in the second and final period periods. They also threatened on other occasions.

DALEY AND HIRSCH LEAD MICHIGAN TO 42-6 WIN

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Bill Daley and Elroy Hirsch, Michigan's heralded lend-lease backs from Minnesota and Wisconsin, turned on the power against Illinois' undermanned football team today for two touchdowns apiece, and the Wolverines had no trouble in scoring a 42-to-6 success for their fifth victory in six starts.

Before an Illinois homecoming crowd of 13,500, Michigan jammed across three touchdowns in the first half and three more in the second, but even Daley and Hirsch had to tip their helmets to a diminutive pair of Illini halfbacks, Eddie McGovern and Eddie Bray, who did a lot of classy running and collaborated on a pass play for the lone Illinois touchdown.

Playing in his last football game before reporting Tuesday to the naval training station, Daley smashed over the goal line from the two-yard line in the first period and again from the 10 in the second quarter, and his long gains helped set up the two markers.

Hirsch tallied the game's first touchdown from the nine after an 86-yard Wolverine drive on the opening series of the contest, and clicked again from the four in the third period after a 73-yard Michigan advance.

LIONS AND TIGERS HAVE OPEN DATES

Ouachita Rests Up For Byrd; Neville Seeks Tilt With Clarks This Week

Monroe's two high school football teams, the Ouachita Parish High school Lions and the Neville High school Tigers, have open dates on their schedules for this week, but Coach Elgin Boggs of the Bengals said last night there is a strong possibility that Neville will slate a game with Clarks.

Coach Boggs, whose lightweight eleven showed surprising form in holding the heavier and much more experienced Ruston Bearcats to a 24-6 victory Friday, said negotiations were underway to have the Clarks High school Lumberjacks come here for a game Thursday afternoon.

The Ouachita Lions, who lost a hard fought game to the favored Fair Park Indians of Shreveport, 25-0, here Friday afternoon, have two weeks in which to get ready for the powerful Byrd High school Yellow Jackets, the outfit the "experts" have already tagged as the team to beat in the Class AA conference race.

Coach George Riser's Lions meet Byrd in Shreveport on the week-end of November 20, but the actual date has not yet been set. Coach Riser reported last night that Byrd was as yet undecided whether to play the game on Thursday or Friday of that week.

The Lions came out of the Fair Park game in good shape, except for the usual crop of bruises. Miller Frey, quarterback, who came out of the game in the last half with an arm injury, was reported all right yesterday after an X-ray examination that revealed no fractures. However, the army was badly bruised at the elbow. Ouachita ends the season here on Thanksgiving day with the Bolton Bears of Alexandria.

The Tigers emerged from their scrap with Ruston in good shape and all should be in top form for the Lumberjacks, if the Clarks game is assured.

Charlie Brown, who was in the Neville backfield Friday in the place of the injured Bobby Holmes, scored Neville's first touchdown of the year to slice the Ruston margin of victory to three touchdowns.

Reports from observers who have seen Neville in action in all games this year were that the Tigers, although defeated, seemingly "found themselves at Ruston and realized they could play when they tried hard enough."

Hugh Smith, center, J. W. Graves, fullback, Bob Phillips, guard, and George Luffey, end, were especially praised for their work against Ruston, the quartet showing decided improvement over past performances while the team as a whole also worked much better.

GARDNER TO URGE TEXAS LOOP TO RESUME PLAY

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Serious consideration to resumption of Texas league operations next year will be urged by J. Alvin Gardner, president, when representatives of his eight member clubs assemble here at his call November 13 for their first official meeting since the Shreveport gathering last February.

Aside from being optimistic over the prospcts for an early favorable turn in the war, Gardner is thoroughly convinced that the public wants baseball and needs it for its recreational and morale stimulation qualities.

"Last year I thought the people wouldn't want baseball," he explained. "Now I see that I was wrong. The professional leagues that did operate last season drew well."

The manpower situation presents a problem, the league president admitted, "but I believe it can be solved. * * * I don't think we'll have too much trouble rounding up enough talent to operate a very good league."

Gardner will not insist upon a definite commitment at the November 15 meeting. He does think the magnates should go on record, however, as being agreeable to resumption of play in 1944 if world conditions permit and have tentative plans laid before the national convention in New York in December.

PARKER, SWENSON ON MAT PROGRAM

Pair Billed In Main Event At Monroe Wrestling Arena Wednesday

Main event on Wednesday night's mat program here will be a clash between Jack Swenson, rugged grappler from Kalamazoo, Mich., and Allen "Sailor" Parker, the Tennessee toughie, it was announced last night by Promoter Gus Kallio.

Swenson and Parker were semi-finalists on last week's light-heavy championship card that featured Jack Steele and "Dutch" Schultz, and they put on a brawl that was the equal of the feature attraction as a crowd pleaser.

It was largely on the strength of their performance last Wednesday that brought the two bruisers top billing on this week's program.

Swenson, a powerful Swede and favorite with the customers, won straight falls from the Nashville villain in their last scramble with the help of the disqualification of Parker for assaulting the referee during one fall.

Parker's brawling with Referee Allen Corbin, in addition to the Swenson assignment, only brought him trouble. Objecting to Corbin's efforts to break illegal holds, Parker engaged the ring official in a first fall slugfest that cost him the fall. In the second heat the same thing almost happened when Parker again attacked the referee and subjected the lighter Corbin to a bone crushing body slam that almost knocked the official out.

The stunned referee had trouble gaining his feet with all intent and purpose of ruling Parker disqualified, but Swenson saved him the trouble by giving the ex-sailor a good dose of body slams and followed with a body cover to win.

Promoter Kallio last night had not been able to bill a semi-final event but said the principals in the curtain-raiser would most likely be announced Monday.

VIRGINIA 34; V. M. I. 0

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The University of Virginia Cavaliers dropped in on Virginia Military institute homecoming festivities for nearly two and one-half hours here today, served Coach Frank Murray's particular brand of "T" to 2,500 fans and paraded to a 34-to-0 victory.

The Cavaliers simply were too much for the cadets out here today. They blocked V. M. I.'s punts, and stole their passes, and worked their "T" formation to perfection.

MENARD '11' BEATS LUMBERJACKS, 19-0

CLARKS, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The strong Menard Memorial High school Eagles of Alexandria trounced the Clarks High school Lumberjacks, 19 to 0, here last night.

Matthews raced 59 yards for the first Eagle touchdown in the opening quarter. In the second period a lateral pass play, Gravel to Lewis to Matthews, was good for 65 yards and another score, and in the final period Gravel passed to Lewis over the goal line for the final touchdown. Gravel dropkicked for the extra point after the last touchdown for the only extra point of the game.

CLEMSON, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Wake Forest's demon Deacons came from behind to spoil homecoming festivities for Clemson's young Tigers before 3,500 spectators today, 41 to 12.

Displaying two brief flashes to the good form they have enjoyed spasmodically this fall, Clemson's Tigers marched 86 yards through a clearly superior Wake Forest line to open scoring late in the first quarter. Midway in the second quarter Coach Frank Howard's youngsters cleared the way for a 75-yard touchdown run by Tiger Wingback Jim Whitmire, who also contributed 64 yards in Clemson's first touchdown parade.

launching a major front in western Europe.

Betraying the Nazis' deep uneasiness over the dangers etched for them in President Roosevelt's disclosure that the conference was succeeding, Berlin sounded this general line:

The United States and Britain have been "compelled to yield to all demands of Moscow," and lost their grip upon exiled governments by giving up their insistence upon independence of small European states after the war. From this, it was argued, Germany would "gain new followers."

Quoting Stockholm's Svenska Dagladet, one Nazi broadcast said "England and America made a detailed proposition to the Soviet union regarding a second front with a fixed date" and thus "gained the favor of the Soviet negotiators."

A second conclusion reached at the meeting "as a result of the compliant attitude which was surprisingly shown by the Soviet government" was upon post-war reconstruction in Russia with Allied aid, this report added.

In London, President Roosevelt's announcement was hailed as setting the seal on the defeat of Hitler, and cauliking any chink that might have existed in Allied unity.

"With this news rings the death knell of Hitler and all his criminal associates," said the Communist Daily Worker. The Evening Standard declared that the conference "gives political reality to freedom's cause. Its success is tremendous and solemn and uplifting."

Sounding the well-worn phrases of Communist menace, a transocean propaganda agency broadcast declared that Britain and the United States had knuckled down to all of Russia's demands and that the exiled governments now "realize that England is no longer able to support or protect them. They realize that they must now make a clear choice between Moscow and Berlin."

Swanson also are capable of tossing the pigskin with unerring accuracy, while these chunkers have a set of pass snagging receivers in Nichols, Bishop and Cavey, backs, and Al Tandyrak, Bob D'Angelo, Frank Musgrave, Harold Hackney and Bernard Ryan, ends, the latter being a 6 foot and 4 1-2 inch lad who makes an ideal target.

While deception is the main forte of the Selman eleven, pure unadulterated power built around the churning legs of Eddie Benson carries the hope of the Lake Charles juggernaut. Benson still retains the line busting ability that carried him to fame as a member of the Fordham Rams and he has already scored five touchdowns in the two games he has performed with the Flying Tigers. Always ready to explode in the face of his opponents is Frank Scavone, 150-pound scatback, who shares the leather lugging duties with Benson. Paul Cookingham, 200, Nick Rodis, 200, Morris Udall, 200, Jacob Champion, 220, and Harry Cook, 203, take care of the defensive duties as a whole.

Extra bleachers have been built along the east side line of the Neville stadium to assure plenty of seating space for the large crowd anticipated to see the "grudge" battle. The largest crowd to see a local game this year was on hand last Sunday as Selman plastered a defeat on Camp Livingston, 12 to 6, and an even greater throng of spectators is indicated for the clash this afternoon between the two crack elevens.

POST-WAR PLANS

men a hat full of specific problems on which he asked them to advise. One estimate is that there were 18 different problems in the bunch. The group will report back to him with specific proposals on several of the most urgent of these matters on November 22.

One of these initial proposals will be on termination of war contracts held by about 100,000 prime war producers and more than 1,000,000 subcontractors. Government and business agree that speed in this work is essential once peace is won. In most instances termination payments will furnish the contractors capital for changing to civilian production.

Contract termination is one of many war-end and post-war problems on which numerous government offices are working. The business men also made it clear to the president that many private concerns are laying their own plans for post-war production; and that organizations like the chamber of commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, as well as labor and farm organizations, are tackling phases of readjustment.

The missing piece in all this, some of the president's business advisers agreed, is a head-piece—an agency to fit together the work of federal offices and private advisory groups on contract termination, army and navy demobilization, post-war jobs and unemployment, public works, loans and the like.

SOUTHWESTERN AND TOP SERVICE TEAM MAY PLAY

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Marine Captains Charles J. Maisel and Andrew R. Davis today proposed a football game between the Southwestern Louisiana institute eleven, and Randolph field, champion service team of Texas.

The contest, suggested here for November 13, would climax a week's celebration of the 168th anniversary of the marine corps.

S. L. I., untied and undefeated conqueror of Southwestern university of Georgetown, the only team that holds a decision over the University of Texas, has expressed a willingness to meet any available opponent. Randolph field, boasting an all-star cast headed by All-American Glenn Dobbs, formerly of Tulsa university, is being contacted and a definite answer is expected Monday or Tuesday. The Fliers have rolled over all opponents to date, including the Rice Owls and the best service teams in the state.

BAIT-CASTING LURES

It is hard to determine who should have credit for first using the artificial lure as a means of catching fish. Some give it to the Indians, who had a contraption made of cedar that somewhat resembled a fish, but it was probably used more as a decoy in spearing fish than actually to catch them.

The Esquimaux, however, had a spoon or wobbler made out of bone with which they had success catching fish, and doubtless were using this long before our forefathers ever heard of Izaak Walton.

It was James Heddon, founder of James Heddon's Sons company, of Dowagiac, Mich., who nearly a half century ago originated and developed the "Dowagiac Minnow," the first artificial plug or bait designed for bait casting. So popular did this lure become that all plug baits were known for years afterward as "Dowagiacs."

This first lure (still produced in its original form, and preferred by many "old timers") opened the door for an avalanche of baits of every sort, type and description, with the result that the patent office in Washington has had over 4,000 different applications for artificial minnows since the day that Heddon first produced his.

When one considers that in all probability it was planned to finish each of the minnows in at least 10 different colors, it will be seen that the poor unsuspecting angler has only to make his choice from about 40,000 different kinds of designs, colors, etc.

Out of this maze of lures there have been only about a score or more, however, that have stood the acid test of time and proven their value as fish-getters of the "first water," and it is only these that the angler needs to consider.

Roughly, there are only three types of lures; the strictly surface bait, the semi-underwater, i. e., the type that floats until it is retrieved, and then dives and wobbles; and the strictly underwater. The underwater lures can be subdivided into artificial minnows and lures of pork-rind type. It is wise to have at least two each of the three different types mentioned above in your tackle box.

For surface lures select one with a head decidedly concave, which will make a loud gurgle or pop when the line is sharply jerked, such as a "chugger" or "basser." Another type of surface bait desirable to have is one equipped with spinners at each end like a "wounded minnow," or with a spoon at the tail, such as a "flap-tail."

When it comes to semi-underwater baits, those with a metal "lip" that give the bait a swimming action when it is retrieved are to be preferred; a dark colored one and a light colored one should suffice, although it is advisable to have them in different sizes—a small one like the floating "river runt" and a larger one like the "vamp." These types of baits also come in jointed models which, at times, are quite effective.

Two types of strictly underwater minnows are desirable of the regular sinking type, such as the sinking "river runt," and one with large lip to "go-deeper," when the fish are in the deeper waters. This latter type is especially effective for wall-eyes.

Pork-rind lures are to be preferred in the nickel finish with a white, yellow or red bucktail. Best results will be had by using a strip of pork-rind not more than 2 1-4 inches long, and splitting the end of it so as to give additional action. The hook should be placed as near the head of the pork-rind strip as possible.

VICTOR MATURE IS UNATTACHED AGAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Victor Mature, one of Hollywood's most engaging—and engaged—young men, is unattached again.

Mature, whose engagement to Rita Hayworth ended when she married Orson Welles, has concluded a short engagement with Anne Shirley.

Last Monday Miss Shirley reported that she and Mature, now of the United States coast guard, would wed "as soon as we can find time."

Last night she said the wedding was off, adding:

"You know how women can change their minds."

Hot Off The Gridiron

NORTHWESTERN 42; MINNESOTA 6

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—In one final splurge before 10 if its players depart next week under the V-12 program, Northwestern flexed its full power today to smash Minnesota, 42-6—the most lop-sided triumph in the two schools' ancient and bitter rivalry since 1905.

The Wildcats dispatched six different players into the touchdown area, with Don Buffmire, a fullback playing his final game until after the war, galloping 13 and 21 yards to score in the second quarter and flicking a 30-yard pass to sub End Duane Sickels for the last marker of the game.

A homecoming crowd of 32,000 watched Northwestern's vicious ground and aerial attack propel the Wildcats to their first win over the Gophers since 1939 and their fourth in five starts this season.

The Gophers scored their consolation touchdown in the first four minutes of the game after Mike Rapko recovered Buffmire's fumble on the Wildcat 46. Hoyt Moncrief then slipped away for 37 yards and Chuck Avery drove four yards to score.

PURDUE 32; WISCONSIN 0

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Purdue's accomplished football troupe, spotlighting "Touchdown Tony" Butkovich in his farewell performance, routed a powerless Wisconsin eleven here today, 32 to 0, before 10,000 fans.

Relying largely on their ground game, the Purdue model "T" rolled over the goal line once each in the first, second and third quarters and twice in the final.

The first period touchdown followed a fumble by Wisconsin's Ray Dooney on the Badger 33, the Boilermakers sending Butkovich around end on the next play for the six points.

In the second period, Butkovich climaxed a 67-yard march with a one yard touchdown thrust. Stan Dubicki's placement for extra point was good, and Purdue left the field at half time ahead, 13 to 0.

After being on the defensive during the early part of the third period, the Boilermakers scored again on a 46-yard sweep around end immediately after Guard Dick Barwegen had scooped up a Wisconsin fumble. Butkovich's drop-kick was wide.

N. CAROLINA 23; N. C. STATE 13

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—A fighting N. C. State Wolfpack staged a last quarter comeback here today and scored twice to hold the V-12 packed North Carolina Tarheels to a 23-13 score.

The Tarheels won the game, but the Wolfpack stole the show with its fancy passing attack. Carolina scored once each in the first and second periods and added a pair in the third. Both State touchdowns were in the fourth. Ulysses Cornogg was a standout in the Tarheel line, spending most of the afternoon in State's backfield. State's Howard Turner and Buck Sutton shared backfield honors with Bob Andrews, while Eddie Teague, Buddy Myers and George Grimes were the ace ball handlers for the Tarheels.

The second Tarheel touchdown came after some four minutes of the second quarter. Myers gathered in a State kick on the Tarheel 46 and sprinted 31 yards to the State 27.

On the next play, Myers fumbled chased the ball back to the State 40 and, after picking it up, found himself hemmed in. Unperturbed, he heaved an impromptu pass to Joe Kiskinki, who gathered it in on the Wolfpack 27 and with perfect interference ran down the sidelines for the score. This time Grimes converted.

TEXAS 20; S. M. U. 0

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Mighty Texas didn't allow Southern Methodist the solace of even a first down today in rolling over the Mustangs, 20-0, in a Southwest conference football game.

The Longhorn machine sputtered at times but mostly it was driving deep into Methodist territory and using the terrific running of Ralph Ellsworth and J. P. Calahan to batter the Mustangs for touchdowns in the first, second and fourth periods before a crowd of 12,000.

The first touchdown was on a 42-yard march after fleet Ralph Park had brought back a long punt. Calahan scored from the one-foot line and Park converted.

The next touchdown followed a punt return by Ellsworth to the Mustang 33. It took just three plays. Andy Robinson passed to Joe Parker for 14, and Calahan cracked over in two plays. Calahan added the point.

TEXAS AGGIES 13; ARKANSAS 0

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The beardless Texas Aggies were completely pass-happy today to wallop the Arkansas Razorbacks, 13-0, as some 4,500 homecoming fans saw the youthful Texans strengthen their bid for Southwest conference honors.

Babe Hallmark and Earl Beesley tossed 20 passes, completing 15 for 201 yards while suffering two interceptions. Passes accounted for both Aggie touchdowns, which came in the second and fourth periods.

MARYLAND 43; GREENVILLE ARMY 18

GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Maryland uncovered a group of high-speed, hard-plunging ball carriers today and defeated the 334th bomb group of the Greenville army air base today, 43 to 18.

The Old Liners scored three touchdowns in the first period, added another on the first play of the second and finished off their point making performance with three more touchdowns in the third period. Maryland exceeded the aviators in every manner of play but showed a weakness on conversions, kicking but one of seven efforts.

ARKANSAS A. AND M. 35; MIAMI 0

MEMPHIS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Unbeaten, untied Arkansas A. and M., featuring a slashing attack, roared to its fourth victory of the season today, repelling Miami (O.) university before 3,000 fans at Crump stadium, 35 to 0.

Charley Steed, 190-pound marine transfer from Arkansas Tech, was the wheelhorse in a diversified land-air assault that netted one touchdown in the first period, two in the third and two in the fourth.

Steed ripped off runs of 28, 50 and 52 yards, the last with an intercepted pass, to set up the first three markers. The Arkansas Aggies pulled their first stringers after amassing this lead and the substitutes finished.

Miami's Indians made a scrap of it through the first half. Twice they repulsed A. and M. drives within their own 20 but themselves never seriously threatened.

reminding that Barker himself admitted his inability to point to the exact spot from which it was taken.

Higgs recalled that Captain E. W. Melchen, also of the Miami police, took De Marigny to a room on the second floor of Westbourne the day after the body was discovered and questioned him at length.

"Did you go to the door of the room and ask Melchen if everything was okay?" Higgs demanded.

"I did not," firmly replied the witness.

"Wasn't exhibit J taken from some object in that room?"

"Definitely not."

"I suggest you and Captain Melchen definitely planned to get the accused alone to get his fingerprint."

"No, sir."

"I suggest exhibit J never came from that screen."

"It came from panel five on that screen."

The square-jawed, blue-eyed officer still was calm as Higgs came to the final moments of the long cross-examination.

"This is an outstanding case in which your expert assistance is required?" the youthful attorney asked Barker.

"It developed that way."

"I suggest that in your desire for gain and notoriety you have swept aside the truth and substituted fabricated evidence."

"That is untrue."

PENN HOLDS ARMY TO 13-TO-13 TIE

Touchdown Play In Last Period Enables Quakers To Even Up Contest

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Pennsylvania, a 5-to-2 pre-game underdog in its own home town, struck with a spectacular, 71-yard pass and run play early in the fourth period today and gained a 13-to-13 tie with Army in a gridiron test between unbeaten elevens.

Pennsylvania was back on its own 29 when Joe Michaels cocked his arm for a long toss to Bob Odell, a very great football player today. Odell reached up over the heads of four cadets on the Army's 35 and then was chased across the goal line by all members of both teams.

Frank McKernan, the Quaker place kicker, trotted in from the sidelines and added the extra point that brought ecstasy to most of the 71,000 rain-soaked spectators and brought new life to the Quaker team.

Prior to that touchdown play, the cadets had soundly outplayed Penn and seemed to have broken the jinx that has never allowed them to beat Pennsylvania on Franklin field.

The Cadets scored in the first when George Maxon fumbled on the one-yard line and the ball was recovered in the end zone by Tom Lombardo for a touchdown to climax a 53-yard march.

Pennsylvania's first touchdown also came by the aerial route, Joe Kane tossing to Frank Quillen after Glenn Davis, famed Army back, fumbled an attempted second period punt return on his own 29 with Walt Bubien recovering.

McKernan missed that point and set the stage for his re-appearance in the fourth after Maxon registered another Army marker shortly after the third period began.

Prokop's passes on Tech's 36. Billy "Spook" Murphy, former Mississippi State star, dropped one pass incomplete and then found Carver on the goal line with the next pitch to score. Gantt again converted, and it was Duke's ball game, 14-7.

Prokop opened up with a last-minute burst of passes, trying desperately to tie the score, but his receivers either were effectively covered or were tackled before they could get away. He tried eleven passes after Duke's second touchdown, completing three, suffering two interceptions, and twice being downed before getting rid of the ball.

Duke gained 166 yards rushing to 61 for Tech, and 112 by passing against 55 for Tech. Cagily, Duke kept the ball away from Prokop on punts, and only three out of 10 fell within his reach.

launching a major front in western Europe.

Betraying the Nazis' deep uneasiness over the dangers etched for them in President Roosevelt's disclosure that the conference was succeeding, Berlin sounded this general line:

The United States and Britain have been "compelled to yield to all demands of Moscow," and lost their grip upon exiled governments by giving up their insistence upon independence of small European states after the war. From this, it was argued, Germany would "gain new followers."

Quoting Stockholm's Svenska Dagladet, one Nazi broadcast said "England and America made a detailed proposition to the Soviet union regarding a second front with a fixed date" and thus "gained the favor of the Soviet negotiators."

A second conclusion reached at the meeting "as a result of the compliant attitude which was surprisingly shown by the Soviet government" was upon post-war reconstruction in Russia with Allied aid, this report added.

In London, President Roosevelt's announcement was hailed as setting the seal on the defeat of Hitler, and caulking any chink that might have existed in Allied unity.

"With this news rings the death knell of Hitler and all his criminal associates," said the Communist Daily Worker. The Evening Standard declared that the conference "gives political reality to freedom's cause. Its success is tremendous and solemn and uplifting."

Sounding the well-worn phrases of Communist menace, a transocean propaganda agency broadcast declared that Britain and the United States had knuckled down to all of Russia's demands, and that the exiled governments now "realize that England is no longer able to support or protect them. They realize that they must now make a clear choice between Moscow and Berlin."

Swanson also are capable of tossing the pigskin with unerring accuracy, while these chunkers have a set of pass snagging receivers in Nichols, Bishop and Cavey, backs, and Al Tandyrak, Bob D'Angelo, Frank Musgrave, Harold Hackney and Bernard Ryan, ends, the latter being a 6 foot and 4 1-2 inch lad who makes an ideal target.

While deception is the main forte of the Selman eleven, pure unadulterated power built around the churning legs of Eddie Benson carries the hope of the Lake Charles juggernaut. Benson still retains the line busting ability that carried him to fame as a member of the Fordham Rams and he has already scored five touchdowns in the two games he has performed with the Flying Tigers. Always ready to explode in the face of his opponents is Frank Scavone, 150-pound scatback, who shares the leather lugging duties with Benson. Paul Cookingham, 200, Nick Rodis, 200, Morris Udall, 200, Jacob Champion, 220, and Harry Cook, 203, take care of the defensive duties as a whole.

Extra bleachers have been built along the east side line of the Neville stadium to assure plenty of seating space for the large crowd anticipated to see the "grudge" battle. The largest crowd to see a local game this year was on hand last Sunday as Selman plastered a defeat on Camp Livingston, 12 to 6, and an even greater throng of spectators is indicated for the clash this afternoon between the two crack elevens.

POST-WAR PLANS

men a hat full of specific problems on which he asked them to advise. One estimate is that there were 18 different problems in the bunch. The group will report back to him with specific proposals on several of the most urgent of these matters on November 22.

One of these initial proposals will be on termination of war contracts held by about 100,000 prime war producers and more than 1,000,000 subcontractors. Government and business agree that speed in this work is essential once peace is won. In most instances termination payments will furnish the contractors capital for changing to civilian production.

Contract termination is one of many war-end and post-war problems on which numerous government offices are working. The business men also made it clear to the president that many private concerns are laying their own plans for post-war production; and that organizations like the chamber of commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, as well as labor and farm organizations, are tackling phases of readjustment.

The missing piece in all this, some of the president's business advisers agreed, is a head-piece—an agency to fit together the work of federal offices and private advisory groups on contract termination, army and navy demobilization, post-war jobs and unemployment, public works, loans and the like.

SOUTHWESTERN AND TOP SERVICE TEAM MAY PLAY

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Marine Captains Charles J. Maisel and Andrew R. Davis today proposed a football game between the Southwestern Louisiana institute eleven, and Randolph field, champion service team of Texas.

The contest, suggested here for November 13, would climax a week's celebration of the 168th anniversary of the marine corps.

S. L. I., untied and undefeated conqueror of Southwestern university of Georgetown, the only team that holds a decision over the University of Texas, has expressed a willingness to meet any available opponent. Randolph field, boasting an all-star cast headed by All-American Glenn Dobbs, formerly of Tulsa university, is being contacted and a definite answer is expected Monday or Tuesday. The Fliers have rolled over all opponents to date, including the Rice Owls and the best service teams in the state.

BAIT-CASTING LURES

It is hard to determine who should have credit for first using the artificial lure as a means of catching fish. Some give it to the Indians, who had a contraption made of cedar that somewhat resembled a fish, but it was probably used more as a decoy in spearing fish than actually to catch them.

The Esquimaux, however, had a spoon or wobbler made out of bone with which they had success catching fish, and doubtless were using this long before our forefathers ever heard of Izaak Walton.

It was James Heddon, founder of James Heddon's Sons company, of Dowagiac, Mich., who nearly a half century ago originated and developed the "Dowagiac Minnow," the first artificial plug or bait designed for bait casting. So popular did this lure become that all plug baits were known for years afterward as "Dowagiacs."

This first lure (still produced in its original form, and preferred by many "old timers") opened the door for an avalanche of baits of every sort, type and description, with the result that the patent office in Washington has had over 4,000 different applications for artificial minnows since the day that Heddon first produced his.

When one considers that in all probability it was planned to finish each of the minnows in at least 10 different colors, it will be seen that the poor unsuspecting angler has only to make his choice from about 40,000 different kinds of designs, colors, etc.

Out of this maze of lures there have been only about a score or more, however, that have stood the acid test of time and proven their value as fish-getters of the "first water," and it is only these that the angler needs to consider.

Roughly, there are only three types of lures: the strictly surface bait; the semi-underwater, i. e., the type that floats until it is retrieved, and then dives and wobbles; and the strictly underwater. The underwater lures can be subdivided into artificial minnows and lures of pork-rind type. It is wise to have at least two each of the three different types mentioned above in your tackle box.

For surface lures select one with a head decidedly concave, which will make a loud gurgle or pop when the line is sharply jerked, such as a "chugger" or "basser." Another type of surface bait desirable to have is one equipped with spinners at each end like a "wounded minnow," or with a spoon at the tail, such as a "flap-tail."

When it comes to semi-underwater baits, those with a metal "lip" that give the bait a swiming action when it is retrieved are to be preferred; a dark colored one and a light colored one should suffice, although it is advisable to have them in different sizes—a small one like the floating "river runt" and a larger one like the "vamp." These types of baits also come in jointed models which, at times, are quite effective.

Two types of strictly underwater minnows are desirable of the regular sinking type, such as the sinking "river runt," and one with large lip to "go-deeper," when the fish are in the deeper waters. This latter type is especially effective for wall-eyes.

Pork-rind lures are to be preferred in the nickel finish with a white, yellow or red bucktail. Best results will be had by using a strip of pork-rind not more than 2 1-4 inches long, and splitting the end of it so as to give additional action. The hook should be placed as near the head of the pork-rind strip as possible.

VICTOR MATURE IS UNATTACHED AGAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Victor Mature, one of Hollywood's most engaging—and engaged—young men, is unattached again.

Mature, whose engagement to Rita Hayworth ended when she married Orson Welles, has concluded a short engagement with Anne Shirley.

Last Monday Miss Shirley reported that she and Mature, now of the United States coast guard, would wed "as soon as we can find time."

Last night she said the wedding was off, adding:

"You know how women can change their minds."

Mature could not be reached for comment.

Hot Off The Gridiron

NORTHWESTERN 42; MINNESOTA 6

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—In one final splurge before 10 if its players depart next week under the V-12 program, Northwestern flexed its full power today to smash Minnesota, 42-6—the most lop-sided triumph in the two schools' ancient and bitter rivalry since 1905.

The Wildcats dispatched six different players into the touchdown area, with Don Buffmire, a fullback playing his final game until after the war, galloping 13 and 21 yards to score in the second quarter and flicking a 30-yard pass to sub End Duane Sickels for the last marker of the game.

A homecoming crowd of 32,000 watched Northwestern's vicious ground and aerial attack propel the Wildcats to their first win over the Gophers since 1939 and their fourth in five starts this season.

The Gophers scored their consolation touchdown in the first four minutes of the game after Mike Rapko recovered Buffmire's fumble on the Wildcat 46. Hoyt Moncrief then slipped away for 37 yards and Chuck Avery drove four yards to score.

PURDUE 32; WISCONSIN 0

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Purdue's accomplished football troupe, spotlighting "Touchdown Tony" Butkovich in his farewell performance, routed a powerless Wisconsin eleven here today, 32 to 0, before 10,000 fans.

Relying largely on their ground game, the Purdue model "T" rolled over the goal line once each in the first, second and third quarters and twice in the final.

The first period touchdown followed a fumble by Wisconsin's Ray Dooney on the Badger 33, the Boilermakers sending Butkovich around end on the next play for the six points.

In the second period, Butkovich climaxed a 67-yard march with a one yard touchdown thrust. Stan Dubicki's placement for extra point was good, and Purdue left the field at half time ahead, 13 to 0.

After being on the defensive during the early part of the third period, the Boilermakers scored again on a 46-yard sweep around end immediately after Guard Dick Barwegen had scooped up a Wisconsin fumble. Butkovich's drop-kick was wide.

N. CAROLINA 23; N. C. STATE 13

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—A fighting N. C. State Wolfpack staged a last quarter comeback here today and scored twice to hold the V-12 packed North Carolina Tarheels to a 23-13 score.

The Tarheels won the game, but the Wolfpack stole the show with its fancy passing attack. Carolina scored once each in the first and second periods and added a pair in the third. Both State touchdowns were in the fourth.

Ulysses Cornogg was a standout in the Tarheel line, spending most of the afternoon in State's backfield. State's Howard Turner and Buck Sutton shared backfield honors with Bob Andrews, while Eddie Teague, Buddy Myers and George Grimes were the ace ball handlers for the Tarheels.

The second Tarheel touchdown came after some four minutes of the second quarter. Myers gathered in a State kick on the Tarheel 46 and sprinted 31 yards to the State 27.

On the next play, Myers fumbled, chased the ball back to the State 40 and, after picking it up, found himself hemmed in. Unperturbed, he heaved an impromptu pass to Joe Kisinki, who gathered it in on the Wolfpack 27 and with perfect interference ran down the sidelines for the score. This time Grimes converted.

TEXAS 20; S. M. U. 0

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Mighty Texas didn't allow Southern Methodist the solace of even a first down today in rolling over the Mustangs, 20-0, in a Southwest conference football game.

The Longhorn machine sputtered at times but mostly it was driving deep into Methodist territory and using the terrific running of Ralph Ellsworth and J. P. Calahan to batter the Mustangs for touchdowns in the first, second and fourth periods before a crowd of 12,000.

The first touchdown was on a 42-yard march after fleet Ralph Park had brought back a long punt. Calahan scored from the one-foot line and Park converted.

The next touchdown followed a punt return by Ellsworth to the Mustang 33. It took just three plays, Andy Robinson passed to Joe Parker for 14, and Calahan cracked over in two plays. Calahan added the point.

TEXAS AGGIES 13; ARKANSAS 0

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The beardless Texas Aggies went completely pass-happy today to wallop the Arkansas Razorbacks, 13-0, as some 4,500 homecoming fans saw the youthful Texans strengthen their bid for Southwest conference honors.

Babe Hallmark and Earl Beesley tossed 20 passes, completing 15 for 201 yards while suffering two interceptions. Passes accounted for both Aggie touchdowns, which came in the second and fourth periods.

MARYLAND 43; GREENVILLE ARMY 18

GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Maryland uncovered a group of high-speed, hard-plunging ball carriers today and defeated the 334th bomb group of the Greenville army air base today, 43 to 18.

The Old Liners scored three touchdowns in the first period, added another on the first play of the second and finished off their point making performance with three more touchdowns in the third period. Maryland exceeded the aviators in every manner of play but showed a weakness on conversions, kicking but one of seven efforts.

ARKANSAS A. AND M. 35; MIAMI 0

MEMPHIS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Unbeaten, untied Arkansas A. and M., featuring a slashing attack, roared to its fourth victory of the season today, repelling Miami (O.) university before 3,000 fans at Crump stadium, 35 to 0.

Charley Steed, 190-pound marine transfer from Arkansas Tech, was the wheelhorse in a diversified land-air assault that netted one touchdown in the first period, two in the third and two in the fourth.

Steed ripped off runs of 28, 50 and 52 yards, the last with an intercepted pass, to set up the first three markers. The Arkansas Aggies pulled their first stringers after amassing this lead and the substitutes finished.

Miami's Indians made a scrap of it through the first half. Twice they repulsed A. and M. drives within their own 20 but themselves never seriously threatened.

reminding that Barker himself admitted his inability to point to the exact spot from which it was taken.

Higgs recalled that Captain E. W. Melchen, also of the Miami police, took De Marigny to a room on the second floor of Westbourne the day after the body was discovered and questioned him at length.

"Did you go to the door of the room and ask Melchen if everything was okay?" Higgs demanded.

"I did not," firmly replied the witness.

"Wasn't exhibit J taken from some object in that room?"

"Definitely not."

"I suggest you and Captain Melchen definitely planned to get the accused alone to get his fingerprint."

"No, sir."

"I suggest exhibit J never came from that screen."

"It came from panel five on that screen."

The square-jawed, blue-eyed officer still was calm as Higgs came to the final moments of the long cross-examination.

"This is an outstanding case in which your expert assistance is required?" the youthful attorney asked Barker.

"It developed that way."

"I suggest that in your desire for gain and notoriety you have swept aside the truth and substituted fabricated evidence."

"That is untrue."

PENN HOLDS ARMY TO 13-TO-13 TIE

Touchdown Play In Last Period Enables Quakers To Even Up Contest

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Pennsylvania, a 5-to-2 pre-game underdog in its own home town, struck with a spectacular, 71-yard pass and run play early in the fourth period today and gained a 13-to-13 tie with Army in a gridiron test between unbeaten elevens.

Pennsylvania was back on its own 29 when Joe Michaels cocked his arm for a long toss to Bob Odell, a very great football player today. Odell reached up over the heads of four cadets on the Army's 35 and then was chased across the goal line by all members of both teams.

Frank McKernan, the Quaker place kicker, trotted in from the sidelines and added the extra point that brought ecstasy to most of the 71,000 rain-soaked spectators and brought new life to the Quaker team.

Prior to that touchdown play, the cadets had soundly outplayed Penn and seemed to have broken the jinx that has never allowed them to beat Pennsylvania on Franklin field.

The Cadets scored in the first when George Maxon fumbled on the one-yard line and the ball was recovered in the end zone by Tom Lombardo for a touchdown to climax a 53-yard march.

Pennsylvania's first touchdown also came by the aerial route, Joe Kane tossing to Frank Quillen after Glenn Davis, famed Army back, fumbled an attempted second period punt return on his own 29 with Walt Bubien recovering.

McKernan missed that point and set the stage for his re-appearance in the fourth after Maxon registered another Army marker shortly after the third period began.

Prokop's passes on Tech's 36. Billy "Spook" Murphy, former Mississippi State star, dropped one pass incomplete and then found Carver on the goal line with the next pitch to score. Gantt again converted, and it was Duke's ball game, 14-7.

Prokop opened up with a last-minute burst of passes, trying desperately to tie the score, but his receivers either were effectively covered or were tackled before they could get away. He tried eleven passes after Duke's second touchdown, completing three, suffering two interceptions, and twice being downed before getting rid of the ball.

Duke gained 166 yards rushing to 61 for Tech, and 112 by passing against 55 for Tech. Cagily, Duke kept the ball away from Prokop on punts, and only three out of 10 fell within his reach.

voted for 15 per cent and decided today upon 20 per cent. Estimated revenue from the extra five per cent —$40,000,000.

5. A 25 per cent tax on domestic telegraph, radio and cable messages, as compared to the present 15 per cent rate and the tentatively-proposed 20 per cent rate. Added income—$15,000,000.

The committee also rescinded its previous decision to recommend repeal of the present tax on transportation of property, decided to call for retention of the present rates, and voted to include parcel post. The action would save an esimated $189,000,000 from the present tax, and inclusion of parcel post would add another $4,500,000.

Support for the house committee's refusal to accept most of the administration's tax proposals came, meantime, from Chairman George, Democrat, Georgia, of the senate finance committee.

First automatic telephone exchange was set up in La Porte, Ind., in 1892.

URGES BOOSTING PULPWOOD OUTPUT

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Walter M. Dear, chairman of the newspaper pulpwood committee, said today production of pulpwood—from which paper and paper products are made—must be increased during the rest of the year if the 13,000,000-cord goal set by the war production board is to be reached.

Dear said in a statement monthly deliveries of pulpwood to mills must be stepped up 8 per cent above the monthly average of the first nine months if the WPB requirement is to be met. For the nine months pulpwood receipts by mills were estimated at 9,567,000 cords.

NEGRO IS STABBED TO DEATH AT CLUB

Sidney Hall, 21-year-old Calhoun negro, was stabbed to death in front of a negro night club here last night about 9:45 o'clock, according to Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner, and Monroe police who were investigating the case last night.

Police said Hall had been stabbed in front of the Harlem Club, 104 North Eleventh street, and that a negro, believed to have been Hall's assailant, had been seen fleeing east on Adams street.

Police were searching for John Henry Henderson, negro.

Dr. French said Hall had been stabbed once in the heart.

Police last night said a motive for the stabbing had not been established, but Sergeant William Causey and Officers Guy Sievers, J. F. Kirby and H. J. McMurry took into custody Thelma Henderson of Calhoun and were holding her as a material witness. Officers described the Henderson girl as Hall's common-law wife.

continent the forces for invasion from the west as Russian armies breaching the crumbling Dnieper front are marching from the east.

In the Pacific a year ago Japan's grip upon the island outworks of her looted conquest zone was being challenged only on Guadalcanal in the Solomons. The first American thrust to wrench that critical air base from enemy hands still was unconsolidated. Australia was in dire peril.

Now all the Solomons and virtually all of the vital sectors of New Guinea have been cleared of Nipponese. The final stroke that will sweep him out of Rabaul is close at hand. The Aleutians have been retaken. There is every evidence that American initiative soon will fire the central Pacific into a blaze of action.

Further, Tokyo war-lords may well wonder whether behind the Moscow tri-partite conferences and the crushing German defeats in the west, may not be the day when a victorious Russia will join the United Nation war fellowship in Asia to complete Japanese encirclement.

These are but the highlights of the year that has gone by since last November on the war fronts. Of even deeper significance at the moment is the increasing evidence of deepening gloom in Germany over the war outlook, reflected even by the chosen voice of Nazidom, Herr Goebbels.

He has had no German victory to chronicle for a full year, only defeats to explain and minimize. And now, as another November 11th nears, he has set up the thesis that Allied plans called for German capitulation by that 25th anniversary of German surrender in World war one.

Goebbels now says he sees no sign of a German internal crackup. But unquestionably something is stirring in Germany under the growing weight of military defeat and the nerve-shattering bombing attacks. Just what that something is may be far clearer before another November ends.

DEATHS

JOHN W. CRENSHAW

John W. Crenshaw, 77, died in a local hospital early yesterday morning.

Mr. Crenshaw is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Coleman Sanders, New York City; Mrs. George S. R. C. WEBB

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—R. C. Webb, of Delta, one of Madison parish's most prominent farmers, who was well known in east Louisiana and west Mississippi, was found dead at his home Saturday morning. Death was reported due to natural causes.

Mr. Webb, a member of the Baptist church and a Mason, had been a resident of Madison parish for several years.

Funeral services will be held at Fisher's Funeral chapel in Vicksburg, Miss. Sunday afternoon with Rev. Clarence Crow, pastor of the Tallulah Baptist church, officiating. Masonic rites will also be conducted by the Tallulah lodge.

Mr. Webb is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. E. E. Howard of Vicksburg; and a son, R. C. Webb, Jr., of Delta, and four grandchildren.

MRS. IDA SCHALLER

The funeral of Mrs. Ida Josephine Fenski Schaller, 84, who died at her home here Friday morning, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of a nephew, Felix A. Terzia, with Rev. Ernest Duncan Hollowell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was in the old cemetery at Bastrop under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral home.

Pallbearers were Leo F. Terzia, Fensky C. Terzia, Felix A. Terzia, T. L. Tippit, Flood Madison and Judge David J. Garrett.

Mrs. Schaller is survived by four nephews, Felix Terzia, Fensky Terzia and Leo Terzia of Monroe, and William F. Terzia of Saginaw, Mich., and several grand nephews and nieces.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY OSTEOPATHIC SOCIETY

LAKE CHARLES, La. Oct. 30.—(AP)—Dr. V. L. Wharton of this city was elected president of the Louisiana State Osteopathic society at the business session of a two-day annual meeting which began here this morning.

Other officers who will serve for the coming year are Dr. James Keller of Jennings, vice-president; Dr. Luther Stewart of Alexandria, secretary; and Dr. Charles C. Rahn of Hammond, treasurer.

Guest of honor was Dr. Walter E. Bailey of St. Louis, Mo., president of the American Osteopathic association, who told of immediate expansion being carried out by approved colleges of osteopathy to help fill the need cited by the war manpower commission for additional men to perform services necessary to the "health, safety and welfare of the nation."

Dr. Melbert R. Higgins of Lafayette, retiring president, pleaded for unified cooperation rather than bickering between governmental and other health agencies and schools of medicine in working out improved wartime and post-war health problems and programs.

PRINCESS PAYS

announcement today that four United States army officers connected with Dutch military training, and Mayor Walter A. Scott of Jackson, have been appointed to the Order of Orange-Nassau by decree of Queen Wilhelmine. This is a high honor. The four officers were Lieutenant General Barton K. Yount, commander of the army air forces training command; Colonel Thad V. Foster, Lieutenant Colonel John E. Quinn, executive officer at the air base, and Lieutenant Colonel Ernest F. Wackwitz, director of training.

The princess had hardly a moment to herself from the time of her arrival yesterday at 5 p.m. until she left at noon today. She was welcomed with formal ceremonies at the air base last evening, dined with the Dutch officers and was honor guest at a lengthy reception. This morning, she arrived at 8:30 for the review, paid a call on Colonel Foster, commanding general of the Jackson air base, visited the cemetery where some 20 Dutch fliers killed in training are buried, and returned to the base for coffee with the enlisted men, inspecting the mess kitchen and talking with many of the boys who escaped from Holland and the East Indies. She showed great interest in their activities. Just before she left, she returned to the officers club for coffee and to say farewell to a number of officers' wives.

peared in mid-afternoon where the landing operations began at dawn that morning. The Allied interceptors slightly outnumbered the enemy. The spokesman made no comment on the results of the Japanese bombing attempts.

Northwest of Australia, Liberators sank a 1,000-ton cargo ship off Ceram and other bombers left a small Japanese cargo vessel off the Tanimbars in flames.

Japan's pivotal possession of New Britain was given a thorough combing, with attention concentrated on barges. Off New Ireland, Liberators attacked a light cruiser at night but results were not reported.

Off Choiseul, night patrolling planes strafed small craft.

Wednesday night, six Japanese planes made intermittent attacks on Guadalcanal, the Allied base in the southern Solomons, but their bombs caused no loss of personnel or material damage.

During the pre-dawn of Friday, enemy high altitude bombers made raid No. 31 on the Allied base of Buna, on the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea. Their bombs caused no damage, headquarters said.

The paratroop landings southeast of Bougainville first were announced yesterday.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The stock market today stepped out of October at just about where it emerged from September and, while rails and scattered specialties attracted bidders, many leaders displayed mild irregularity in the brief proceedings.

Dealings generally were slow from the opening on although sizable blocks of low-priced issues—Commonwealth and Southern appeared in trades of 1,000 to 10,500 shares, up 1-16 at 12-16—helped put the two-hour volume at around 350,000 shares. Fractional ups and downs were pretty evenly divided near the close.

Bonds were uneven and commodities mostly lower.

voted for 15 per cent and decided today upon 20 per cent. Estimated revenue from the extra five per cent —$40,000,000.

5. A 25 per cent tax on domestic telegraph, radio and cable messages, as compared to the present 15 per cent rate and the tentatively-proposed 20 per cent rate. Added income—$15,000,000.

The committee also rescinded its previous decision to recommend repeal of the present tax on transportation of property, decided to call for retention of the present rates, and voted to include parcel post. The action would save an esimated $189,000,000 from the present tax, and inclusion of parcel post would add another $4,500,000.

Support for the house committee's refusal to accept most of the administration's tax proposals came, meantime, from Chairman George, Democrat, Georgia, of the senate finance committee.

First automatic telephone exchange was set up in La Porte, Ind., in 1892.

OUR MEN IN SERVICE

SERGEANT M'DOWELL

Sergeant James R. McDowell, Bonita, Louisiana, of Class 43-42 has successfully completed the flexible aerial gunnery course at the army air forces flexible gunnery school, Laredo army air field, Laredo, Texas. Upon graduation, in addition to other ratings, he received his aerial gunners wings. He is now eligible to assume a position as a member of an army air force combat crew and is fully qualified to aid materially in the gunnery training program.

SEAMAN NICK SLAVENT

Second Class Seaman Nick Slavent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Slavent of Monroe, is at home on a 10-day furlough, and informed friends and relatives that he has volunteered for submarine duty as radioman.

Seaman Slavent has been in the navy about 15 months. He is a native of Monroe and attended Ouachita Parish High school.

A brother, George Slavent, is in pilot training with the army air force at Keesler field, Miss.

WALLACE SPILLERS

Wallace Spillers, seaman second class, of the United States coast guard, spent last week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spillers of Eros.

EDWIN SHERRARD

Private First Class Edwin Ray Sherrard has returned to duty with the marine corps in San Diego, Calif., after a furlough spent here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sherrard, 211 Filhiol, West Monroe. Private First Class Sherrard recently completed basic training in the marine corps.

CAPTAIN PICKETT

M. E. Pickett, Jr., has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Pickett, 1105 North 7th street. Captain Pickett is stationed at Fresno, Calif., in the chemical warfare air operations.

Captain Pickett graduated from Mississippi State college with a degree in chemical engineering and was commissioned on May 25, 1942. He married the former Mary Frances Wood, of Indianola, Miss.

Mr. Pickett, Sr., is general freight and passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

MEN IN THE SERVICE

Lieutenant Leon T. Atgar, Monroe boy and graduate of Neville High school and Northeast Center Junior college, has been awarded the air medal for bravery in action, according to information received from his mother, Mrs. W. M. Thurman who lives at 1112 North Fifth street.

Lieutenant Atgar has been in the naval air corps, stationed at Guadalcanal in the Solomons for the last two years.

EUGENE B. HAYNES

Eugene Berry Haynes, Jr., will enter Tulane university in the V-12 naval reserve on October 31. He is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High school and spent one year at Northeast Junior college. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Berry Haynes, Sr.

PRIVATE JOHN E. BOULT

John E. Boult, private in the United States army, is now located somewhere in the Hawaiian Islands, according to information received from Mrs. Boult who recently returned from California where she spent some time with her husband.

Mrs. Boult has been extremely active in Monroe war work. She was elected chairman of the Wives Victory corps last Wednesday. Private Boult, a Monroe boy, has been in the army since November 1942.

PRIVATE JOHNSON

SEYMOUR JOHNSON FIELD, N. C. —Completing a five months course in aircraft maintenance and repair, Private First Class James E. Johnson was graduated this week as an aircraft mechanic from this technical school of the Army Air Forces Eastern Technical Training Command.

The son of W. H. Johnson, Route 1, West Monroe, he was sworn into the army on February 26, 1943. He is a graduate of Northeast Junior college.

URGES BOOSTING PULPWOOD OUTPUT

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Walter M. Dear, chairman of the newspaper pulpwood committee, said today production of pulpwood—from which paper and paper products are made—must be increased during the rest of the year if the 13,000,000-cord goal set by the war production board is to be reached.

Dear said in a statement monthly deliveries of pulpwood to mills must be stepped up 8 per cent above the monthly average of the first nine months if the WPB requirement is to be met. For the nine months pulpwood receipts by mills were estimated at 9,567,000 cords.

NEGRO IS STABBED TO DEATH AT CLUB

Sidney Hall, 21-year-old Calhoun negro, was stabbed to death in front of a negro night club here last night about 9:45 o'clock, according to Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner, and Monroe police who were investigating the case last night.

Police said Hall had been stabbed in front of the Harlem Club, 104 North Eleventh street, and that a negro, believed to have been Hall's assailant, had been seen fleeing east on Adams street.

Police were searching for John Henry Henderson, negro.

Dr. French said Hall had been stabbed once in the heart.

Police last night said a motive for the stabbing had not been established, but Sergeant William Causey and Officers Guy Sievers, J. F. Kirby and H. J. McMurry took into custody Thelma Henderson of Calhoun and were holding her as a material witness. Officers described the Henderson girl as Hall's common-law wife.

In the Pacific a year ago Japan's grip upon the island outworks of her looted conquest zone was being challenged only on Guadalcanal in the Solomons. The first American thrust to wrench that critical air base from enemy hands still was unconsolidated. Australia was in dire peril.

Now all the Solomons and virtually all of the vital sectors of New Guinea have been cleared of Nipponese. The final stroke that will sweep him out of Rabaul is close at hand. The Aleutians have been retaken. There is every evidence that American initiative soon will fire the central Pacific into a blaze of action.

Further, Tokyo war-lords may well wonder whether behind the Moscow tri-partite conferences and the crushing German defeats in the west, may not be the day when a victorious Russia will join the United Nation war fellowship in Asia to complete Japanese encirclement.

These are but the highlights of the year that has gone by since last November on the war fronts. Of even deeper significance at the moment is the increasing evidence of deepening gloom in Germany over the war outlook, reflected even by the chosen voice of Nazism, Herr Goebbels.

He has had no German victory to chronicle for a full year, only defeats to explain and minimize. And now, as another November 11th nears, he has set up the thesis that Allied plans called for German capitulation by that 25th anniversary of German surrender in World war one.

Goebbels now says he sees no sign of a German internal crackup. But unquestionably something is stirring in Germany under the growing weight of military defeat and the nerve-shattering bombing attacks. Just what that something is may be far clearer before another November ends.

DEATHS

JOHN W. CRENSHAW

Mr. Crenshaw is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Coleman Sanders, New York City; Mrs. George S. Flanagan, West Monroe, and Mrs. Otto Barditsky of Monroe; a step daughter, Mrs. Minnie Adams of Adamsville, Ala.; four grandchildren, Miss Joyce Flanagan of Cleveland, Ohio, George C. Flanagan of the army, stationed at Richmond, Va., and Barbara and Arthur Flanagan of West Monroe; a sister, Mrs. Walter Stokes of West Monroe; a brother, Hamp Crenshaw, Houston, Tex., and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Mulhearn Funeral home with Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monroe, officiating. Interment will follow in Hasley cemetery.

MRS. EMMA CURTIS

Last rites for Mrs. Emma Curtis, 54, who died Thursday, were held yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of her father, George Delaughter, in Baucomville, with Rev. E. L. Tanner officiating. Interment took place in Smith cemetery. Dixie Funeral home had charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Curtis is survived by her husband, Jack Curtis; a daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Mae Hightower, and her father.

R. C. WEBB

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 30.—(Special) —R. C. Webb, of Delta, one of Madison parish's most prominent farmers, who was well known in east Louisiana and west Mississippi, was found dead at his home Saturday morning. Death was reported due to natural causes.

Mr. Webb, a member of the Baptist church and a Mason, had been a resident of Madison parish for several years.

Funeral services will be held at Fisher's Funeral chapel in Vicksburg, Miss., Sunday afternoon with Rev. Clarence Crow, pastor of the Tallulah Baptist church, officiating. Masonic rites will also be conducted by the Tallulah lodge.

Mr. Webb is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. E. E. Howard of Vicksburg; and a son, R. C. Webb, Jr., of Delta, and four grandchildren.

MRS. IDA SCHALLER

The funeral of Mrs. Ida Josephine Fenski Schaller, 84, who died at her home here Friday morning, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of a nephew, Felix A. Terzia, with Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was in the old cemetery at Bastrop under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral home.

Pallbearers were Leo F. Terzia, Fensky C. Terzia, Felix A. Terzia, T. L. Tippit, Flood Madison and Judge David I. Garrett.

Mrs. Schaller is survived by four nephews, Felix Terzia, Fensky Terzia and Leo Terzia of Monroe, and William F. Terzia of Saginaw, Mich., and several grand nephews and nieces.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY OSTEOPATHIC SOCIETY

LAKE CHARLES, La. Oct. 30.—(AP) —Dr. V. L. Wharton of this city was elected president of the Louisiana State Osteopathic society at the business session of a two-day annual meeting which began here this morning.

Other officers who will serve for the coming year are Dr. James Keller of Jennings, vice-president; Dr. Luther Stewart of Alexandria, secretary; and Dr. Charles C. Rahn of Hammond, treasurer.

Guest of honor was Dr. Walter E. Bailey of St. Louis, Mo., president of the American Osteopathic association, who told of immediate expansion being carried out by approved colleges of osteopathy to help fill the need cited by the war manpower commission for additional men to perform services necessary to the "health, safety and welfare of the nation."

Dr. Melbert R. Higgins of Lafayette, retiring president, pleaded for unified cooperation rather than bickering between governmental and other health agencies and schools of medicine in working out improved wartime and post-war health problems and programs.

announcement today that four United States army officers connected with Dutch military training, and Mayor Walter A. Scott, of Jackson, have been appointed to the Order of Orange-Nassau by decree of Queen Wilhelmina. This is a high honor. The four officers were Lieutenant General Barton K. Yount, commander of the army air forces training command; Colonel Thad V. Foster, Lieutenant Colonel John E. Quinn, executive officer at the air base, and Lieutenant Colonel Ernest F. Wackwitz, director of training.

The princess had hardly a moment to herself from the time of her arrival yesterday at 5 p.m. until she left at noon today. She was welcomed with formal ceremonies at the air base last evening, dined with the Dutch officers and was honor guest at a lengthy reception. This morning, she arrived at 8:30 for the review, paid a call on Colonel Foster, commanding general of the Jackson air base, visited the cemetery where some 20 Dutch fliers killed in training are buried, and returned to the base for coffee with the enlisted men, inspecting the mess kitchen and talking with many of the boys who escaped from Holland and the East Indies. She showed great interest in their activities. Just before she left, she returned to the officers' club for coffee and to say farewell to a number of officers' wives.

peared in mid-afternoon where the landing operations began at dawn that morning. The Allied interceptors slightly outnumbered the enemy. The spokesman made no comment on the results of the Japanese bombing attempts.

Mounting Allied air might made an impressive demonstration of how completely the southwest Pacific skies now can be covered. Planes struck at Japanese shipping, airdromes and installations from Ceram to Choiseul, a span of 2,000 miles.

Northwest of Australia, Liberators sank a 1,000-ton cargo ship off Ceram and other bombers left a small Japanese cargo vessel off the Tanimbars in flames.

Japan's pivotal possession of New Britain was given a thorough combing, with attention concentrated on barges. Off New Ireland, Liberators attacked a light cruiser at night but results were not reported.

Off Choiseul, night patrolling planes strafed small craft.

Wednesday night, six Japanese planes made intermittent attacks on Guadalcanal, the Allied base in the southern Solomons, but their bombs caused no loss of personnel or material damage.

During the pre-dawn of Friday, enemy high altitude bombers made raid No. 31 on the Allied base of Buna, on the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea. Their bombs caused no damage, headquarters said.

The paratroop landings southeast of Bougainville first were announced yesterday.

BIRTHS

To Lieutenant and Mrs. C. E. Jencks of Rayville, La., a boy, born at the St. Francis sanitarium October 29.

To Lieutenant and Mrs. H. A. Maguire of Monroe, a girl, born October 26 at the St. Francis sanitarium. Lieutenant Maguire is stationed at Selman field.

The hotel at Blue Mountain Lake, N. Y., was the first to install electric lights.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The stock market today stepped out of October at just about where it emerged from September and, while rails and scattered specialties attracted bidders, many leaders displayed mild irregularity in the brief proceedings.

Dealings generally were slow from the opening on although sizable blocks of low-priced issues—Commonwealth and Southern appeared in trades of 1,000 to 10,500 shares, up 1-16 at 12-16—helped put the two-hour volume at around 350,000 shares. Fractional ups and downs were pretty evenly divided near the close.

Bonds were uneven and commodities mostly lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Further weakness in rye, sending prices below the preceding session's close, unsettling all grains today. After advancing at the start on moderate mill buying, wheat turned reactionary in sympathy with the rye weakness and dropped about a cent. Oats and barley eased.

At the close wheat was 3-4 to 1 1-4 lower, December $1.55 5-8 to 3-4, May $1.54 5-8 to 3-4.

LOOK

EVEN GREEN HANDS CAN SLAP A JAP!

Are you in a non-deferrable industry?

The War Manpower Commission has urged that all men not now engaged in essential industry transfer to war jobs. To build the planes—the ships—the materials of war—an army of men and women are desperately needed on America's home front.

HIGGINS Aircraft of New Orleans has opened PAID training classes in SHREVEPORT. Men and women will be paid while they learn—aircraft sheet metal work—aircraft riveting, aircraft machine shop work and aircraft final assembly.

When the short training course is finished trainees will be immediately placed in HIGGINS' New Orleans plants for in-plant training.

Get in this war and earn while you learn. Go immediately to:

LOOK

EVEN GREEN HANDS CAN SLAP A JAP!

Are you in a non-deferrable industry?

The War Manpower Commission has urged that all men not now engaged in essential industry transfer to war jobs. To build the planes—the ships—the materials of war—an army of men and women are desperately needed on America's home front.

HIGGINS Aircraft of New Orleans has opened PAID training classes in SHREVEPORT. Men and women will be paid while they learn—aircraft sheet metal work—aircraft riveting, aircraft machine shop work and aircraft final assembly.

When the short training course is finished trainees will be immediately placed in HIGGINS' New Orleans plants for in-plant training.

FOURMY SEEKING POST AS JUROR

Insurance Man Announces Candidacy For Ward 10 Police Jury Post

L. Underwood Fourmy has announced his candidacy, and qualified for election, as police juror from Ward 10 of Ouachita parish, where there are two police jurors to be elected in the coming Democratic primary election.

Mr. Fourmy, a resident of Monroe for more than twenty-five years, is married and the father of one child, and he is the agency manager of the H. R Speed Insurance Agency, Inc., where he has been employed for some seventeen years. Prior to that time, Mr. Fourmy was connected with the construction of some of Monroe's large carbon black manufacturing plants.

"In our democratic form of government," stated Mr. Fourmy "the office of police juror is the elected official closest to the people—and I intend, if elected, to be guided in my actions solely by the wishes of my people, and to represent Ward 10 of Ouachita parish on the police jury in an honest, efficient, and capable manner."

Throughout his business career, Mr. Fourmy has been active in the civic, fraternal and religious life of this community. He is a member of Stonewall Lodge No. 8 of Knights of Pythias, and is serving as chairman of Boy Scout troop committee, Troop 31, for the Grace Episcopal church, and chairman of the Boy Scout troop committee, Troop 35, of the Louisiana Baptist Children's home, and is a member of Grace Episcopal church vestry.

Mr. Fourmy is a member of the Monroe Kiwanis club, a member of the board of directors of the Monroe "Town Hall," and is president of the Ouachita parish board of election supervisors.

According to Mr. Fourmy, it is his intention to personally contact every voter and resident of Ward 10, solicit their support for one of the two police jury members to be elected, and discuss the problems of Ward 10 with all voters.

WEST MONROE AIDS WAR CHEST DRIVE

Joe Trammell, general chairman of house to house solicitation for the Twin City United War Fund and Community Chest stated today that West Monroe, under the leadership of Mrs. C. E. Faulk, was showing remarkable progress so far. Mr. Trammell further stated that Mrs. Faulk's committee is making a very thorough house to house solicitation giving every citizen of West Monroe an opportunity to contribute to this civic patriotic fund. Several hundred dollars has been reported to date by this committee according to last reports from Joe Trammell. Mrs. Faulk's committee is as follows: Mrs. D. L. Nicol, Mrs. Harry Burdeaux, Mrs. Mary Elliott, Mrs. Allen Faust, Mrs. C. J. Goss, Miss May Faulk, Mrs. George A. Mercer, Mrs. W. W. Loftin, Mrs. Kate Morrice, Mrs. O. B. Lee, Mrs. D. C. Harper, Mrs. Myatt McVlendon, Mrs. Seth Hamilton.

The general gifts committee is as follows: Chairman Paul Reising, Buddy DeLoach, J. P. McKee, J. N. Rogers, W. C. Fisher, T. John, Joe F. Smith, D. C. Harper, Charles Chisholm, E. S. Eby, Tom Eubank, E. Decker Moore, Jim Steele, W. R. Hatchell, Hal Willis, Vance Rhodes and Louis Gruber.

Big gifts committee is: W. R. Younger, chairman, Tom Hicks, Marlin Hattaway and C. C. Bell.

STATE EXPECTED TO MEET QUOTA

Dr. Cottingham Makes Statement On United War Fund Drive

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The United War Fund of Louisiana campaign enters its final week with indications that the state quota of $1,367,210 will be met, it was announced today by Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, president of Louisiana Polytechnic institute, and head of the state U. W. F. drive. Sufficient figures are not yet available to make a definite statement," Dr. Cottingham said, "for local committees are at the height of their campaigns, emphasizing work rather than reports but we do have returns from many sections and most are highly encouraging.

"At the middle of the past week, New Orleans was well over the half way mark with its quota. In Baton Rouge, although the fast tempo of the first week's contributions has somewhat slackened, officials of the drive are confident that the quota will be reached. The other organized chest cities are making satisfactory progress. Shreveport will hold its campaign later in November.

"Allen parish was the first parish to go over the top," Dr. Cottingham continued, "exceeding its quota by $200 in five days. Iberville parish, ward one, with a quota of $1,000, raised $1,078 the first week, and the chairman reports, 'we have just begun to work.' One town with a quota of $100, reported $500 collected in three days. These are typical of the smaller communities.

"This campaign has demonstrated clearly the public's approval of a joint appeal for combined war related causes," Dr. Cottingham declared; "this single drive is raising funds to aid 17 different agencies aiding our service men and women at home and overseas, and our merchant seamen, as well as the refugees, orphans, and other war victims of 14 of the United Nations. "In addition, in the organized chest cities, local philanthropies are also included in the combined U. W. F. and chest campaign. Thus, there are untold millions of beneficiaries for every contribution to the U. W. F., but the donor is solicited only once."

JAPS MAKE LIGHT GUADALCANAL RAID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The navy announced today a light Japanese bombing raid on American positions on Guadalcanal.

An unannounced number of planes carried out the raid "ineffectively" on the night of October 28, Solomons time, said a communique.

The text of the communique:

"South Pacific (east longitude date)

SINGERS TO MEET

MARION, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The Homecoming day session of the Rocky Branch convention will open at Spencer in the school auditorium October 31 at 10 o'clock. Many singers from different sections are expected.

Winnsboro Twins United

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written by Staff Sergeant Jeremiah A. O'Leary, Jr., Washington, D. C., a marine corps combat correspondent.)

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—(Delayed)—If Corporal Noland McKastle, United States marine corps, weren't missing a front tooth, even a close friend couldn't tell him from Corporal Olan McKastle, United States marine corps.

It's always been that way with these 25-year-old twin brothers from Winnsboro, Louisiana. They look alike, dress, talk and think alike. But this mutual imagery was the means of reuniting them last August on a remote island base in the Pacific ocean, when neither had a notion the other was within 3,000 miles.

Corporal Olan McKastle had been working hard on the motor of a truck at this base when a new outfit of marines arrived on a ship. One of the newsomers strolled over to him and exclaimed, "By golly! They put you to work quick enough."

And Olan knew Nolan was somewhere in the vicinity.

They hadn't seen each other for four years, but a transfer was quickly arranged and the twins have been together in the Guadalcanal fighting ever since. They are now in a motor transport company at this base.

Corporal Olan McKastle enlisted at New Orleans, December 18, 1938, and has served at Quantico, Virginia; Iona Island, New York; San Diego, California and Hawthorne, Nevada. Corporal Nolan McKastle enlisted at New Orleans October 18, 1940, and has been stationed at Hawthorne, San Diego, and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Both attended Winnsboro High school before enlisting.

Two other brothers are in the army: Private First Class Frank McKastle, 29, in England with the army air forces and Private George McKastle, 18, with the parachute infantry somewhere overseas. Another brother, William H. McKastle, 22, formerly a machinist first class in the navy, is now working in a Houston Texas, war plant.

Their father, W. H. McKastle, lives at Rout 2, Winnsboro.

CAA TRAINEE IS $1,000 RICHER

Joseph Sims At N. J. C. Gets Cash Award From General Motors

Smiling broadly these days is Private Joseph R. Sims, student in the CAA war training service at Northeast Junior college, who recently received an award of $1,000 from General Motors corporation. Having made a suggestion several months ago as a civilian employe of the Allison division of the General Motors, Indianapolis, Ind., Sims learend that it had resulted in the saving of over $100 a day to the company, and in the conservation of a vital and scarce war material.

Filter pads, once discarded, are now a valuable source of indium, as the Sim's process reclaims what remains of the rare commodity.

Indium is a soft malleable metal that is about as heavy as tin and is used in place of this element because it is less susceptible to corrosion. One of the rarer elements, it was not discovered until 1863.

Private Sims received the bachelor's degree in science from the University of Indiana. He had been employed for about three years in the electro-plating department of the Allison division before he entered military service.

Other suggestions which he has made concerning the potentialities of indium are now being held up until the end of the war. Company officials are enthusiastic about the possibilities set forth by Sims, but further work can not go until new equipment is received.

Enlisting in the army reserve last November, he received his primary training at Sky Harbor airport, Indianapolis, and ground school instruction in conjunction with Butler university in that city. At Fort Hays, Columbus, Ohio, he was put on active status. From there it was Keesler field, Mississippi, for basic training before he came to Monroe.

FOURMY SEEKING POST AS JUROR

Insurance Man Announces Candidacy For Ward 10 Police Jury Post

L. Underwood Fourmy has announced his candidacy, and qualified for election, as police juror from Ward 10 of Ouachita parish, where there are two police jurors to be elected in the coming Democratic primary election.

Mr. Fourmy, a resident of Monroe for more than twenty-five years, is married and the father of one child, and he is the agency manager of the H. R. Speed Insurance Agency, Inc., where he has been employed for some seventeen years. Prior to that time, Mr. Fourmy was connected with the construction of some of Monroe's large carbon black manufacturing plants.

"In our democratic form of government," stated Mr. Fourmy "the office of police juror is the elected official closest to the people—and I intend, if elected, to be guided in my actions solely by the wishes of my people, and to represent Ward 10 of Ouachita parish on the police jury in an honest, efficient, and capable manner."

Throughout his business career, Mr. Fourmy has been active in the civic, fraternal and religious life of this community. He is a member of Stonewall Lodge No. 8 of Knights of Pythias, and is serving as chairman of Boy Scout troop committee, Troop 31, for the Grace Episcopal church, and chairman of the Boy Scout troop committee, Troop 35, of the Louisiana Baptist Children's home, and is a member of Grace Episcopal church vestry.

Mr. Fourmy is a member of the Monroe Kiwanis club, a member of the board of directors of the Monroe "Town Hall," and is president of the Ouachita parish board of election supervisors.

According to Mr. Fourmy, it is his intention to personally contact every voter and resident of Ward 10, solicit their support for one of the two police jury members to be elected, and discuss the problems of Ward 10 with all voters.

STATE EXPECTED TO MEET QUOTA

Dr. Cottingham Makes Statement On United War Fund Drive

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The United War Fund of Louisiana campaign enters its final week with indications that the state quota of $1,367,210 will be met, it was announced today by Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, president of Louisiana Polytechnic institute, and head of the state U. W. F. drive. Sufficient figures are not yet available to make a definite statement," Dr. Cottingham said, "for local committees are at the height of their campaigns, emphasizing work rather than reports but we do have returns from many sections and most are highly encouraging.

"At the middle of the past week, New Orleans was well over the half way mark with its quota. In Baton Rouge, although the fast tempo of the first week's contributions has somewhat slackened, officials of the drive are confident that the quota will be reached. The other organized chest cities are making satisfactory progress. Shreveport will hold its campaign later in November.

"Allen parish was the first parish to go over the top," Dr. Cottingham continued, "exceeding its quota by $200 in five days. Iberville parish, ward one, with a quota of $1,000, raised $1,078 the first week, and the chairman reports, 'we have just begun to work.' One town with a quota of $100, reported $500 collected in three days. These are typical of the smaller communities.

"This campaign has demonstrated clearly the public's approval of a joint appeal for combined war related causes," Dr. Cottingham declared; "this single drive is raising funds to aid 17 different agencies aiding our service men and women at home and overseas, and our merchant seamen, as well as the refugees, orphans, and other war victims of 14 of the United Nations. "In addition, in the organized chest cities, local philanthropies are also included in the combined U. W. F. and chest campaign. Thus, there are untold millions of beneficiaries for every contribution to the U. W. F., but the donor is solicited only once."

JAPS MAKE LIGHT GUADALCANAL RAID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The navy announced today a light Japanese bombing raid on American positions on Guadalcanal.

An unannounced number of planes carried out the raid "ineffectively" on the night of October 28, Solomons time, said a communique.

The communique gave no indication of any damage caused by this first enemy raid in recent weeks.

The text of the communique:

"South Pacific (east longitude date)

SINGERS TO MEET

MARION, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The Homecoming day session of the Rocky Branch convention will open at Spencer in the school auditorium October 31 at 10 o'clock. Many singers from different sections are expected.

Winnsboro Twins United

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written by Staff Sergeant Jeremiah A. O'Leary, Jr., Washington, D. C., a marine corps combat correspondent.)

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—(Delayed)—If Corporal Noland McKastle, United States marine corps, weren't missing a front tooth, even a close friend couldn't tell him from Corporal Olan McKastle, United States marine corps.

It's always been that way with these 25-year-old twin brothers from Winnsboro, Louisiana. They look alike, dress, talk and think alike. But this mutual imagery was the means of reuniting them last August on a remote island base in the Pacific ocean, when neither had a notion the other was within 3,000 miles.

Corporal Olan McKastle had been working hard on the motor of a truck at this base when a new outfit of marines arrived on a ship. One of the newsomers strolled over to him and exclaimed, "By golly! They put you to work quick enough."

And Olan knew Nolan was somewhere in the vicinity.

They hadn't seen each other for four years, but a transfer was quickly arranged and the twins have been together in the Guadalcanal fighting ever since. They are now in a motor transport company at this base.

Corporal Olan McKastle enlisted at New Orleans, December 18, 1938, and has served at Quantico, Virginia; Iona Island, New York; San Diego, California and Hawthorne, Nevada. Corporal Nolan McKastle enlisted at New Orleans October 18, 1940, and has been stationed at Hawthorne, San Diego, and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Both attended Winnsboro High school before enlisting.

Two other brothers are in the army: Private First Class Frank McKastle, 29, in England with the army air forces and Private George McKastle, 18, with the parachute infantry somewhere overseas. Another brother, William H. McKastle, 22, formerly a machinist first class in the navy, is now working in a Houston Texas, war plant.

Their father, W. H. McKastle, lives at Rout 2, Winnsboro.

CAA TRAINEE IS $1,000 RICHER

Joseph Sims At N. J. C. Gets Cash Award From General Motors

Smiling broadly these days is Private Joseph R. Sims, student in the CAA war training service at Northeast Junior college, who recently received an award of $1,000 from General Motors corporation. Having made a suggestion several months ago as a civilian employe of the Allison division of the General Motors, Indianapolis, Ind., Sims learend that it had resulted in the saving of over $100 a day to the company, and in the conservation of a vital and scarce war material.

Filter pads, once discarded, are now a valuable source of indium, as the Sim's process reclaims what remains of the rare commodity.

Indium is a soft malleable metal that is about as heavy as tin and is used in place of this element because it is less susceptible to corrosion. One of the rarer elements, it was not discovered until 1863.

Private Sims received the bacheelor's degree in science from the University of Indiana. He had been employed for about three years in the electro-plating department of the Allison division before he entered military service.

Other suggestions which he has made concerning the potentialities of indium are now being held up until the end of the war. Company officials are enthusiastic about the possibilities set forth by Sims, but further work can not go until new equipment is received.

Enlisting in the army reserve last November, he received his primary training at Sky Harbor airport, Indianapolis, and ground school instruction in conjunction with Butler university in that city. H'M. KIND OF A DARK BROWN TONE TO THE NEWS THIS MORNING — ALL WET.

HUH!

WHAT'S THIS?

UH!

I'VE FOUND IT! DOPE DELIVERED BETWEEN TWO SHEETS OF NEWSPAPER! BUT SHE MUSN'T KNOW I'VE FOUND OUT. I MUST PLACE IT IN THE OTHER—

KNOCK KNOCK

OH, OH!

BUT ZIGGY WAS THERE ABOUT AN HOUR AGO AND LEFT THE "LOADED" NEWSPAPER! I TELL YOU, HE LEFT IT.

BUT THE ENVELOPE ISN'T HERE. I'VE TURNED THROUGH EVERY PAGE. I NEED IT! NOW.

UH-??

WE'LL BOTH WAIT FOR— -ZIGGY!

GUS EDSON

IF YOU FOLKS WOULDN'T MIND WAITING OUTSIDE, I SHOULD LIKE TO SPEAK TO YOUNG MR GUMP, PRIVATELY-

CHESTER - YOU'RE PROBABLY VERY CURIOUS TO FIND OUT WHAT THIS IS ALL ABOUT-
YES, YOUR HONOR, I AM-

WELL, I'LL BE AS BRIEF AS POSSIBLE - MY CALLING YOU HERE WAS NOT MERELY TO OFFER MY CONGRATULATIONS. IT'S VERY MUCH MORE THAN THAT--

THOUGH STILL A CHILD IN YEARS - YOU HAVE PROVEN YOURSELF A MAN!! AND I BELIEVE THAT I CAN ADDRESS YOU AS SUCH-

NO DOUBT YOU'VE HEARD, OR READ IN THE NEWSPAPERS, ABOUT THE TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN JUVENILE DELINQUENCY-
YES, YOUR HONOR-

THE FACT THAT MANY PARENTS WITH DEFENSE JOBS ARE FORCED TO LEAVE THEIR CHILDREN AT HOME WITHOUT THE PROPER SUPERVISION IS PARTLY RESPONSIBLE-
WELL - MR BUDD, ROSE BUDD'S DAD, YOUR HONOR - IS A DEFENSE WORKER, AND SHE TAKE'S CARE OF HERSELF-

THAT'S PROBABLY SO IN MANY CASES, CHESTER - BUT NOT ALL CHILDREN REACT THAT WAY - AND IT'S THE OTHER KIND THAT WERE TALKING ABOUT-
BARBER SHOP

ANOTHER REASON FOR THE INCREASE IN DELINQUENCY IS THAT BOOM (DEFENSE) TOWNS SUCH AS THIS RECEIVE SUDDEN SPURTS IN POPULATION, WHICH IN TURN PUT A STRAIN ON OUR PARK AND RECREATIONAL FACILITIES -

NATURALLY, OUR DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTION HANDLES THE HABITUAL YOUNG CRIMINALS - BUT, THE OTHERS - THE BORDERLINE CASES - THEY CAN BE SAVED--

-THEY CAN AND WILL BECOME USEFUL CITIZENS - THAT WILL BE YOUR JOB!
M-ME?!

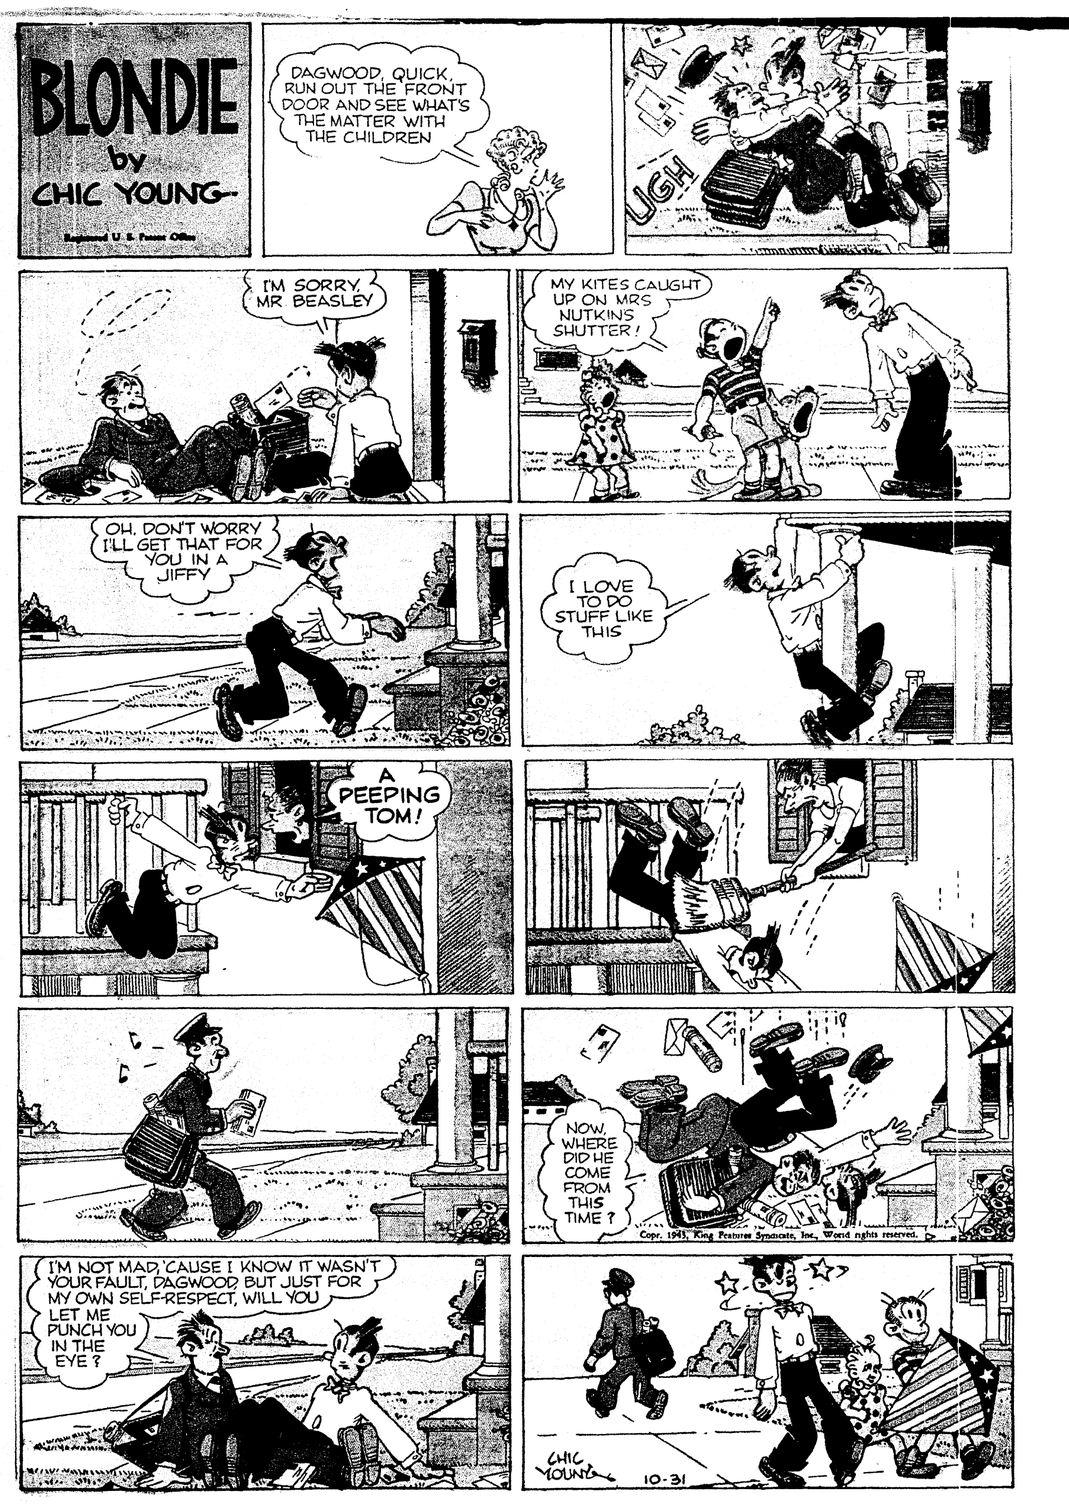

YES, I'M GOING TO MAKE YOU MY HONORARY DEPUTY - YOU'VE RECENTLY HELPED CAPTURE KITSON - NOW LET'S SEE IF WE CAN'T PREVENT THE DEVELOPMENT OF FUTURE KITSONS -

WHAT A STUPID ANSWER.— 'THERE ARE 40 OR 60 HOOMIN BEANS— DEPENDIN ON WHAR YO' DRAWS THE LINE"!! YOU'LL HAVE TO GO DOWN THERE, CLAMBERT, AND INVESTIGATE!!

YES, SIR!—

GREAT SCOTT, YOKUM — ALL WE WANTED WAS A SIMPLE, STRAIGHTFORWARD COUNTING OF HUMAN BEINGS!!

THET WAS JEST TH' TROUBLE, SUH — TH' HOOMIN BEAN PART OF IT!! — IT ALL GOT SO COMPLY-CATED!! THAR WERE SO MANY PROBLUMS!! — NOW THET YO' IS HYAR MEBB YO' KIN HELP ME OUT —

WHAT PROBLEMS COULD THERE POSSIBLY HAVE BEEN? — A HUMAN BEING IS A HUMAN BEING — NOTHING ELSE — AND ONE HUMAN BEING COUNTS ONE!! —

EEK!!

TWO-HAIDED JONES IS A MITE ONUSUAL LOOKIN' AT FUST GLANCE, HAINT HE? — BUT YO'LL GIT USED TO HIM, JEST LIKE WE HAS. NOW-MAH PROBLUM WAS — IS HE ONE HOOMIN BEAN — OR TWO HOOMIN BEANS — OR IS HE A HOOMIN BEAN AT ALL!!

NOW — LOOK AT THET FLOATIN' BY IN TH' AIR —

GREAT SCOTT!!

W-WHAT IS IT?

A GHOST, NATCHERLY! — THAR'S LOTS O' 'EM IN DOGPATCH. NOW TH' PROBLUM IS — DOES THEY COUNT — OR DON'T THEY? — AN' NOW LOOK OVER THAR, UNDER THET TREE —

A B-BODY!!

YASSUH. HOT-TEMPERED JONES, BY NAME. HE'S BIN LYIN' THAR FO' FO'TY Y'ARS. NO ONE DAST DISTURB HIM ON ACCOUNT HE GOT SECH A HOT TEMPER HE'S LIABLE T' KILL ANYONE WHO DOES. SO NATCHERLY FOLKS JEST LEAVE HIM BE!!

NOW, THE PROBLUM IS — IS HE ALIVE OR HAIN'T HE? — AN' DO HE COUNT FO' AS MUCH IN ONE CONDISHUN AS IN TH' OTHER? — AN EF SO, HOW M-MUCH?

I'M GOING CRAZY!!

AN' NOW, SUH, TURN 'ROUN' SLOWLY — AN' GIT A FIRM GRIP ON YO'SELF. SEE THET CRITTER DANGLIN' FUM THET TREE? — IS HE HOOMIN OR IN-HOOMIN? — SHOULD HIS VOTIN' RIGHTS BE TAKEN AWAY FUM HIM AN' SHOULD HIS WIFE BE CLASSED AS A MARRIED WOOMIN OR AS A OWNER O' RARE ANIMULES?

LET ME OUT OF HERE!!

"EVIL MEN HAVE COME TO OUR COUNTRY, TRYING TO BUY OUR LANDS," CARLUS RELATED, "AND THEY MAKE TERRIBLE THREATS."

"I SHALL HELP YOU," TARZAN SAID. BUT GROOT CARLUS WARNED, "THE DANGER IS GREAT."

TARZAN DOES NOT COUNT THE DANGER WHEN HIS FRIENDS ARE IN NEED," THE JUNGLE LORD ANSWERED GRUFFLY.

AT THIS MOMENT, FAR TO THE SOUTH, A GERMAN SUBMARINE PUSHED UP ITS NOSE AND EASED SHOREWARD.

FROM IT WERE DISEMBARKED A BAND OF COLD, HARD MEN AND THE GRIM GEAR OF SUDDEN DEATH. "AUF WIEDERSEHEN, HERR KAPITAN," THEIR LEADER CALLED. "WE SHALL EXPECT ANOTHER CARGO IN A MONTH."

NOW THIS BAND MADE A LIGHTNING RAID ON A VILLAGE AND SEIZED A GROUP OF TERRIFIED NATIVES.

AS THE STRANGE SAFARI PLUNGED INTO THE JUNGLE, THE LEADER SAID:

NOW I CAN DISCLOSE WHY WE ARE HERE. FOR US THIS WAR IS LOST. BUT WE MUST PREPARE FOR THE NEXT!"

"WE ARE ESTABLISHING SECRET COLONIES OF SPIES, SOLDIERS, SABOTEURS--- FOR THE FUTURE!"

"ONE MAN ASKED THEIR DESTINATION. THE LEADER SAID: "WE'LL SEIZE THE LANDS OF SOME STUPID RANCHERS."

WHAT A STUPID ANSWER.— 'THERE ARE 40 OR 60 HOOMIN BEANS - DEPENDIN ON WHAR YO' DRAWS THE LINE"!! YOU'LL HAVE TO GO DOWN THERE, CLAMBERT, AND INVESTIGATE!!

YES, SIR!-

GREAT SCOTT, YOKUM - ALL WE WANTED WAS A SIMPLE, STRAIGHTFORWARD COUNTING OF HUMAN BEINGS!!

THET WAS JEST TH' TROUBLE, SUH - TH' HOOMIN BEAN PART OF IT!! - IT ALL GOT SO COMPLY- CATED!! THAR WERE SO MANY PROBLUMS!! - NOW THET YO' IS HYAR MEBB YO' KIN HELP ME OUT -

WHAT PROBLEMS COULD THERE POSSIBLY HAVE BEEN? - A HUMAN BEING IS A HUMAN BEING - NOTHING ELSE - AND ONE HUMAN BEING COUNTS ONE!! -

EEK!!

TWO-HAIDED JONES IS A MITE ONUSUAL LOOKIN' AT FUST GLANCE, HAIN'T HE? - BUT YO'LL GIT USED TO HIM, JEST LIKE WE HAS. NOW-MAH PROBLUM WAS - IS HE ONE HOOMIN BEAN - OR TWO HOOMIN BEANS - OR IS HE A HOOMIN BEAN AT ALL!!

NOW - LOOK AT THET FLOATIN' BY IN TH' AIR -

GREAT SCOTT!!

W-WHAT IS IT?

A GHOST, NATCHERLY! - THAR'S LOTS O' 'EM IN DOGPATCH. NOW TH' PROBLUM IS - DOES THEY COUNT - OR DON'T THEY? — AN' NOW LOOK OVER THAR, UNDER THET TREE -

A B-BODY!!

YASSUH. HOT-TEMPERED JONES, BY NAME. HE'S BIN LYIN' THAR FO' FO'TY Y'ARS. NO ONE DAST DISTUR'B HIM ON ACCOUNT HE GOT SECH A HOT TEMPER HE'S LIABLE T' KILL ANYONE WHO DOES. SO NATCHERLY FOLKS JEST LEAVE HIM BE!!

NOW, THE PROBLUM IS — IS HE ALIVE OR HAIN'T HE? — AN' DO HE COUNT FO' AS MUCH IN ONE CONDISHUN AS IN TH' OTHER? — AN EF SO, HOW M-MUCH?

I'M GOING CRAZY!!

AN' NOW, SUH, TURN 'ROUN' SLOWLY - AN' GIT A FIRM GRIP ON YO'SELF. SEE THET CRITTER DANGLIN' FUM THET TREE? - IS HE HOOMIN OR IN-HOOMIN? — SHOULD HIS VOTIN' RIGHTS BE TAKEN AWAY FUM HIM AN' SHOULD HIS WIFE BE CLASSED AS A MARRIED WOOMIN OR AS A OWNER O' RARE ANIMULES?

LET ME OUT OF HERE!!
